MOLLISONS QUIT AIR DERBY

MOST FARMERS IN KANSAS REBEL AGAINST AAA

Oppose Continuing Hog-Corn Program.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Kas., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Journeying through Kansas I have heard little else talked of than the revolt of the Kansas farmers against the New Deal.

In the referendum submitted by Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, the Kansas farmers returned thumping majorities against the continuance of the AAA experiment in crop curtailment. On every side the result is looked upon as highly significant.

Equally significant is regarded the fact that Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, who was quite New Dealish in the last two sessions of congress, has adopted a pretty critical attitude toward the AAA and some other aspects of the new dispensation. Mr. Capper has the reputation of keeping his ears so close to the ground that he can detect incipient political earth tremors with uncanny accuracy. Political weather forecasters in Kansas have long been close observers of the seismographic Mr. Capper.

First Question Submitted.

In the AAA referendum the first question submitted was:

"Do you favor an adjustment program dealing with corn and hogs in 1935?"

The vote was open not only to those who had signed but to those who had not signed the corn-hog restriction agreements for 1934. The returns were:

	Yes.	No.
Signers	27,322	26,590
Nonsigners	2,168	9,514
Total	29,490	36,104

The second question was:

"Do you favor a one contract per farm adjustment program dealing with grains and live stock, to become effective in 1936?"

On this question the vote was:

	Yes.	No.
Signers	15,712	32,867
Nonsigners	1,359	9,517

Here's Pronounced Opposition.

The most pronounced opposition to the AAA program was recorded by the principal corn-hog territory, the eastern and south central part of the state. The corn-hog producers voted 22,088 for and 29,662 against the first proposition and 13,074 for and 33,955 against the second. The only favorable vote was cast in the western wheat and cattle belt, which went 7,402 for and 6,442 against the first proposal. On the second, however, this same region voted 3,997 for and 8,429 against. Only about 40 per cent of all the producers in the state participated in the referendum.

The result of the balloting is generally interpreted as a revelation of farmer disillusionment of the great expectations of the crop restriction scheme and revulsion against the whole plan of government regimentation.

The highly individualistic nature of the farmer has rebelled against the whole burocratic system of agricultural control. He has signed a multitude of agreements and vouchers and become inextricably involved in Washington red tape. He has been checked up and rechecked up by white collar agents of the brain trust who have criticized his farming methods and his cost system, pried into his personal affairs and questioned this and that detail of his expenditures. He has been told he must keep a budget. He has been told what he could plant and what he couldn't. He has suffered arbitrary reduction of his production allotment because dishonest but politically powerful neighbors were able to get allotments to which they were not entitled. Finally there have been months of delay in getting his bounty checks from Washington.

Signs of Disillusionment.

The signs of disillusionment have been multiplying ever since the farmers signed the first contract for corn-hog restriction and then found they had signed an agreement to submit to any other system of control the AAA might impose. Their next discovery was that the processing taxes were being paid in the end by the farmers themselves. They were com-

THE NEW PET OF THE ZOO, "LEAPIN' LENA"

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A raging October gale battered through the Pacific northwest today leaving thirteen dead in its wake and widespread damage to shipping and property.

The purse seiner Agnes of Seattle carried five men to their deaths off Point Wilson as the coast guard cutter Haida neared the scene.

The other deaths comprised three more drownings, two persons crushed by wreckage from buildings, two persons electrocuted when a high tension line was blown across a radio aerial, and a motorist crushed by a falling tree.

Here Is List of Those Dead.

The dead: Bernard Thomason, S. Peterson, Howard Anderson, Leonard Torget, and Leonard Berg, all fishermen of the Agnes. Two of the crew, Oscar Benson and Jimmy De Coursey, were rescued.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christenson, both about 45, of Tacoma, killed when the wind blew a high tension line across a radio aerial they were repairing.

R. M. Johnson of Portland, a guest at a Bellingham hotel, crushed beneath bricks and wreckage when an edge of a roof on which he was working gave way.

House Topples Into River.

John Dybal and his wife, lost when a fish trap they operated at the mouth of the Skagit river was wrecked and their house fell into the water.

An unidentified Chinese, killed when the side of a rooming house caved in at Seattle.

Elmer Lee, 30, Bremerton navy yard worker, crushed by a tree which wrecked his car near Dewatto.

The passenger boat Virginia V., plying between Seattle and Tacoma, was caught in the gale's fury and dashed against a dock, but the twenty-five passengers were rescued.

Ship Rides Out Storm.

The freighter Floridian, carrying a crew of thirty-two men, sent out a frantic S O S when the raging gale drove it near the shore at the mouth of the Columbia river. Later, however, the ship was able to anchor and the captain said he would proceed to Portland for repair of damage caused by the buffeting.

Here the liner President Madison was ripped from her moorings and blown the length of a pier, sweeping three ships along with her.

The coast guard cutter Atlanta rushed to the aid of two men reported lashed to piling at Boundary bay, near the Canadian line, after the cannery workhouse in which they stayed was swept away by the wind.

Wind Velocity 80 Miles an Hour.

Throughout the Pacific northwest came reports of communication lines ripped away, lighting systems put out, and highways littered by the gale which reached 80 miles per hour off shore.

The storm struck the area with full fury during the morning with full gale warnings ordered hoisted by the weather bureau, and had subsided only slightly at nightfall. The navy yard at Bremerton reported a 55 mile an hour wind velocity shortly after noon.

Wild excitement prevailed at the Mason Methodist church in Tacoma when a large chimney was blown down and crashed into the roof of a Sunday school classroom. Twenty-five small boys and girls were in the room with their teacher. Three of the children were injured seriously.

Policeman's Quiet Evening at Home Nets One Burglar

Knowing that his neighbors were out for the evening, Policeman John Clark of the Gresham station, who lives at 7927 South Hermitage avenue, was naturally surprised to see all the lights on in the next door house. He summoned other police and went over to investigate. In the house, which is that of William Mallihoit, 7925 South Hermitage avenue, he captured Howard Osterhous, 16 years old, of 1738 West 79th street. He had forced the doors and was bent on burglary. The youth was turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Chicago Police Legion Bound Meet Stranger

Miami, Fla., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—He was a meek appearing person. When he boarded the train bearing the Chicago Police post to the American Legion convention here, some were doubtful that he had been a M. P. in France. He did not look that way. But they bade him welcome.

Somewhere along the line a stud poker game was organized and the only available pack of cards was furnished by the stranger.

Uncanny things began to happen. A Chicago veteran would have aces back to back and the stranger would be looking out the window; a Chicago veteran would have a pair showing and the stranger would call and turn over two pairs. A veteran would be sitting pretty with two pair and the stranger would turn over three of a sort.

Financially Discouraging.

It was discouraging and financially unfortunate to the veterans. One by one they drifted into another stateroom where the galloping dominoes were galloping.

Soon the stranger eased in, having busted the card investors. He could roll them good. Sometimes it was a 7 natural or an 11 natural. But, missing those, the stranger wagered heavily on fives, sixes, and nines.

A suspicious detective grabbed the cubes. He found they bore, on all four sides, only aces, fours, and fives.

Seize Stranger's Cards.

Finally convinced some evil was afoot, they commandeered the stranger's cards. They had strange, almost invisible, markings on the back.

Practically all of the 165 members of the Chicago Police Legion post accompanied the stranger to the Miami police station tonight. He was booked under the name of Dave O. Banks, 4501 Malden street, Chicago. He admitted serving a jail term at Milwaukee. Police here said they recognized him as a fugitive bad check passer.

THREATEN LIFE OF VANDERBILT HEIRESS OF 10

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A police cordon has been thrown around the home of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, it became known tonight, as a result of a death threat against her ten years old daughter, heiress to millions.

The threat, in the form of a crudely composed note, was delivered at Mrs. Vanderbilt's five story brownstone home just off Fifth avenue last Tuesday. A police guard was posted there immediately afterward.

The child, principal in a court contest between her mother and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, her paternal aunt, was at Mrs. Whitney's Long Island estate pending the outcome of the litigation over her custody.

G. O. P. THRONGS GROW; CHICAGO RALLY TONIGHT

25,000 Attend Kane County Meeting.

Twenty-five thousand persons crowded a Republican rally near St. Charles yesterday, heralding, in a manner of speaking, the great Republican massmeeting which is scheduled to throng the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The St. Charles Republican assembly was regarded by leaders as a great testimonial of changed political feeling. The huge rally in the Chicago Stadium tonight is regarded as a city corollary of the outpouring in the country.

Yesterday's rally of northern Illinois people took place on the Twin Pines estate of Edward J. Baker, three and one-half miles northwest of St. Charles, in Kane county. Barbecue supplies for a crowd of 20,000 were exhausted during the afternoon and additional provisions were ordered for the throngs that poured in from surrounding counties.

History Making Rally in County.

The gathering astonished the Kane county Republican committee and the St. Charles Republican club, which united in sponsoring it. Veterans of politics called it the greatest political gathering ever held in that section.

Highways leading to the Baker estate were jammed with automobiles. The crowds on the grounds were mostly folk from farming communities who apparently distrust the big spending ideas of the Washington brain trusters.

The barbecue provisions gave out early in the afternoon. Ten thousand pounds of pork, 3,500 pounds of beef, 2,000 dozen buns, 2,000 gallons of coffee, and 75 barrels of beer all were swept away. Truckloads of fresh supplies were called for and finally arrived after making their way with difficulty past the lines of incoming guests on the highways.

Democrats' Record Attacked.

The principal speaker of the day was Judge Elvy E. Callaway of Lakeland, Fla., former Republican chairman of that state. He attacked the Democrats for failing to keep in any measure the promises of their 1932 platform.

"They have debauched the currency," he said. "They have repudiated their solemn contracts with the people and have confiscated billions of dollars without due process of law. Under the NRA they have set up the most damnable monopolies ever seen and have closed the door to competitive opportunity. The government has injected itself into all manner of private business."

Other speakers included Attorney Charles L. Abbott of Elgin, Attorney Charles O'Connor of Aurora, Kane county Republican chairman; Probate Judge Harry C. Daniels of Elgin, State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed of Du Page county, and State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago.

Great Rally at Stadium Tonight.

Meanwhile preparations were about completed in Chicago for the great Republican massmeeting tonight in the Stadium at 1800 Madison street. This will open at 8 o'clock under the chairmanship of C. Wayland Brooks, nominee for Illinois congressman at large. Mr. Brooks will discuss the national political situation while othe speakers, chosen from among candidates for local offices, will open fire on the Democratic administrations in state, county, and city.

All the color of an old-time political rally is promised. Many ward organizations will march into the Stadium in formation. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock. Radio station W-G-N will broadcast the proceedings from 8 to 8:30 p. m. and again from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

Prelude to Fighting Finish.

The meeting is heralded by Republican leaders and candidates as the inspirational prelude to a final intensive two weeks of campaigning that will sweep right up to the eve of the Nov. 6 election in each ward of the city and every district of the county.

Speakers have announced that they will make the occasion a "declaration of war" against the Democrats, giving "names, dates, places, and amounts" in discussing the inner workings of the rival party. It is to be a turning of the searchlight on the acts of all Democrats now in power.

Among the speakers will be John E. Northup, candidate for sanitary district trustee; Municipal Judge Samuel Heller, nominee for county judge. George F. Nixon, who seeks the presidency of the county board, and Ald. James C. Moreland, candidate for county assessor.

Believe 'Pretty Boy' Dying of Bullet Wound

BULLETIN.

Wellsville, O., Oct. 22 (Monday).—(AP)—Melvin Purvis, in charge of federal agents hunting for Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, today expressed the opinion that Floyd is either dead or dying in the woods near here. Purvis gave this opinion after talking to George McMullen, owner of an automobile which Floyd appropriated after a gun battle here. McMullen said that Floyd showed him two bullet wounds, one in his back and another in his abdomen, as they rode along the road. McMullen said Floyd lost at least two pints of blood while riding with him.

Wellsville, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Posses, led by sheriffs of two counties, were beating the woods near here tonight, seeking a fugitive identified by three persons as Charles [Pretty Boy] Floyd, who escaped police yesterday following a gun battle.

During the fight Chief of Police John H. Fultz was shot in the ankle, the man believed to be Floyd was wounded, and his companion, Adam Richetti, was captured and is held in jail here.

Both Richetti and Floyd are sought by the government for participation in the Kansas City Union station massacre of June, 1933. County Prosecutor George Lafferty said that Richetti had admitted his identity and admitted knowing Floyd, but denied that "Pretty Boy" was the man who had been with him.

Recognizes Floyd in Fight.

Chief Fultz, who told the story of the gun fight and the subsequent escape of the fugitive in two commandeered cars, stated, however, that he recognized the man as Floyd from pictures. Two employés of a Tiltonville bank, robbed Friday, also identified Floyd from photograph as one of the bandits.

The chief said he was called last night by a citizen who declared that two suspicious characters were camping by the roadside just outside of Wellsville, and that he believed one of them to be Floyd. Deputizing two men, Chief Fultz went to the spot.

Approaching the men, he commanded them to surrender. Richetti ran toward a small shack nearby and his companion opened fire with a pistol. The police returned the shots and in a few moments Richetti surrendered, unhurt.

During the confusion of the fight the man thought to be Floyd escaped and commandeered a passing car which was headed toward Lisbon, the county seat, 14 miles away. The driver was forced out and the fugitive drove away. About six miles from Wellsville, however, the engine of the automobile failed.

Seizes Another Car.

The hunted man promptly seized another passing car and continued. In the meantime Wellsville police had telephoned to Lisbon and on the outskirts of that town the man thought to be Floyd saw a posse coming toward him. He abandoned the car and escaped on foot through the woods.

Posses were organized by Sheriff Frank Ballantine of Columbiana county and Sheriff Ray Long of Jefferson county. In both abandoned automobiles used by the fugitive bloodstains were found, tending to corroborate Chief Fultz's story that he had wounded the fleeing man.

Richetti was quoted by Sherif Ballantine and Chief Fultz as saying that he had been with Floyd in the past, but had not seen him since they separated a year ago.

YOUTH AND GIRL SEIZED AS THEY PLAN ROBBERY

A youth, claiming to be a Purdue university student and a relative of high government officials in Washington, was arrested last night with a girl companion as he was about to break into a furrier's at 105 East Delaware place to steal a $2,500 fur coat.

The two, who drove to Chicago in a car stolen in Lafayette, Ind., Saturday night, game the names of Alfred H. Brauer, 19 years old, and Miss Selma Underwood, also 19 years old, of Durham, N. C.

According to Brauer's story the two met in Durham when Brauer was a student at Duke university. Brauer, who is married, stated that his wife had become jealous of his friendship with Miss Underwood and urged him to transfer to Purdue.

In the meantime Miss Underwood said she went to Cincinnati, where she secured a job as a waitress. The two met in Lafayette several days ago, stole the car Saturday, and came to Chicago. They had little money, Brauer said, and spent their last for breakfast yesterday. They slept in the car.

When the two were arrested by East Chicago avenue police in front of the fur shop, which is in the Whitehall apartment hotel building, Brauer was carrying a hammer. He said he intended to use this to break the window and steal the coat.

TWO PLANES HOP AT SINGAPORE FOR AUSTRALIA

British Pair in Lead, Dutch Second.

BULLETIN.

MILDENHALL AIRDROME, England, Oct. 21.—(AP)—C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, British leaders in the London to Melbourne air Derby, arrived at Singapore, Straits Settlement, at 10:22 p. m., Greenwich meridian time, today. They spent only an hour and twenty minutes in Singapore, taking the air again for Darwin, Australia, the next control point.

[Greenwich meridian time is six hours ahead of central standard time and seven hours behind Singapore time. Thus, the flyers arrived at 5:23 a. m. Monday, Singapore, which was 4:23 p. m. Sunday, Chicago time.]

The two flying Dutchmen, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, flying a longer route than the leading Britons, held to second place. They arrived at Singapore at 8:42 a. m. [G. M. T.] Monday and left for Darwin, Australia, at 7:34 a. m.

Turner Loses Time.

Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, Americans racing third, lost time when they wandered off the course near Allahabad, but landed safely. They took off for Calcutta at 11:45 p. m. [G. M. T.] They were sighted over Rangoon, Burma, at 5 a. m. [G. M. T.] Monday, nearly half way from Allahabad, India, to Singapore.

The early leading Mollisons, Amy and Jim, were in the air again after difficulties and hopeful of getting out of fourth place. The Mollisons departed from Karachi, India, at 9:05 p. m., G. M. T., for Allahabad. Twice they had been forced to return to Karachi field because of a jammed landing gear and heavy fog. They arrived at Allahabad at 5:28 a. m. [G. M. T.] Monday.

After leaving Karachi the Mollisons lost their way and landed at Jodhpur to check their bearings. They resumed their flight almost immediately for Allahabad, expecting to get there around 6 a. m.

Cathcart Jones and Ken W. Waller, flying a plane like the Mollisons and Scott's, were fifth in the race. They developed motor trouble at Bagdad, but took off at noon, reaching Karachi at 8:10 p. m., G. M. T. They left Karachi at 4:15 a. m., G. M. T., Monday for points east.

Malcolm MacGregor of New Zealand, in sixth place, left Bagdad at 10:32 p. m., G. M. T., heading for Karachi. Henry Walker is his flying companion.

Second Dutch Pair Out.

G. H. Geysendorfer and D. L. Asjes, the second Dutch team in the 11,300 mile air classic, cracked up in landing at Allahabad and were out of the race with a broken propeller and a smashed undercarriage. Geysendorfer said he was not officially scratching until tomorrow, but "you may consider me out of the race." His retractable landing wheels failed to work, causing the propellers to slash into the turf on alighting.

Scott arrived at Singapore after a difficult eight hour ocean crossing.

"Visibility was bad and we were lucky to get through," he said. "But the machine behaved splendidly."

Turner and Pangborn cruised at an average speed of 160 miles an hour, but occasionally they forced their big plane to step up to 178 miles before reaching Allahabad. Both were cheerful despite the time lost by their aimless wandering.

They supervised refueling of their plane before eating. They found that about 100 gallons of gasoline remained in the tanks on landing, although previous wireless messages from them said their supply was running low.

When Scott's brilliant Red Comet plane roared into Singapore heavy smoke was issuing from the exhaust. Scott made an extremely fast landing and a fire engine raced across the field, thinking he was in trouble.

Giving "the Gun."

Enormous crowds that had gathered at the airport gasped as the machine stopped, but when the engine was cut off and the smoke disappeared they broke into thunderous cheers.

Scott had been "giving the gun" to his big cruiser, making a 2,200 mile nonstop flight to Singapore in 12 hours and 8 minutes.

The Dutchman, Parmentier, said at Allahabad he was confident he could beat the leaders. Scott's plane, he said, was "flying all out, while we are nursing our engines along."

In less than 40 hours from the start the Britons Scott and Black had covered almost two-thirds of the course. At the rate they have been going it is possible for them to make the entire trip in three days.

Ahead of them lies a 2,084 mile jump over the East Indian islands to Darwin, Australia, then 2,176 miles overland to Melbourne, the goal.

Of the 20 planes which took off from England Saturday, sixteen were still in the race. Besides the six leaders another plane was at Aleppo, Syria, and four more were flying from Athens to Aleppo tonight. A twelfth plane was awaiting a takeoff at Athens. Two planes were still at Rome, another was at Marseilles, France, and the tailender was still at Paris.

Of the four planes which are out of the race, three suffered damages in landing and the fourth had motor trouble. The strongest entry to suffer was that of the Dutch pair—Geysendorfer and D. L. Asjes.

Australians in Smashup.

J. Woods and D. C. Bennett, Australians, had a smashup at Aleppo Syria, on trying to land their American (Lockheed Vega) plane. Woods wirelessed the Royal Aero club at London a brief message:

"Undercarriage collapsed. Out of race. Crew unhurt."

The British team, Capt. T. Neville Stack and S. L. Turner, were the second pair to drop officially from the race today. Harassed by motor trouble they landed at Marseilles about 2 p. m. Stack said he would not compete in the race further, but would continue to Melbourne as a noncompetitor. Stack and Turner will deliver films of the start of the Derby Saturday. The fourth withdrawal was that of Miss Jacqueline Cochran and Wesley Smith, Americans, whose plane was damaged in landing at Bucharest Saturday.

At least two records have been established thus far. The Mollisons reduced the record from England to India to 22 hours 13 minutes from the previous mark of 50 hours, set by Squadron Leader Jones Williams and Flight Lieut. N. H. Jenkins in April, 1929.

The still more remarkable flight of Scott and Black to Singapore took 39 hours 56 minutes, about two days less than the previous best time.

KINGSFORD-SMITH FORCED TO DELAY HOP TO HONOLULU

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Rain squalls and northeast trade winds delayed Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith today in his hoped for takeoff in Suva, Fiji, on the second leg of a long over-ocean flight from Australia to the United States.

SIR CHARLES KINGSFORD-SMITH.

The noted flyer advised his brother here, R. H. K. Smith, that his contemplated departure on the 3,197 mile lap to Honolulu had been put off until Tuesday, Suva time, or until weather conditions improve.

Earlier in the day Sir Charles had informed his brother he might take off early Monday, Suva time.

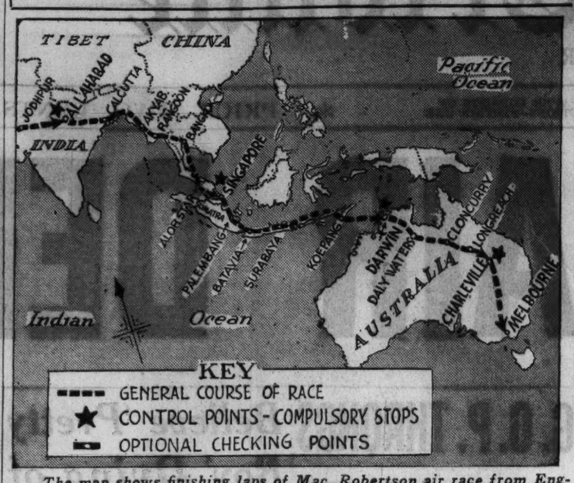
37 High Turkish Officials Become Ill from Meal

BEYOGLU, Turkey, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Premier Ismet Pasha, Minister of Economy Djelal, and 35 other Turkish notables became ill today after eating a meal on a journey between Cesarea and Ankara. All who partook of the food showed effects of poisoning.

LAST STRETCH OF AIR RACE



The map shows finishing laps of Mac Robertson air race from England to Melbourne, Australia. The leaders, Scott and Black, are between Singapore and Darwin, Australia. The Dutch pair, Parmentier and Moll, are between Singapore and Darwin, Australia, and the Americans, Turner and Pangborn, between Allahabad, India, and Singapore.

How Flyers in Big Race Stand

FIRST—C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, British, apparently far ahead. Left Singapore at 11:42 p. m., G. M. T., Sunday for Darwin, Australia.

SECOND—K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, Dutch, arrived at Singapore at 6:42 a. m., G. M. T., Monday. They left for Darwin, Australia, at 7:34 a. m.

U. S. TO SIBERIA AIR LINE SOON, BULLITT SAYS

VLADIVOSTOK, U. S. S. R., Oct. 21.—(AP)—William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to Russia, who sailed for Japan yesterday en route to America, expressed himself confident that an air service across the Pacific ocean to the soviet republic would be established soon.

"I am prepared to be the first passenger on such an air line, which would connect two great and friendly nations," Bullitt asserted.

He said a United States consulate would be established at Vladivostok within six months.

JERSEY CLAMPS SILENCE ORDER ON HAUPTMANN

Flemington, N. J., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Bruno Hauptmann, denied permission to converse with his trio of guards, paced his compact cell in silence tonight, slowly adjusting himself to his new surroundings in the Hunterdon county jail.

New Jersey legal authorities, who will try the Bronx carpenter next month on a charge of slaying Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, ordered he should not receive reading matter or talk with the two state troopers and the deputy sheriff constantly on watch.

Plan to Cover Bars.

Sheriff John H. Curtiss went ahead with plans to cover the bars of the 30 foot "bull pen," in which Hauptmann is allowed to walk, with a fine mesh screen. This, he said, would permit Mrs. Hauptmann to approach her husband more closely than she was allowed to yesterday. She expects to visit Hauptmann again tomorrow.

Arraignment of Hauptmann on the murder charge will not take place before Saturday, in the sheriff's opinion. Attorney General David T. Wilentz and his assistants will confer on the case in Trenton tomorrow, preventing arraignment at that time.

Youth Picks Hauptmann.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 21.—(AP)—C. L. Lightfoot of Franklin Park today said his son, Richard, 15, had identified Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the man who had talked to the family's chauffeur on a back road ten days before the Lindbergh kidnaping.

Lightfoot said his son identified Hauptmann from a newspaper picture.

The chauffeur, Paul Thornberg, and his wife Katy were questioned and released during the early investigation of the kidnaping. Lightfoot said police again were seeking them.

Panama Canal Awaits U. S. Fleet 'Attack' on Atlantic

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Oct. 21.—Although the United States fleet leaves Guantanamo, Cuba, early tomorrow bound for Panama, the exact hour of its arrival at Cristobal is not known to canal authorities. The reason is the Caribbean maneuvers around the canal's Atlantic entrance. In this sham war the entire fleet will attack the canal, attempt to destroy the shore defenses, break through the submarine and airplane defense, and pass through the canal to the Pacific.

EXPECT CAPTURE OF LONDON SOON IN DAICHES CASE

Police declared yesterday they were close to the capture of Jack London, former gambling house guard, whose arrest, they said, will complete their part in the solution of the murder of Eli Daiches, advertising agency executive killed last March 3. London has been named in confessions as one of the men in the plot. Involved in the mysterious slaying is the $300,000 life insurance taken out by Daiches and made payable to the concern he owned, the Thomas M. Bowers Advertising agency, 304 South Wabash avenue.

Held on a charge of murder is Irving Weitzman, south side bakery operator, a brother of Louis A. Weitzman of New York, present head of the advertising agency.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan, who has directed the investigation of the Daiches murder, said he may or may not go before the grand jury today and ask the indictment of Weitzman and Walter Murphy, who is also a prisoner. Regan said he might await the capture of London.

PURSE SNATCHER IDENTIFIED.

Cornelius Wilburn, colored, 22 years old, 4947 Indiana avenue, was identified at the detective bureau showup yesterday by Mrs. Lucille Capece, 6753 South Wood street, as the man who snatched her purse containing $53 at 14th and Halsted streets last Wednesday.

PHILIPPINES HIT BY NEW TYPHOON; FIVE ARE KILLED

10,000 Made Homeless; Storm Misses Manila.

MANILA, Oct. 22.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Ten thousand persons were made temporarily homeless in Naga, capital of Camarine sur Province, by a destructive typhoon which struck that region last night.

Only five deaths had been reported early today, however, as the typhoon, second to strike the Island of Luzon in a week, roared on towards the China sea. Squalls were the only sign of the storm's passing in Manila.

Four destructive typhoons in the islands within a month have taken a toll of 92 lives, made possibly 90,000 persons homeless, and caused heavy property damage.

500 Dwellings Toppled Over.

A dispatch to the Manila Bulletin said four persons were killed at Naga, where the water at some places was six feet deep. Information from the stricken area was meager because communications were crippled.

A dispatch from San Pablo said there was one known death at Laguna province, with damage estimated at $250,000. The homeless passed the night in movie houses.

Resident Commissioner Pedro Guevara, Mrs. Guevara, and a secretary narrowly escaped being struck by falling trees.

Storm Delays Liners.

The liners President Jefferson and General Pershing, both due today, were late on account of the storm.

The typhoon was of lesser force than the one on Oct. 16, which lashed Manila and nearby provinces, causing heavy loss of life and extensive property damage.

With about 90,000 persons already temporarily homeless, the new disaster complicated the relief problem but government officials said they were confident all needs could be met. They echoed Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy's promise that "nobody will go hungry."

Red Cross Feeds Families.

The four typhoons have taxed facilities of the Red Cross and other agencies, as well as the government. The Red Cross reported it had fed 590 families in the Batanes Islands, between Luzon and Formosa, as a result of the tempest of Sept. 19, and 860 families following the typhoon of Oct. 5, which struck northern Luzon.

Then came the two more serious disasters, but the loss was minimized because of ample warnings issued by the Rev. Miguel Selga, official meteorologist.

DEMANDS DEATH FOR ABDUCTORS OF MRS. STOLL

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Death was demanded for the kidnapers of Alice Speed Stoll tonight by William Stoll, brother-in-law of the erstwhile kidnap victim, and President of the Louisville Board of Trade.

"Certainly the law must take its course if we are to have law and order in this country," he said. "The government should have its way."

He spoke as the hunt for Thomas Henry Robinson Jr., named as the kidnaper, was being concentrated north of the Ohio river. Melvin H. Purvis, who tracked John Dillinger to his death, was in charge of a band of federal agents operating out of Cincinnati.

Three Under Indictment.

Robinson, his father and his wife have been indicted in terms that make the death penalty a possibility in the event of their conviction.

William Stoll's demand that the full measure of punishment be exacted approaches a contradiction of the statement attributed to the captive that consideration be given to Mrs. Robinson.

"Speaking for myself, I think that Mrs. Stoll made that statement shortly after her return when she was in a weakened condition," William Stoll said. "There is no doubt, however, that all the guilty must be punished."

Sightseers jammed roads leading to the Stoll residence in Lime Kiln lane today, eager to view the scenes of Kentucky's most vivid crime. Telephone service to the house was temporarily suspended.

Seeks to Maintain Bond.

Meanwhile Assistant United States Attorney Claude Hudgins, who presented the government's case to the grand jury, said that every effort would be made to keep Mrs. Robinson's bond at its present figure of $50,000.

In default of this sum Mrs. Robinson is confined to the Jefferson county jail. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Althauser of Nashville, are in town and visit her frequently.

Hudgins said he did not believe Thomas H. Robinson Sr., held in Nashville under $25,000 bond on a charge of participating in the abduction, would be brought here for several days.

SHOT IN STREET FIGHT.

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—William Smallwood, 27, Negro, was shot and seriously wounded in a street fight here today. Ed Letcher, 52, who said Smallwood tried to stab him, was arrested.

A Spanish-American war veteran, who says he has not seen his first wife since she left him 32 years ago, must appear in the Court of Domestic Relations' branch of the Municipal court today to answer her charges of non-support.

He is Albert Adam, 67 years old, of 2353 Cleveland avenue. He spent several hours in a cell at the Hudson avenue police station last night before an $800 bond was arranged by a friend, Dr. Aime Paul Heinecke, 4801 Drexel avenue.

Dr. Heinecke, who said he had known Adam for many years, described him as a member of a well known family in France, a graduate of the University of Strasbourg, and a former soldier in the French army.

Divorced Less than Year.

Adam said that in 1901 he married Miss Martha Fitzpatrick, but that she left him a year later, presumably to go on the stage. He never heard from her after that, he said, and less than a year ago got a divorce in order to marry a Miss Barbara Hurt.

Then, last Tuesday, the non-support warant was sworn out before Judge Erwin J. Hasten in the Court of Domestic Relations. The first Mrs. Adam's address was given as Lisle, Ill., but efforts to reach her last night were unavailing.

Adam said he had been a prosperous commission merchant, but that he invested his savings in South American bonds, which defaulted and left him penniless.

Admits Case Is Not Outlawed.

Since then, according to his story, he has been living on his pension as a Spanish-American war veteran.

Attorney Ladislav Kopsa, representing Adam, said it was quite possible for a non-support charge to be brought, even after so many years. Nevertheless, he added, Adam's divorce changes the status of the case, and he expressed the belief that the case would have to be taken from the Municipal court back to the court which granted the decree.

The divorce was granted by publication, Attorney Kopsa said, since Mrs. Adam could not be found for service.

Hunt Slayer of Cripple After Dispute in Tavern

William Blaine, 35 years old, 2430 West 48th street, was sought by police yesterday as the man who fatally stabbed Walter Sutcliffe, 30 years old, 2238 West 54th place, earlier in the day in a tavern at 5230 West 95th street, Oak Lawn. Sutcliffe, who was crippled in an automobile accident several years ago, was stabbed when he protested Blaine's remarks about his appearance, witnesses said.

CHARGED WITH BITING POLICEMAN.

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Joe Ruskavaga, 24, was held in the city jail today charged with biting Detective A. R. Kelsey in the leg when Kelsey attempted to arrest him following an automobile accident.

KIDNAP WOMAN; ESCAPE UNDER FIRE OF POLICE

Two men and a blonde gun girl held as a captive in their automobile early yesterday Mrs. Gussie Detrie, 31 years old, a widow, 820 East 45th street. In a wild ride they outdistanced the car of a police squad headed by Sergt. Charles McMullen, who fired to stop them as Mrs. Detrie struggled.

Sergt. McMullen found Mrs. Detrie at 35th and Wallace streets, where she said her captors had pushed her from their machine. She related that she met the trio at the Woodlawn café, 738 East 63d street, where she had gone to visit a girl entertainer. They invited her to join their party and suggested going to another restaurant. They introduced themselves as Gail, Pat, and Jean.

The four set out, Mrs. Detrie recounted, and one of the men tried to attack her. To assist him, the girl threatened Mrs. Detrie with a revolver. A machine gun lay in the back seat. At this point the police squad noted the disturbance and gave chase.

Police questioned Harry Simons, 11548 South State street, manager of the café, but he denied knowing the trio.

NEW STOLL BILL LIST DISPROVES ALL CLEWS HERE

A revised list of the serial numbers of the $5, $10 and $20 bills which comprised the $50,000 ransom paid for the release of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll of Louisville, Ky., was received from Washington, D. C., by the Chicago office of the federal bureau of investigation yesterday.

An incomplete list which was published shortly after Mrs. Stoll was freed has been the cause of much annoyance to shoppers during the last few days. Small shopkeepers and clerks with a penchant for crime detection provided themselves with copies of the published list and kept federal agents busy examining bills supposed to be suspicious.

Hunt for Two in Murder of Chicago Heights Man

The Chicago Heights police failed yesterday to find a motive for the slaying on Saturday night of Joseph Pancrazio, 57 years old, 1211 Wentworth avenue, Chicago Heights. Pancrazio, father of six children, was shot to death in 12th street near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks in Chicago Heights. Two men fled in an automobile after shooting him twice with a shotgun.

HINT NEW DEAL POLICY CHANGES AS TRADE FALLS

But Conservatism Claim Is Refused.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—An aura of conservatism hangs mysteriously over this capital of the New Dealers these days.

Although President Roosevelt has made no public announcements which evince a disposition to depart from the radical trends of his program, he is known to have given his recent business visitors such a reaction. Some of the assistant New Dealers, chiefly Donald R. Richberg, have gone abroad over the land singing paeons of confidence to business audiences, and Prof. Raymond Moley in New York has talked soothingly to specially selected leaders of commerce, at specially arranged dinners.

Many business writers and journals, reflecting this "inside" information, have hailed the reform of the New Deal.

What is it all about?

Reports Are Unfavorable.

In the first place, business has been standing still or slipping a bit. Reports on the economic well-being of the country issued by private and public agencies have not been sanguine.

Retail and wholesale tradesmen have reported fair improvements, reflecting the receipt of many millions of dollars poured out by the government to farmers and to the poor and unemployed. But the big industries—steel, lumber, automobiles, textiles—have not shown improvement, and instead of enjoying boom months this fall as was anticipated by the New Dealers, they are all, at this writing, backsliding.

Unemployment figures slumped in September, and although Secretary Perkins laid the blame on the textile strike, an examination of the detailed figures showed other lines suffering setbacks.

Foreign Trade Progress Slow.

Foreign trade, especially in agricultural products affected by the AAA schemes, has not developed, and the efforts of the administration to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements have been slow, ensnared in European and South American politics, and mostly unavailing.

The army on the dole has grown instead of diminishing, and this winter, it is predicted even by the New Dealers, will see 20,000,000 people, one-sixth of the whole nation, on the relief rolls. Men jobless for years are growing restive.

From this record it has appeared to many that the New Deal has failed. The Literary Digest poll announced a few days ago has shown the Roosevelt policies now receiving endorsement by only the barest majority.

New Deal 20 Months Old.

The New Deal is nearly 20 months old and has shown slim results; in two years Mr. Roosevelt will be a candidate for reëlection, and he will not be campaigning then on the issue of the "Hoover depression," but will be defending the "Roosevelt depression."

Many economists, pointing to England's example, call for a return to conservative principles, to a balancing of the budget, an end to the doling out of easy money, a reduction of burdensome taxes.

That the President has really adopted this course, and is easing himself into it with all possible grace, is the opinion written by a number of financial writers and journalistic interpreters of the Washington scene. They have given ear to the new rumbles of conservative expression, to the talks of returning to "the old fashioned competition and private profit" delivered by the chameleonlike Richberg.

It is not so.

The President has not deviated from his course, but instead is planning to pursue it all the stronger, in his efforts to achieve what he and Louis McHenry Howe have called "The Abundant Life."

As disclosed in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, the administration is now devising the most ambitious scheme of all those of the New Deal. The federal dole is to be abolished entirely, if this plan is put into effect, and in its place will come a 5 billion dollar work relief program embracing great housing projects, agricultural rehabilitation, slum clearances, subsistence homestead colonies on a greatly enlarged scale.

The aim will be to give every person who is able to work a job, and to let local agencies, the city and state, resume the exclusive care of the helpless poor.

Obviously, such a plan will be received by conservatives as a further swing toward a socialistic state.

U. S. IS PURCHASING FIVE MILLION ACRES SUBMARGINAL LAND

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—About 5,000,000 acres of submarginal farm land are destined by the powers that be to be back in the public domain before the close of the year.

Farm administration and relief officials, talking guardedly about their plans for buying land, conceded today that they had forty projects involving the purchase of about 4,000,000 acres in various stages of completion.

They indicated these projects were in addition to the 1,000,000 acres which Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, last week reported already purchased or under contract. Hopkins said the work of moving families from land taken over by the government was well under way.

All submarginal land projects approved by the land-policy section of the AAA for purchase by the Surplus Relief corporation are separate from ordinary land purchases for national parks, Indian reservations, wild life restoration and forestry, although some of the submarginal tracts will be used for such purposes.

Purchases to date are being made out of the original $25,000,000 fund allotted by President Roosevelt almost a year ago. An additional $50,000,000 was set aside in the $525,000,000 drouth relief appropriation of last May for land purchases, but the legality of using relief money for such land buying has been questioned in some official circles.

BUSY CAMPAIGN WEEK PLANNED BY DEMOCRATS

Democratic headquarters yesterday announced a busy program for the week in which massmeetings and radio addresses will be utilized in the "Forward with Roosevelt" campaign of local candidates. Martin J. O'Brien, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Democratic committee, listed the program—but one meeting, which Democrats count as favorable to their cause was not mentioned.

This is a Republican rally at noon tomorrow in the Erlanger theater, at which former State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe will be the principal speaker. Mr. Crowe has announced that he expects to "expose" several Republican leaders and call upon them publicly to resign. So far he has centered his charges on William H. Weber, chairman; Edward F. Moore, secretary, and William H. Reid of the Republican county committee, but he intimated he will have something to say about other members of the committee.

Democratic rallies during the week are planned in the Forty-second ward, the Sixteenth and Twenty-ninth wards, and in Evanston.

Mayor Kelly, Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden, and Ald. John S. Clark, nominee for assessor, campaigned on the air yesterday.

MOST FARMERS IN KANSAS REBEL AGAINST AAA

Fight Grows Hot on Corn Program.

pelled to sell their hogs at a price less the processing tax. Thus a large part of what went into one pocket in government bounties went out of the other pocket in processing taxes. Altogether in Kansas 21 millions have been received in bounties but 14 millions paid in processing taxes.

The results of the poll have put a crimp in the campaigns of numerous Democratic candidates for congress who have been holding forth at length on what the New Deal has done for the farmers and how grateful they should be for an all wise administration at Washington.

There is no senator being elected in Kansas this year and the canvass is revolving around the choice of a governor and the delegation in the national house. Gov. Alf Landon, Republican, is a candidate to succeed himself and there is every reason to believe he will be elected. He is a forceful character and has made a record of tax reduction and state government reorganization which it is difficult for the Democrats to criticise. If he is re-elected Gov. Landon unquestionably will become Kansas' favorite son for the Republican nomination for President in 1936.

50 Per Cent Are Republicans.

On account of Landon's political shrewdness and aggressiveness Kansas is one state in which the Democrats have been unable to build an overpowering machine on the basis of the government handouts. Take the AAA administration for example. There are four or five government agents in each township administering the corn-hog, wheat, and other agreements. In most states none but Democrats have been given these jobs. In Kansas Landon has seen to it that 50 per cent of them are Republicans.

Gov. Landon has cooperated with the New Dealers in many undertakings and claims credit for the drouth relief measures for which he pioneered. There are more than 100,000 people on federal relief in the state.

The Democratic candidate for governor is Omar Ketchum, union printer and mayor of Kansas City, whose administration is under fire on the score of inefficiency and radical tendencies. He is a ready talker and a ready promiser, but even the Democratic leaders concede his is an uphill fight against Landon, with his good record, strong organization, and state patronage.

Deluge of Government Cash.

The Democrats have been striving to capitalize the deluge of government money poured into the state which now aggregates about 170 million dollars. Some of the Democratic candidates have been uttering thinly veiled threats that the flow of money from Washington will be materially checked if the state goes Republican. A hint that the state will elect Ketchum governor if it properly realizes which side its bread is buttered on was recently conveyed in a letter written by Jim Farley, postmaster general and Democratic national chairman, to every Democratic precinct committeeman in Kansas. The Democratic state committee made public this excerpt from the letter for such influence as it might have on the electorate:

"I am sure that the people of Kansas realize that their best interest can be served by electing a Democratic governor who can cooperate wholeheartedly with President Roosevelt in future stages of the recovery program.

"Omar B. Ketchum, the Democratic nominee, deserves the confidence of Kansas voters. Every voter interested in his own welfare as well as that of the entire state, should guarantee cooperation between Topeka and Washington by electing Mr. Ketchum as the next governor of Kansas."

Distribute U. S. Funds.

Rental and cash benefits to farmers	$ 20,947,587
CCC camps	3,062,360
Farm Credit administration to Aug. 1	66,476,146
Emergency relief	23,631,846
Home Owners Loan corporation	17,526,326
Public Works administration	25,628,661
Reconstruction Finance corporation	10,877,334
Total	$168,150,160

G. O. P. Hammers New Deal.

There is very little pussyfooting on the part of the Republicans in the canvass. Most of the Republican candidates for congress are hammering the New Deal vigorously. The Republicans are likely to gain a seat or two.

Congressman Harold McGugin, Republican, is going after the New Dealers hammer and tongs in the Third district. Although he was elected largely by the labor vote in this mining district, he tells the workingmen that they are going to get the worst of the New Deal, or the Raw Deal, as he calls it. He says we are headed for inflation which always is ruinous to the employed classes.

There is much amusement over the situation in the Fifth district, which is normally Republican, but was carried term after term by a Democrat, the enormously popular Bill Ayres. Latterly he had had no serious Republican opposition.

Now it happens that a Republican, a sporting goods dealer, Ira C. Watson, had ambitions to be state fish and game commissioner. He had never been in politics and he was advised that he had better show some party activity if he wanted to get the appointment. So he said he would run against Ayres. Watson got the Republican nomination and Ayres was renominated. Then Ayres resigned from congress to go on the federal trade commission. It now became possible for a Republican to carry this normally Republican district, but the Republican nomination was held by a man who had taken it merely to get a state appointment. Every effort was made to get Watson to withdraw but in vain.

Woman Democrat to Win.

The Republicans don't expect to defeat Mrs. Kathryn O'Loughlin McCarthy, Democrat, in the Sixth district. She is smarter than most male politicians and has capitalized the New Deal to the nth degree. There is scarcely a New Deal experiment of any kind that is not being tried in her district with attendant spending of public funds.

The churches have stirred up tremendous opposition to repeal of the prohibition amendment to the state constitution on which Kansas will vote Nov. 6. A while ago the wets were confident of success, but now they have their doubts. The large cities are wet, the rural regions overwhelmingly dry. Kansas is the oldest prohibition state of continuous standing in the country.

G.O.P. RESTS HOPE ON IOWA SWING TO FORMER FAITH

Watches Straw Vote and Increases Attack.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Burlington, Ia., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Both Republicans and Democrats today held that the election results in Iowa Nov. 6 depend on how far the present swing of farmers and industrial workers against the New Deal increases in the final fortnight. With the campaign now at its critical stage the struggle is at white heat.

Its core is the contest for governor between Gov. Clyde Herring, Iowa's first Democratic governor since 1894, and Dan W. Turner, former Republican governor, who lost to Herring in the Roosevelt landslide two years ago.

"Tammany Farmers" Issue.

The "Tammany Farmers" issue is now being heralded all over the state by the G. O. P. It is given special emphasis due to the fact that the corn belt has indicated a growing disillusionment with the AAA, the processing tax on hogs and corn, the corn-hog bounty checks, and other works of the brain trusters.

In the AAA referendum, only 35 per cent of the corn-hog contract signers in Iowa, champion corn-hog state, voted to continue the Wallace-Tugwell-Ezekiel program next year. The shock to the New Dealers has not yet worn off.

Republican headquarters renewed its charges, that the New Deal is seeking to capitalize the millions of dollars poured into the state in bounties and easy money of various alphabetical designations, and that as election day approaches more corn-hog checks are arriving as Democratic arguments.

"Shall we make Iowa a branch of Farley's New York Tammany Hall?" Republican state headquarters asks at Des Moines in one of the latest "releases."

Fear Farleyizing of Iowa.

"The Democrats are spending a $200,000 campaign slush fund to maintain the Herring administration in power," says this literature.

"The Tammanyizing of Iowa is under way. Jim Farley's visits to Iowa are producing results. Tammany Hall in New York, now controled by Farley, has two great sources of revenue. First, a levy upon the job holders who are beholden to Tammany. Second, a levy upon those who did business with the Tammany controled City of New York.

"Tammany Hall in Iowa has two sources of revenue. First, state employés have been assessed 2 per cent a month on their salaries. Second, Iowa Tammany has been collecting from those who have been doing business with state. Tammany Hall in Iowa, at the Fort Des Moines hotel, has made it easy for gentlemen doing business with the state to contribute to the campaign fund."

Make Relief Partisan.

Dan Turner is charging that the Democrats are making a "political football" out of relief doles and are swallowing up too much of the "relief" money in overhead for payrollers.

"They are building a gigantic Tammany machine in Iowa," says Turner. "overhead is piling up overhead. Funds that are desperately needed for food and shelter for the poor are being used to put more political workers on the pay roll.

Turner also has been charging that under Gov. Herring, who was pledged to reduce cost of government, 346 persons has been added to the pay roll in the regular state departments.

Gov. Herring blocked this kick, saying Turner is pulling statistics out of a hat.

"The actual increase on the state pay roll was 179," says Herring, "but despite the addition of 179 people, the state pay roll is nearly $500,000 a year less now than it was in the free and easy days of the G. O. P."

On the sales tax, which ex-Gov. Turner is attacking as a chief issue, Gov. Herring's camp says the sales tax saves property owners $20,000,000 a year. "Those who advocate repeal of the tax revision act," says their literature, "in effect are asking the 400,000 property owners of Iowa to refuse to accept 20 millions dollars a year the government has elected to leave in their pockets."

Watch Straw Vote Results.

Leading interest today was centered on the results of a straw ballot taken by the Des Moines Register. In this 167,000 votes were collected. Gov. Herring got 50 per cent of the votes, Turner about 40 per cent; Short, Farmer-Labor, almost 8 per cent.

The straw vote showed Democratic candidates for congress leading in all nine districts. On whether the voters would vote for Roosevelt if he were running this year, the straw vote in round figures gave 65 per cent for Roosevelt and 32 per cent against Roosevelt. The figures on switches from one party to another indicated the President is 7½ per cent stronger than in 1932.

Much attention is paid the poll by this newspaper, which in former years has built a reputation for successful straw votes.

However, in publishing the results the Register points out that the Republican state committee urged Republicans not to vote. This was due to the wording of a question on sales tax.

Republicans from one end of the state to the other declare that in the last ten days the tide has been rapidly increasing in strength against the experimentation of the brain trust, and that in the next fortnight it will grow swiftly enough to put the state back in its old place in the Republican column.

Brookhart Out of Fight.

One feature of the present campaign is the absence of some of the old Iowa disturbers. Brookhart is not on the scene, for the first time in years. He is out of the senate, but still on the pay roll in an office at Washington under the New Deal.

One solitary peep has come out of Brookhart which has amused Iowa—he has accused Dr. William A. Wirt, Gary, Ind., school superintendent, of being a Red. Dr. Wirt opened the ball last spring with his charges that brain trusters sought to make a "Kerensky" of "this revolution" out of Roosevelt.

Brookhart says Wirt is a communist because he runs the common public schools of Gary.

On congressmen the Democrats now have six of the nine seats. The Republicans say they will regain three districts.

KIDNAPER RELEASES WIFE OF TEXAS SHERIF; IS CHASED BY POSSE

Winfield, Titus County, Tex., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Ennis Tittle, wife of the Franklin county sherif, who was kidnaped last night at Mount Vernon, was released here shortly before midnight, and her abductor, a 19 year old trusty prisoner, fled toward Pittsburg, Tex.

A posse of 200 men, formed quickly after Mrs. Tittle, exhausted and near collapse, walked into the telephone exchange and placed a call for her husband, started in pursuit of the youth. A half hour later they reported they had him surrounded in a thicket off the highway between Mount Pleasant and Pittsburg.

The youth, who, Mrs. Title said, kidnaped her from her county jail apartment at Mount Vernon, remained in an automobile outside when Mrs. Tittle entered the building. He fled in the machine while Mrs. Tittle was conversing with her husband by telephone.

REPUBLICAN CLUB HITS DEMOCRATS' TAXATION POLICY

Assail Federal Inroads on Private Business.

Excessive spending and high taxing policies of the Democrats and the entry of the federal government into the field of private business to the detriment of all busines sin the nation were assailed in a resolution adopted yesterday by the John Ericsson Central Republican club in a meeting at the Swedish club, 1258 North La Salle street.

Republican nominees in the coming election were guests at the gathering and all Republican candidates for city, county, state, and national offices were indorsed.

"Curtailment of government costs, nationally and locally, is essential to the revival of private business and the maintenance of economic stability," the resolution said. "The cost of national government has increased more than 75 per cent during the incumbency of the present Democratic administration.

Cite Broken Pledges.

"The present Chief Executive of the nation under the New Deal has violated and failed to keep his pre-election campaign pledges in regard to a balanced budget, reduction of national debt, removal of government from private business, elimination of all unnecessary bureaus and departments, sound money, and reduction of taxes. The tremendously mounting debt will have to be paid through increased taxes.

"The Democratic administration of the state has evidenced a determination to extract every possible penny obtainable from the property and the citizens of the state through general and special levies of taxes, causing the outlay of the state government to exceed any previous expenditure in history.

Hail Record of Republicans.

"During the 80 years of the existence of the Republican party it has rendered outstanding service in shaping government policies, and the permanent welfare of the nation will best be served by the earliest possible return to full observance of the constitution. The Republican nominees are persons of high character and ability."

In other parts of the resolution the Ericsson club said the appropriations for the local governments are ten million dollars annually in excess of the tax limits fixed by law.

Swedish Engineers Make Jarecki Honorary Member

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki was made an honorary member of the Swedish Society of Engineers at a dinner in his honor Saturday evening at the society's clubhouse, 530 Wrightwood avenue. Judge Jarecki, who is a candidate to succeed himself, considered a career in engineering before he became a lawyer. Among those who watched the presentation of the certificate were Mayor Kelly, Judges Joseph Burke and Frank Padden, Fred Brummel, A. C. Witting, president of the society, and S. C. Eklund, secretary. Assistant Corporation Counsel Carl Londquist was toastmaster.

NORTH DAKOTAN WITH BYRD ASKS TO VOTE; STATE PONDERS CASE

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 21.—(AP)—If legal obstacles can be overcome a vote in North Dakota's Nov. 6 election will be cast at the south pole by a North Dakotan with Admiral Byrd's expedition.

Acting Gov. Ole H. Olson today received an inquiry from Byrd, transmitted through Washington, asking whether his associate could vote in the coming elections by radio.

The inquiry was directed by the governor to C. Liebert Crum, legal adviser. Crum hopes to reply early this week.

C. H. FELTMAN, 31, DIES IN ARIZONA AUTO COLLISION

Charles Howard Feltman, 31 years old, son of Charles H. Feltman, 800 Sheridan road, Wilmette, head of the Feltman & Curme Shoe company, was killed in an automobile collision near Tempe, Ariz., Saturday night according to word received here yesterday. He had started on a hunting trip from his residence in Phoenix, Ariz., when the accident occurred.

Young Feltman was alone in his automobile, according to information received by his brother, Paul V. Feltman, when the car collided with another containing three persons. They were injured. It was said that the other car was being driven without lights.

Feltman, graduate of Northwestern university and the father of four children, was district manager for his father's shoe company in Phoenix.

Youth Wounded by Stray Bullets, He Tells Police

Stanley Jadory, 19 years old, 1812 West Huron street, appeared at the office of Dr. Mitchell Corbett, 1330 West Lake street, last night for treatment of slight bullet wounds in the left arm and leg. Questioned by policemen from the Chicago avenue station, who were summoned by the physician, Jadory said he was shot by stray bullets at Erie and Noble streets. Police held him for investigation.

Three Swept to Death in Morocco by Tidal Wave

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Three persons were swept to their deaths today in a tidal wave which flooded the lower parts of the city in the midst of torrential rains. Serious floods were creeping over eastern Morocco and the Spanish zone. Streets in many cities were flooded, the inhabitants of houses fleeing.

KILLS A GIRL, 11, SHOOTS SISTER, ENDS OWN LIFE

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A man partially blind shot to death an 11 year old girl who long had regarded him as her friend, wounded her 7 year old sister and their nursemaid, then killed himself tonight at a Belvidere Gardens home.

The man tentatively was identified by police as Robert Perez, 40, who, despite impaired eyesight, had earned a living as an electrician's helper. Neighbors knew him only as "Robert" and regarded him as eccentric, but harmless, police said, because of his talk of inventions with which he planned to establish contact with the spirit world.

About his body from the waist up were found coils of copper wire.

The slain girl was Lupe Mesa Concha, her sister, was wounded in the stomach, and Mrs. Adela Rincon, 48, who had them in charge, was shot in the leg.

'ELMER' MISSING AS LEGION OPENS MEETING TODAY

Miami, Fla., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Memorial, patriotic, and religious services tonight swung the 16th annual convention of the American Legion off to an informal start.

The services followed business sessions of various committees of the two associations that provided a forerunner to the formal opening of the convention at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Twelve hundred delegates are here for the four day colorful session, accompanied by some 70,000 veterans, members of the auxiliary, and other visitors.

Memories of 1917-18 were revived and relived. Broad smiles were upon faces and happy shouts of "where's Elmer," brought the Legionnaires together. "Where's Elmer" became the rallying call.

Speeches to Be Short.

Short speeches and a fast moving program constituted arrangements for the actual convention sessions after Gov. Dave Sholtz of Florida extends the state's official welcome tomorrow.

The report of National Commander Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, Ill., is to be a highlight of the first day. A continued vigorous campaign by the Legion against pacifist and Communist groups will be recommended by Hayes as he discussses the "Americanism" drive.

Controversial issues, such as immediate cash payment of the bonus and universal draft in war, appeared likely to come before the convention.

Seek Break with New Deal.

A definite break with the Roosevelt administration on some matters of Legion policy was predicted in view of replies which Commander Hayes and Mrs. William H. Biester, national president of the Legion auxiliary, made to the President's address last week in Roanoke, Va.

Ray Murphy of Ida Grove, Ia., tonight withdrew his name from the race for national commander of the American Legion to succeed Edward A. Hayes, incumbent.

Shortly afterward R. J. Laird, department adjutant of Iowa, announced his state's delegation had decided to swing its support to Frank Belgrano Jr., San Francisco banker.

Belgrano already has been conceded by many legionnaires to be the probable successor to Hayes, who was elected at the last convention at Chicago.

Besides Belgrano, others remaining in the contest are Forrest Cooper of Indianola, Miss.; Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, Mass.; Ed Neary of Corona, N. Y., and Vilas H. Whaley of Racine, Wis.

Alaskan Rescue Pilot Flies Through City in New Plane

Candidates on Nov. 6 Ballot

For the three posts to be filled on the board of trustees of the sanitary district the Democrats in April nominated James M. Whalen, now finishing his second six year term on the board; George Seif, now clerk of the Criminal court, and Joseph T. Baran.

Mr. Whalen was born in Chicago July 2, 1887. He was educated in the parochial schools and business college, later working with a large mail order house, for which he became manager of the building department. He was a member of the county civil service commission and chief deputy clerk of the Circuit court before his election to the sanitary board. He lives with his wife and four children at 6641 Kimbark avenue.

George Seif was born in Streator, Ill., on Nov. 24, 1874. He came to Chicago in 1905, and after working six years with a business concern was appointed chief investigator in the city attorney's office. In 1915 he was appointed state examiner of chauffeurs, and in 1923 was elected to the city council. In 1930 he was elected clerk of the Criminal court. He is married and lives at 1628 Humboldt boulevard.

Mr. Baran was born in Chicago, Feb. 9, 1894. He was educated in parochial and public schools and afterward worked for an insurance company for four years. For the last twenty years he has been engaged in the wholesale meat business, and now is president of the Cornell Provision company. He resides with his wife and five children at 2239 Cortez street.

VETERAN LEADER RAPS ROOSEVELT STAND ON RELIEF

World war veterans of Chicago and Cook county yesterday took issue with the statement concerning their "favorable financial circumstances," made by President Roosevelt last Friday in his dedication speech at the Roanoke, Va., veterans' hospital. Edward Clamage, commander of the veterans' relief commission of Cook county, said there was "no justification" for the statement.

Among a total of 160,000 veterans in Cook county, Clamage pointed out, there are approximately 20,000 receiving "direct" relief. There are other thousands of ex-service men now maintaining their families and themselves by working on part time jobs on public works projects, the commander said.

"There is no justification for the President's statement that the veterans of the world war, today in the prime of life, are better off from the point of view of employment and of annual income than the average of any other great group of our citizens," said Clamage.

"Unemployment is not peculiar to any body of citizens. World war veterans have suffered and are suffering as much as any other group from the hardships imposed by forced idleness."

Chicago Policeman Beaten in Lake County; 4 Seized

Four men, accused of having beaten Policeman William Raab of the Sheffield avenue station near Fox Lake Saturday night, were arrested yesterday in Waukegan and released on bonds of $1,000 each. They are Joseph Guerton and Charles Gendish of Fox Lake, and Bruce and Howard Johnson of Chicago. Raab declared that his car and one containing the four men pulled up at a roadside tavern and that the men assaulted him when he made a remark about the danger of driving their car with only one headlight.

LABOR CLASHES MENACE PLAN FOR TRADE TRUCE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—New threats to the truce, in industrial disputes, which President Roosevelt desires have arisen between the automobile and steel industries and the American Federation of Labor.

President Roosevelt recently proposed a truce from strikes and troubles in industries. Hardly had he made his plea, however, before labor leaders began to perk up their ears at word of a letter written by Alfred P. Sloan Jr. to General Motors employés.

Basis of Sloan Letter.

"In the event that an issue is raised by a particular group or their duly accredited representatives, the settlement of which involves the interests of nonrepresented groups," he said in part, "the management should satisfy itself that any decision arrived at provides fair treatment with respect to such nonrepresented groups.

"The management should be reasonable in its willingness to listen to any one desiring to discuss matters purporting to affect General Motors employés."

Sloan thus set forth that company would not recognize the American Federation of Labor auto unions as speaking for all the company's employés as long as all the employés did not belong to the A. F. of L. union.

At the A. F. of L. headquarters the Sloan statement was regarded as a warning that shop or "inside" unions would be protected — something the federation most strenuously dislikes.

Steel Industry Threat.

The steel industry's latest move to thwart outside unionization was in a statement of the American Iron and Steel Institute that 86 per cent of the country's steel workers were standing behind employé representation [inside union] plans.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers, the A. F. of L. unit in the industry, contends it represents a majority of the steel employés.

WIFE DROPS HER SUICIDE PLAN AND SHOOTS HUSBAND

Wilbur Lundy, 26 years old, 963 Larkin avenue, Elgin, employé of a butter company, lay in the St. Joseph hospital at Elgin last night with serious bullet wounds inflicted by his wife Dorothy, 26 years old, who had intended to kill herself.

Returning home early yesterday morning after being gone all night, Lundy was berated by his wife. They quarreled. Mrs. Lundy threatened to commit suicide. Lundy taunted her, told her she was afraid to do so. Mrs. Lundy took down his rifle, pointed it at her breast, and pulled the trigger. A safety catch prevented the gun from being fired.

Lundy seized the weapon, removed the safety catch, and handed it back to his wife. Instead of shooting herself, Mrs. Lundy fired three bullets into her husband. At the hospital, in the presence of policemen, Lundy begged his wife's forgiveness, and insisted the fault was his.

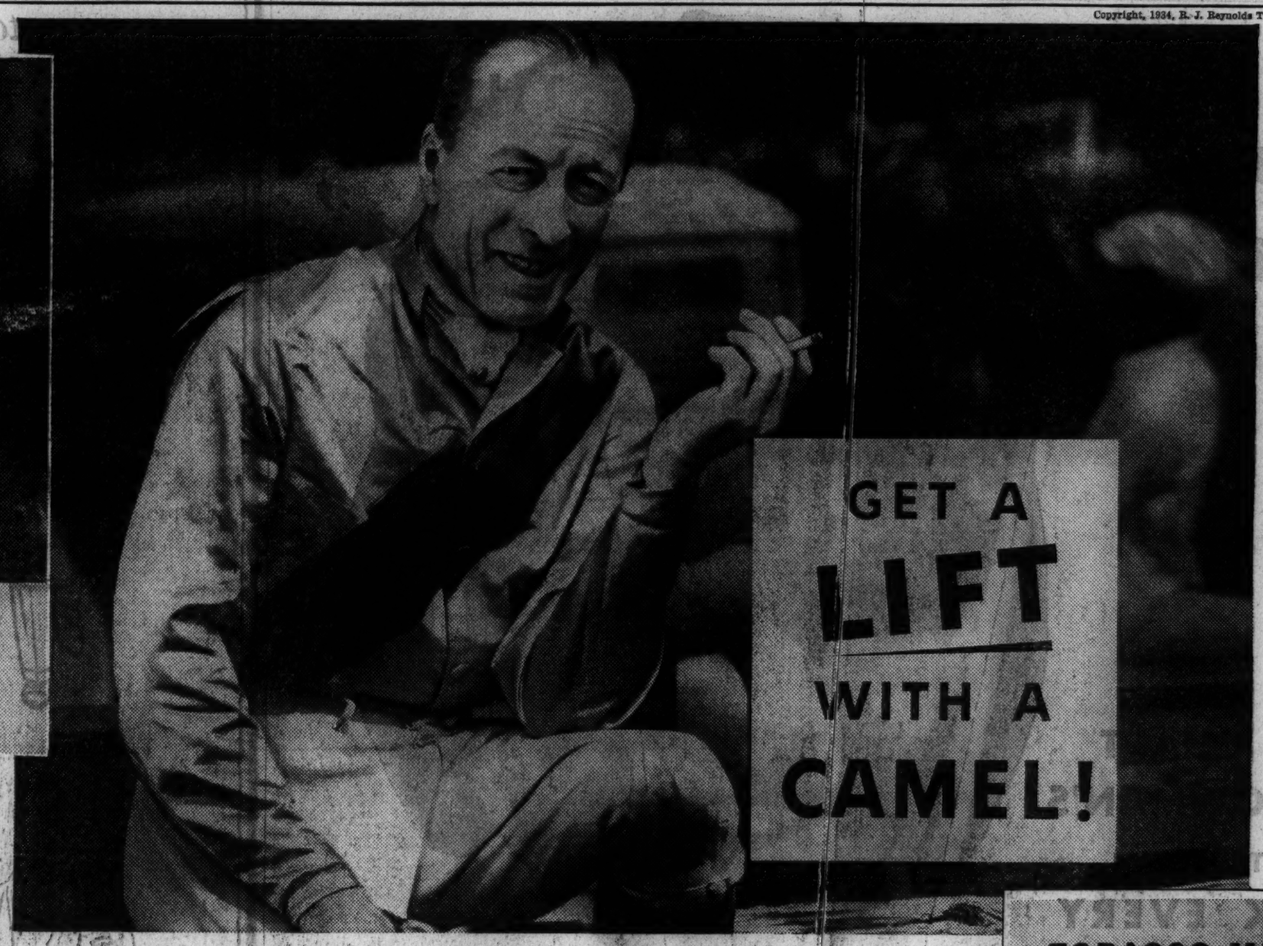
WHEN YOU FEEL "ALL IN"—



GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

CRAWFORD BURTON...gentleman rider...twice winner of the Maryland Hunt Cup...dean of the strenuous sport of steeplechase riding...and a Camel smoker. Everyone is subject to strain. Hence the importance to people in every walk of life of what Mr. Burton says below about Camels.

HOUSEWIFE. Mrs. Charles Daly says: "We all know how much energy a woman has to put into housekeeping! My way of renewing energy is to smoke a Camel. Camels pick up my energy when I feel tired. They have a mild, delicate flavor that a woman likes."

SPORTSMAN. Rex Beach, famous big game fisherman and writer, says: "When I have a big fellow safely landed my next move is to light a Camel, and I feel as good as new."

AIR HOSTESS. MarianMcMichael, of American Airlines, says: "When the run is over, my first move is to light a Camel. A Camel quickly relieves my feeling of tiredness."

TRAIN DISPATCHER. "I need healthy nerves," says Russell J. Woodman, "for there just can't be any mistakes on this job. Camels never upset my nerves. And they are full of real flavor!"

Have you ever tried this enjoyable way of heightening energy?

Here's a typical experience. Crawford Burton, the famous American steeplechase rider, is speaking: "Whether I'm tired from riding a hard race, or from the pressure and tension of a crowded business day, I feel refreshed and restored just as soon as I get a chance to smoke a Camel. So I'm a pretty incessant smoker, not only because Camels give me a 'lift' in energy, but because they taste so good! And never yet have Camels upset my nerves." Note these important points: that Camels taste so good. And that they make available your stored-up energy.

You have heard the experience of others. Science tells us that Camel's "energizing effect" has been fully confirmed. Try Camels yourself. You can smoke them constantly. For Camels are made from finer and MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS. They never taste flat...never get on your nerves.

NEW FAST TRAIN TO SEEK MARK TO CHICAGO TODAY

39½ Hour Schedule Is Set from Coast.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A stream lined, aluminum alloy Diesel powered train will leave here tomorrow night for Chicago and New York. The schedule will establish new rail speed records and, more significant from an economic standpoint, the trip is to demonstrate that invention, engineering, and science are ready to present a new service in the nation's transportation system.

It is indeed new service when nineteen hours is cut in the running time between Chicago and California. The M-10001, as the carrier is temporarily designated, will cover the 2,298 miles of tracks over mountains and prairies in thirty-nine hours and thirty minutes.

The train, owned by the Union Pacific and built by the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company of Chicago, has six coaches coupled as a single flexible unit and with unbroken aerodynamic lines for the 376 feet from its bullet nose to its tapered tail. This is the first streamlined job with sleepers, essential for long distance runs.

Two Others Being Built.

The M-10001 will blaze the trail for regular thirty-nine and a half hour service between Chicago and Los Angeles. Nearing completion in the Pullman plant are two similar carriers of nine coaches each. Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, said they will be placed in operation on this fast schedule in February with no extra fare charge.

The practical purpose of the run beginning tomorrow night is to make any necessary adjustments in the schedule that has been drafted on paper with a knowledge of the curves, grades, and track conditions and the tested capability of the M-10001 to cope with such conditions.

The fact that records are to be broken is incidental to the railroad management. The present transcontinental record has stood since 1906. Twenty-eight years ago the late E. H. Harriman, then chairman of the Union Pacific board, hurrying to New York from a survey of the San Francisco earthquake damage, spanned the nation in seventy-two hours and twenty-seven minutes.

Son One of Passengers.

W. A. Harriman, son of the illustrious railroad builder and the present chairman of the Union Pacific board, is here, one of several big transportation figures who will board the streamlined train tomorrow night.

"We'll slice from twelve to fourteen hours from the time made by my father's special," said Mr. Harriman, "depending upon how well the M-10001 maintains our tentative schedule."

The train will leave here at 10 p. m. [midnight, Chicago time]. It is scheduled to reach Chicago over the Union Pacific and the Chicago and Northwestern tracks at 3:20 p. m. Wednesday.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER HURTS 2.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Dock Lutz, 31, and Miss Stella Wallace, 28, Evansville, were seriously injured last night when struck by a hit and run driver.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm By Bob Becker

Hen Mystery Solved

October 21, 1934.

THE mystery of the scarred Barred Rock hen has just been solved on the auxiliary farm. When Rawlings saw this rather bedraggled hen in the barnyard, showing signs of having been in a battle, he wondered what had happened to it. I came along a few hours later to look over the poultry, and it was while I was strolling around with Rawlings that the mystery was solved.

One of the first things that I wanted to see around the poultry yard was a guinea hen that threatens to have her nose frostbitten one of these nights unless she is careful. This guinea built herself a nest in the meadow west of Rawlings' house and then decided to lay eggs and raise a family. Rawlings took me out to see this fowl that has the idea that she is going to incubate a clutch of eggs in the open. After spotting the guinea on her nest, Rawlings led me to a Barred Rock hen, also imbued with the idea of raising a family. This chicken picked out an old barrel for her nest. The barrel is resting on its side with the top open, so the hen could walk into it very easily. Rawlings was amazed to find no hen in the barrel.

Looking closer we saw chicken feathers scattered around, and there was the clutch of eggs looking as if some one had taken a hammer to most of them. Then it was possible to piece the story together. The bedraggled hen observed in the poultry yard undoubtedly was the one that had been setting. Some animal had attacked her, mauled her, and caused her to lose some of her feathers. In the struggle many eggs in the nest had been broken.

We looked all around for something that would give us a clew to the marauder. But in the fading light of the sunset hour we couldn't do much "detective" work. Now Rawlings tells me that the attacker has been identified. A skunk is the culprit, and the animal committed crime No. 2 by attacking the setting guinea hen, which, fortunately, escaped. Several box traps have been installed along the fence near the chicken and guinea hen nests.

Farmers in the Mississippi valley appear to be greatly interested in the way the experimental farm has planted hemp to eradicate patches of thistles, and at the same time provide food and cover for birds. Several letters are being received from farmers asking for additional information about planting hemp, how it grows, etc.

For example, C. F. Butler of Springville, Ia., writes:

"I own and operate 975 acres of Iowa farm land and have been much interested in your experimental farm. At some future time I expect to visit it. I note you have a way of getting rid of Canada thistles by planting hemp seed among them. Kindly tell me how you do this and where I might be able to get the seed."

SOLVENCY DATA TO BE OFFERED IN INSULL TRIAL

The trial of Samuel Insull and 16 co-defendants before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson for mail fraud will enter its fourth week today. The government is expected to occupy this week with presentation of evidence on one of its major points, the contention that the Corporation Securities company was insolvent when it sold common stock to the public.

United State Attorney Dwight H. Green and his assistants, Leslie E. Salter and Forest A. Harness, thus far in the trial have introduced testimony relating to the organization of the company, and to alleged "wash sales" on the Chicago Stock exchange which the prosecution contends were for the purpose of pegging the price of Insull stocks.

KING OF ITALY SAILS TO INSPECT COLONY IN AFRICA

CATANIA, Sicily, Oct. 21.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel left today aboard the royal yacht Savoia, accompanied by the 10,000 ton cruiser Gorizia, for an inspection tour of the Italian colony of Somaliland. Thousands of his subjects gathered along the waterfront to see him off. He will be gone a month and a half. With him were Minister of Colonies De Bono and other colonial officials.

This is the third trip his majesty has made in recent years to the Italian colonies. While in Somaliland the king will pay a visit to the tomb of the duke of the Abruzzi, the famous explorer and pioneer, who died there last year, and inspect the military reinforcements Italy has been making in Somaliland in recent months.

Before his departure Victor Emmanuel inaugurated an automobile road leading up the side of the famous and dangerous volcano, Mount Etna, to a height of 6,000 feet. The new highway permits motorists to drive from Catania, near the base, to La Contoniera, high upon the mountainside.

BISHOP DEFINES EPISCOPALIAN 'CATHOLICISM'

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A definition of the Protestant Episcopal church as "fundamentally and definitly Catholic," was advanced today by the Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, bishop of New York.

His sermon was made at an anniversary service commemorating the consecration of the first American bishop, Samuel Seabury.

"The Episcopal church maintains and rejoices to maintain warm and brotherly relations with the Protestant churches," he said. "She has, indeed, much in common with evangelical Protestantism; . . . but her own faith and order, as judged by the standards of the early, unaided church, are fundamentally and definitly Catholic.

"The Episcopal church holds that the church was founded by our Lord himself; that it is integral and vital to his gospel, and is essential to the carrying on of his work in this world, and we proclaim this belief every time we say 'I believe in one Catholic and apostolic church.'

"That this church herself holds a doctrin of the ministry is shown beyond all doubt by the fact that a priest of the Roman Catholic or of the eastern Orthodox churches, who comes into the ministry of the American communion, is not reordained, whereas a minister of any Protestant communion . . . must be ordained to the priesthood through the laying on of hands by a bishop."

GERMAN PASTORS READ SECESSION EDICT IN PULPITS

Secret Police at Crowded Church Services.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Protestant pastors, who are fighting for freedom of the Protestant creed, today, in the hushed and anguished silence of their congregations, read the declarations adopted yesterday when the pastors of the new opposition synod seceded from Reichsbishop Ludwig Müeller's Nazi dictatorship. Members of the GSP [secret police] listened to the defiant message, but took no action.

In their sermons the pastors stressed that Bishop Müeller and his aids have "placed themselves outside Christendom by using force, violence, and lies in an effort to satisfy personal ambitions."

Ordain Own Pastors.

The schism was further accentuated by a ceremony at a church in Dahlem, suburb of Berlin, in which five young pastors were solemnly ordained by the Rev. Karl Koch. The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, war time submarine commander, and Pastor Jacobi acted as sponsors. Formerly the local bishop alone ordained young pastors. After forming its own church government out of the pastors' brother council the opposition synod takes care of the ordination of its own clergymen.

South Germany also was in the throes of religious excitement.

Of Bavaria's 1,400 Protestant pastors, almost 1,200 denounced the Nazi church government. They pledged their own and their congregations' fealty to Bishop Hans Meisser, who was ousted and arrested by orders of Reichsbishop Mueller.

"The reich's bishop amounts to nothing—he will achieve nothing," Dean Sammetreich said in St. Matthew's cathedral in Munich, the leading Protestant church in Bavaria. Delegations of Protestants from Nuremberg and peasant delegations from Franconia attended the services to "demonstrate their unity with the true Protestant church and reveal the untruth of those who claim that Franconia is not behind Bishop Meisser."

Rush to Bishop's Palace.

More Bavarian delegations came to Munich in the course of the day and special protest services were held this afternoon and evening.

After the early morning service in Munich, a crowd of 1,500 rushed to Bishop Meisser's palace. Short services were read. The crowd then shouted, "Heil Meisser!" Bishop Meisser appeared at the balcony of his palace and said:

"Faith will bring us through—the church is indestructible if faith holds up. Do not worry, but go home quietly and in peace."

The crowd thereupon dispersed.

At the doors of St. Matthew's pamphlets giving the history of events in the Bavarian church in recent weeks, were sold. Many worshipers almost came to blows in their eagerness to get the pamphlets.

The German press has carried no details of the church conflict. Consequently wild rumors have spread.

Dean Sammetreich referred to the rumors in the following words:

"Abuse of power, lies and systematic befogging of public opinion, as well as the besmirching of the honor of men like Bishop Theophel Wurm of Württemberg and others, takes honor away only temporarily. Truth will win. In the state the national spirit must win; in the church only the Holy Spirit must reign."

Young Wife Slays Husband in Reprisal for Beating

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A young wife today killed her husband in reprisal for a beating as he lay asleep and then took her own life, a police reconstruction of the couple's death indicated. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nielsen and their dead terrier, all asphyxiated, were found in the couple's apartment. A note written by Mrs. Nielsen read: "You tried to kill me, now I'll finish the job."

IDENTIFIED AS HOLDUP MAN.

KILLED IN FALL FROM PORCH.

FAIR'S FESTIVAL OF LIGHT THRILLS NIGHT THRONGS

The modern and unique illumination which has characterized A Century of Progress Exposition reached new heights last night in the great "Festival of Light" which thrilled a multitude of spectators. Yesterday's total attendance, the gate mechanisms indicated at midnight was 192,845.

The celebration centered at the north and south lagoons, the banks of which were thronged. At 9:45 p. m. every exterior light on the Exposition grounds was extinguished for three seconds while the crowds, led by Michael Senorelli of the Chicago Grand opera, joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Then the lights were restored in full force, while powerful searchlights of nearly 10 billion total candle power played upon the sky. The planes of the 108th observation squadron of the Illinois National Guard, under Lieut. William Newhall, laid a smoke screen high above the grounds.

Upon this background the searchlights painted synthetic rainbows in every color of the spectrum. Lieut. Newhall then demonstrated daring power dives, with his plane illuminated by flames. Aerial bombs and multicolored fireworks concluded the spectacle.

COLDS Go Overnight

When You Take The Right Thing!

A cold doesn't have to run its course and expose you to serious complications. A cold can be routed overnight if you go about it the right way. First of all, a cold being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. Secondly, a cold calls for a COLD remedy and not for a "cure-all."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and beware of dealers who offer substitutes.

SPANISH COLLEGE TREATS WOUNDS OF 700 REBELS

Several Hundred Orphan Children Fill Hospital.

MADRID, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Hospital and prison accommodations in northern Spain were expanded in emergency fashion today to take care of the casualties and captives of the recent revolutionary uprising.

An old Jesuit college at Gijon was filled with beds for 700 wounded from Oviedo, while 65 injured soldiers were taken aboard a ship to be brought to hospitals in Santader.

One of the Santander hospitals was taking care of several hundred orphaned children of rebel miners and civil guards who fought them in the two weeks' revolt of the Asturias towns.

In Santander harbor 300 rebels were imprisoned in the government ship Alfonso.

Meanwhile anarchists at Barcelona, one of the hotbeds of the uprising, injected a renewed bit of violence by burning a tramway station, destroying several cars.

The ministry of education at Madrid announced it would name a commissary of education at Barcelona to replace the old university board, suspected of sympathy with the region's independence movemnt.

MARRIED FOR 62 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Graff of the Copeland hotel, 5009 Sheridan road, who celebrated their 62d wedding anniversary at a dinner last night.

7 FOOT EAGLE IS SHOT DOWN ON NORTH SIDE

A golden eagle, a bird of comparatively rare species, soared over the Lane Technical High school at Addison street and Western avenue early yesterday. Far from its native mountains and apparently confused by the wide spreading city, the bird circled about to find a landing place. It was burdened by a steel trap and a length of chain of the sort that farmers place atop poles to catch chicken hawks. The trap had been fastened too insecurely to hold the eagle.

Eventually the eagle alighted in a small tree near the school. A throng gathered. Too exhausted to fly away with the handicap of the five pound trap and chain clamped just above the talons on its left leg, the bird guarded itself only by moving from limb to limb. At last a shot fired from a .22 caliber rifle in the hands of Frank Jaeger, 22 years old, 3615 North Artesian avenue, knocked it dying from its perch.

The visitor measured 7 feet 3¼ inches from wing tip to wing tip, was about three feet high and weighed approximately 20 pounds. In the golden brown plumage of the head and neck was evident the derivation of the bird's name.

Celebrate at Dinner

The 62d wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Graff of the Copeland hotel, 5009 Sheridan road, was celebrated last night at a dinner in the hotel dining room tendered by members of the family and of the Schuman-Hoodwin circle, a club which has headquarters in the hotel. About 60 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Graff, both 84 years old, were married in Russia and came to Chicago about 50 years ago. They have seven children, twelve grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren living.

KING WILL OPEN NEW CAMBRIDGE LIBRARY TODAY

CAMBRIDGE, England, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A new university library with a tower like a miniature American skyscraper dominating this quaint old town of ancient spires and narrow streets will be opened officially tomorrow by King George. Twenty-four stories high, it contains 42 miles of steel lined bookshelves for a collection including some of the rarest books and oldest manuscripts in England.

The reddish-brown building strikes a modern note with its long, straight and bold lines which the designer, Sir Giles Scott, adopted after a vist to the United States. It was erected at a cost of $2,000,000 and covers about twice the area of the old library.

As in the old library, readers will hunt their own books and read them near the shelves, although there is also a central reading room.

Fast Train Is Derailed; Reported "No One Killed"

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A fast eastbound passenger train was derailed late tonight on the Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania railroad at Sturgeon, 16 miles west of Pittsburgh. First reports from road officials were that "no one was killed."

Basements Flooded After Auto Wrecks Fire Hydrant

Several tons of sand were washed into the street at 75th street and Jeffery avenue and nearby basements were flooded early yesterday when a fire hydrant was torn away from the main water conduit below the surface after it had been struck by an automobile. The water in the neighborhood was shut off for nearly an hour while workmen repaired the water main. The breaking of the hydrant followed a collision between two automobiles.

Trace Holdup Auto License; Three Arrested as Robbers

Three men, suspects in several robberies in both La Salle and Lake counties, were held at the Warren avenue police station last night. They are Arthur Ross, 36 years old, 3204 Maypole avenue, and Louis and Rigo Bertolino, 34 and 38 years old, 4821 West End avenue. They were traced through an automobile license number, noted during a holdup near Ottawa and another near Waukegan. Victims of these and other robberies will be brought to Chicago to view the suspects.

A FORGOTTEN LESSON.

Germany's New Deal started with the armistice. Revolution drove the kaiser to Holland and the Socialists founded the German republic. Rarely has a government faced more perplexing problems. Wilhelm II. and his ministers had resorted to so-called controled inflation to finance the war by borrowing paper money from the Reichsbank to meet budget deficits. At the close of the war, however, the position of the German currency was no worse than that of the French and little worse than that of the English pound. Every consideration of common sense certainly dictated that the Socialists follow a policy of strict economy. They chose instead an attempt to spend the nation out of its depression, financed by inflation.

It may be pleaded in their defense that they followed their principles honestly. Their tenure was precarious. They were faced with the problem of rehabilitating a war exhausted country and a war weary population, and what hope that population held in their leadership was based on their promises of the previous decades that socialism would bring prosperity to the working classes.

The Socialists proceeded on the theory that the way to bring back prosperity and to reëmploy the demobilized soldiers was to build up the internal economy of the nation by lavish expenditures, that Germany might regain her lost export trade and find funds to pay reparations. The projects into which the government poured money cannot be compared to Rio Verde and Arthurdale. Their objects were as a rule praiseworthy—if there had been funds to pay for them other than those provided by the printing press.

The war had wiped out the German merchant marine. The shipping companies were given subsidies of twelve billion marks. It was provided that only one-tenth of this total could be used to repurchase ships seized by the allies, and that the remainder, to stimulate employment, should be spent on construction of new shipping in German yards.

Germany at the end of the war had a housing shortage estimated at between 1,000,000 and 1,200,000 dwellings. Rigorous government regulations specified just how many rooms a family or business might occupy. Expenditure of a subsidy of a billion marks to private builders in 1919 resulted in the construction of only 30,000 dwellings.

To expedite construction the government organized housing corporations, described by one of their proponents as "essentially the same as a capitalistic building concern, with this difference, that the concern would belong not to a private person but to the state or municipality." One of the arguments advanced for these corporations was that the workman could not be expected to put forth his best effort employed by a capitalist on a task in which he held no interest.

The fate of this type of investment may be guessed from the fact that in its effort to ease the lot of the working classes the government decreed that rents should remain at their wartime level. In the later days of inflation the tenant could pay his rent with the change from the purchase of his evening paper.

With similar motives prices of food were fixed, with the natural result of discouraging agricultural production. The government then strained its vanishing credit a point further by buying foodstuffs abroad and selling them at home at reduced rates.

The same program led to the statutory increase of wages, both private and public. The state railways, which before the war had been an important source of revenue, accumulated deficits which reached astronomical proportions as inflation increased. Dr. Gothein, a former cabinet minister, pointed out that the postoffice, which because of territorial losses at Versailles had much less population to serve, still had 100,000 more employes than before the war, and that an average of 27 per cent of its workers absented themselves daily on excuses of sickness and the like.

In 1920, when the Reichsbank presses were just warming up, J. Ellis Barker, a British critic who admittedly was not too friendly to the Germans, wrote:

"Revolution has brought in its train indiscipline, the will to enjoy and a disinclination to work, and the government has strengthened these fatal tendencies by its foolish policy of subsidizing the people uncritically and by trying to regulate trade and industry and to cheapen food. Countless burocratic restrictions and a clumsy and involved and complicated system of taxation are hampering industry in every direction."

Inflation had the eventual result, of course, of harming most the working class, which it was originally designed to benefit. Wages never kept up with rocketing price levels. The working man and the small business man were unable to protect their savings, as the financial speculators did, by purchases of foreign exchange. Farmers replied to price fixing by refusal to sell their products, and famine stalked the cities.

Admittedly inflation eventually became a device of the German government to convince the allies that reparation payments were impossible. The insanity was carried to its logical conclusion of currency repudiation under a moderate government of the center which replaced the original Socialist cabinet, largely through the huge government expenditures in supporting the Ruhr population in its passive resistance to French efforts to collect reparations by force.

But that was at a later date. The Socialist government took command late in 1918, and its efforts to lift Germany out of its depression by its paper mark bootstraps had wrecked the currency irretrievably before the allied supreme war council fixed the reparation bill in January of 1921.

THE IRON MEN PASS ON.

To understand Raymond Poincare is to understand France and the unrest of post-war Europe. Poincare, who did so much to preserve the one and create the other, was one of the last of France's men of iron. Clemenceau, his bitter foe except in their common struggle of the war, is dead. Joffre and Foch lie buried with their batons. Poincare's own death was hastened by word of the death of his friend Barthou. Only Gaston Doumergue, recalled from the peace of his old age by his nation's peril, still carries on.

When Bismarck preached "blood and iron" to the Germans his prescription filtered across the border to permeate the very bones of that generation in France which had just experienced the humiliation of the Franco-Prussian war. Especially was this true of Poincare, whose native province of Lorraine had been torn from France as spoils of the war.

When the world war broke Poincare had entered what normally would have been the final phase of his political career. For two years he had occupied the honorable isolation of the French presidency. His labors before that had been directed toward preparing France for the conflict which he believed inevitable. He had helped to avoid war over the Agadir incident in 1911 because he knew his country was not prepared. Thereafter he and Barthou had reorganized the army and forged the triple entente as a ring of alliances about Germany, steps which, while they hastened the storm, enabled France to withstand it.

France entered the war with the reputation of a decadent nation. Her most recent military memories were those of Sedan and Metz, Napoleon and his tinsel generals. The gayety of Paris bulked larger in the world's estimate of the nation than the iron will of Poincare and the other oldsters.

The tradition of Gallic frivolity was quickly swept away on the battlefields. Foch, defeated at the Marne, attacked nevertheless. Verdun was doomed by all the rules of strategy, yet it was held. When the defeatists intrigued for peace their schemes were crushed by those old men who had determined after 1871 that France should never submit again.

Having waged and won the war in the unyielding tradition of the Roman republic, it was natural that those hard gray leaders of France should impose a Punic peace on their foe. If modern sensibilities forbade that German cities should be plowed under and sown with salt, Clemenceau, with Poincare's aid, did his utmost to see that their enemy should remain under the iron heel of France. To them experimentation on behalf of the general peace of Europe was secondary to the security of France, standing watchful by her arms, and the economic recovery of her fallen foes something to be frustrated rather than assisted.

Poincare, a distinguished lawyer, had in his early career been prompted by his legal training to take an active part in the campaign to wipe out the unjust sentence imposed upon Capt. Dreyfus and to abolish the system of secret trials under which Dreyfus was convicted. Again in his old age his lawyer's sense of the sanctity of a contract prompted him, when he had returned from his first post-war retirement, to occupy Germany's industrial district, the Ruhr. Germany had defaulted on her reparations, therefore he acted to foreclose the mortgage.

Recalled in 1926 from a second retirement, he defeated the operations of international speculators, balancing the budget and saving the franc from complete collapse. It is a strange commentary on the gratitude of France that the man who as his final service protected the savings of all Frenchmen from destruction through inflation should have been found living in actual want shortly before his death.

More, perhaps, than any other modern statesman, Poincare lived in the tradition of the elder Cato. He was an unchanging man in changing times, which operated to transform some of his virtues to faults. The inflexibility of purpose common to him and the others tempered by the bitter memories of 1871 saved France from defeat, but it was less well suited to the solution of the problems which victory brought. It is interesting to speculate whether the present stormy times of the French republic are breeding another school of iron men to save their country from some future peril.

MORE DISILLUSIONMENT.

[Decatur Herald.]

Another of the illusions of youth has gone glimmering, never to return, shattered by one whom in our younger days we regarded with awe and reverence. Pop Warner, current grand old man of American football, is the miscreant. He says that the modern football team is a much heavier organization than the eleven of 20 years ago. Shades of Dink Stover! Can this be? As an honored member of the Grand Stand Managers' association, affiliated with the Monday Morning Coaching circle, we had come to regard ourselves as somewhat of a gridiron strategist. The plays we developed were all based on the fundamental principle that speed, speed and even more speed was needed in modern football. Weight was of secondary consideration. We had only the kindest and most tolerant regard for the legendary gridiron heroes of the early part of the century, those athletic dinosaurs who, we believed, depended entirely upon overwhelming weight to achieve their goal.

Now comes Pop Warner with a lot of statistics. The old timers, Pop says, as a team averaged about ten pounds less than an ordinary college team of the present time, somewhere in the neighborhood of 160 or less, to be exact. And the stars, those performers we had come to regard as behemoths, weighed even less—Hinkey of Yale, Eckersall of Chicago, both under 150, and the Indian stars—Johnson, Hudson, Mount Pleasant—under 140 all of them.

Pop Warner may be right and probably is, but just the same he has taken a lot of joy out of football with his confounded statistics.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

GOING UP!

A Fable.

A man started out to buy himself some suspenders. He went into the store and the clerk said Oh we have some very fine braces indeed. And they only cost five dollars right now but next week they'll probably be marked up to seven or eight dollars. It's all right by me said the man and besides I don't want braces anyhow they cost too much. I want galluses suspenders things to hold my pants up. And the clerk said here is a very lovely pair of suspenders sky blue with wild ducks embroidered on them and only three dollars and a half. Hold on said the man you're going to tell me how much more they'll cost next week but I'm not waiting until next week. I used to buy a pair of galluses for four bits. Haven't you got some plain everyday suspenders without any ducks or elephants or anything on 'em that won't set me back more'n one buck? So the clerk found a pair of suspenders that cost only one dollar but she said that next week they would cost a dollar and a half. So the man went to buy a shirt and the clerk showed him several lovely shirts which cost only two dollars but next week—and the man said never mind next week or even next month because he was going to buy a shirt right then and so he wouldn't need another one next week or next month or next year.

And then he went over to the sox counter the man did and the clerk almost burst out crying. I'm so glad you came in right now said the clerk, these sox are certainly cheap now but next week gosh almighty they'll be so high you couldn't touch 'em with a fishpole. I'll take a pair right now said the man because I hain't got a fishpole and by the way you talk these sox are liable to go jumping up any minute. You said it replied the clerk and then the man hurried over to a grocery store to get some ham and some pork and some baloney. It's a good thing you came in when you did said the clerk this here new deal—— Let's waste no time said the man. What about ham? It will set you back thirty-two or thirty-three cents a pound in January but right now you can get it for twenty-seven cents and pork for thirty-seven and it will cost forty-five or forty-six and as for baloney—— Cut the conversation said the man quick wrap me up a ham and a half dozen pork chops and a hunk of baloney.

Then the man rushed on down the street and suddenly right before him he saw the downtown office of a very fine cemetery and he went in and the man at the desk said it's a good thing you came you can get a fine lot in our cemetery today at a very slight advance over the usual price but if you had waited until January the price would have just about doubled. Gosh said the man I hate to die right now but it's the only way. Will you please lend me your gun.

Moral—Don't bother about tomorrow these days or you'll get all jittery.

FOR HER.

For her there is
The sudden flight
Aloft to some Enraptured height,
For her the dizzying
Drop again,
The depths of dark,
Infernal pain;
For her there is
No level of Contentedness.
No other love,
No other hate,
Can she be knowing
Than that which fills
To overflowing.

We timid souls
Who must withhold
Emotions tepid,
Well controlled,
A little smug
In our belief
That life is better
Without grief—
Ah, we can never Feel the birth
Of that joy which Transcends the earth,
Which wings the feet,
Expands the heart
Until it almost Bursts apart.

FERRY ADAMS.

SIR JAMES JEANS, the w. k. astronomer, says that the time is coming when we will have moonlight every night of the year. That will come about through the moon breaking into pieces and scattering all over the sky. Ah, so the New Dealers are taking charge of the moon too! Gosh! those fellows just run everything.

AND HERE'S A STARTLING THING! Herbert Hoover's book, "The Challenge to Liberty," was in the "best sellers'" list last week. I was sent a copy by somebody or other, but after I read the last chapter and found out that it wasn't the janitor or the rich widow who committed the murder and that it wasn't a detective story at all I just used it to paste cooking recipes in. If I can pry that recipe for making mince meat off the front page darned if I don't start in reading Herb's book right away.

AND NOW CALIFORNIA TOWNS are menaced by floods and frightened inhabitants are being rescued by the life guards in boats. Up, Upton, up! Proclaim the EFIC (End Floods in California) right away. EFIC! EFIC! EFIC! Upton will end the floods in California! Up, Upton, up and at 'em!

IF THIS STRAW VOTE THING goes against the Democrats they'll do as they did about the cotton, the corn, and the little piggies—they'll plow the darned straw under. That'll stop it.

HYDROCHLORIC ACID AND ANEMIA.

THERE are many phases of the blood deficiency known as anemia and sometimes a common and easily remedied type is mistaken for a severe condition, such as pernicious anemia.

The blood is a sensitive tissue and is rather quickly thrown out of balance. The normal relationship of blood cells to the red coloring matter may be distorted even in persons who give no history of hemorrhage, infection, or toxin absorption. Individuals who are pale and who tire easily may show on examination a marked deficiency in hemoglobin (red coloring matter of the blood), and a careful investigation usually will disclose some dietary deficiency or a lack of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The type of anemia referred to constitutes about one-sixth of all the cases of anemia and is particularly common in women in the child bearing period.

Recent studies indicate that anemia may have a definite relation to the functions of menstruation and confinement. At each menstrual period the amount of blood lost varies from a little less than one ounce to a little over five ounces. A normal confinement usually entails a blood loss of from eight to nine ounces.

The question naturally arises: Why do certain women develop this type of anemia while others do not? In one rather long series of cases—90 per cent of whom were women—careful investigation of the free acid of the stomach showed that in 82 per cent acid was entirely absent. Normally the gastric pouch contains two-tenths of one per cent of free hydrochloric acid.

The condition is frequently referred to as hypochromic (low color) anemia and closely resembles green sickness or chlorosis that sometimes appears about the age of puberty in girls. It occurs more frequently in women a year or two preceding the change of life. As a rule the blood cells are only moderately reduced in number, but the hemoglobin may be as low as 30 per cent of normal.

This same general type of anemia is quite common in women who are endeavoring to lose weight and who are following some dietary fad. The woman who pursues with relentless enthusiasm, worthy of a better cause, a "haywire" diet may suddenly find herself weak and breathless with a low hemoglobin due to iron and hydrochloric acid deficiency.

A careful blood examination will detect the condition. The remedy lies in proper dietary management, the restoration of iron, and the administration of hydrochloric acid if needed. In many cases alternating constipation and diarrhea stops and the blood rather promptly resumes its normal state.

It is difficult to explain this marked improvement in the blood picture except on the ground that hydrochloric acid in the stomach is necessary for the absorption of mineral elements in the diet, such as iron and copper. In men the number of cases of anemia due to a lack of hydrochloric acid is not large. Hence it would appear reasonable to conclude that the hydrochloric acid and iron may stimulate the production of some gland secretion in women that helps to link the protein of the red cells to iron.

In the treatment of pernicious anemia, a much more serious disease, some other function of the digestive tract appears to be lacking, as the use of liver and dried animal stomach is followed by most salutary results.

ACID FOR ANEMIA.

S. S. writes: I have primary anemia and have liver hypos once a week. I also take dilute hydrochloric acid with each meal. Gastric tests show no acid in my stomach. I know two other pernicious anemia victims who take liver injections, but not acid. Why do I have to take this acid and they do not?

REPLY.

The stomach normally contains two-tenths of one per cent of hydrochloric acid. In several types of anemia this acid is absent. Digestion is a sequence of events. Unless acid is present in the stomach in normal amount the food entering the first portion of the intestine is not properly prepared, and subsequent steps in the digestive process are interfered with. Most persons with anemia who show no free hydrochloric acid in the stomach are usually required to take from 10 to 30 drops of the dilute acid before each meal.

WON'T TAN EVENLY.

J. E. writes: For six years a friend of mine has tried to get an even tan, but his skin tans only in certain places, leaving white spots. Is this due to lack of coloring in the skin? Will it affect his children? Is it curable?

REPLY.

Some persons tan with the greatest difficulty. In the case you mention there is an irregular deposit of pigment in the skin, probably due to uneven distribution of skin blood vessels. No hereditary tendency need be feared.

There is a condition known as vitiligo, or leucoderma, that is characterized by the absorption of the normal pigment of the skin, leaving irregular, milk-white patches. The cause is unknown.

MORTGAGE SETTLEMENT.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In July, 1933, I paid off the mortgage on my folks' home. They in turn made out a quitclaim deed to me. Later a matter came up and we did not want the party to think this was done for any other reason but that I was entitled to property and for that reason it was quitclaimed over to me. Our attorney advised me to put a phony mortgage on the property, so notes were drawn up and trust deed, which were recorded. Now that everything is cleared up is it not best that I have [1] this taken off of record? If so, how will I go about this? 2. Will I have to take the notes and trust deed to the trust company and pay them to cancel the notes and release same and take same off of record? C. H.

1. We assume that you mean the mortgage. The attorney who advised recording it is in a bette. position than we are to advise as to releasing it.

2. If the title company is the trustee you should take the canceled note and trust deed to them. They will tell you what more is to be done.

TERMS OF WILL.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My sister died three weeks ago, leaving a will stating my father should have all of her $1,000 postal savings, [1] jointly $350 in the bank, and [2] jointly a home with a $1,700 mortgage against it. 3. Does this have to be probated? The hospital has a bill of $836 against her. When she died I went to get her belongings, including two diamond rings. There is a dispute among the family as to who should get the rings. I signed for her belongings. 4. My father refuses to let the family see the will, so we don't know what can be done. T. F.

1 and 2. Jointly with whom? It is not clear what you mean by using this word in connection with a will. If the assets were held in joint tenancy they would go to the survivor independently of the will, if that is what you mean to ask.

3. See 1 and 2.

4. He can be required to file it in court. One of the parties should serve a demand upon him. In general we advise you to employ an attorney.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID.—The tens of thousands of tourists of all nationalities who yearly flock to the Balearics form the "greatest moral scourge which has visited these islands since the days when Christianity first dawned here." This is the opinion of Dr. Miralles, bishop of Mallorca and spiritual father of the Balearics.

Dr. Miralles concedes that these tourists bring money to the islands but he says that their influence on the islanders is "terrible."

"Excursionism and so-called cultural movements form part of a suspicious plan to weaken our people and to keep them away from the church," he said, "and this weakening has taken on alarming proportions thanks to the unbridled tourist trafic."

The bishop has given instructions to his clergy in a circular published in the Correo de Mallorca as to how to cope with this corruption by the tourists.

"It is by soft and insinuating tactics," he says, "that an attack is being made on the healthy discipline of the church and the strength of the convictions which were the pride of our forefathers."

He, therefore, recommends his clergy not to aid and abet this decline of the faith of the islanders by permitting the organization of excursions or reunions of a cultural character within their parishes.

As for Sundays or religious festivals, then any kind of excursion, even if it be of a religious or social character, is definitly prohibited by the bishop.

The Republican Heraldo de Madrid calls Bishop Miralles "absurd and out of date" and says that no pope has ever done so much to encourage Catholics to travel and to make excursions as has Pius XI.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

Just as many other head measurements have been credited with indicating various personality traits, so has the chin come in for its share. People remark about that "iron jaw" as though there could be any relation between the bones of mastication and the trends of the mind. Psychologists and medical men have completely abandoned the idea that a person's jaw has anything to do with his disposition or personality. Many weak-willed people have protruding jaws.

THE DESTRUCTION OF INSURANCE VALUES.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 18.—The Republican national committee can still win the coming congressional elections if they will bring home to the holders of every life insurance policy in the United States the fact, easily demonstrated, that the monetary plans of this administration are a direct assault on the value of every such policy.

There are millions of holders of these guarantees of safety for wife and children, and if those who have pinched and saved through the years to keep up their premiums once realize what debasement of the dollar and monetary inflation mean there will be an immediate return to legislative sanity.

CHARLES W. PHILLIPS.

ASHAMED.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Is it not possible to caution reporters assigned to interview important foreign guests to the city so that they will avoid putting Chicago in a more ignorant light than is necessary? This morning's TRIBUNE, at least an early edition of it, reports the visit of a curator of the Louvre museum of Paris, in which reporters "asked him if the Art institute's regular collection compared with that in the Louvre." We are all extremely proud of our Art institute, and we are glad its value has been so widely recognized these last two years, but it can only tend to make it and our city appear ridiculous to put such a question to a man who has been connected with the Louvre for many years.

It is not necessary to have seen the Louvre or to have a so-called higher education in order to possess intelligence which would make such a tactless boner impossible. Of course the diplomatic Frenchman parried and left the question unanswered! L. G. R.

EXACTLY NOTHING.

Belvidere, Ill., Oct. 18.—In recent years quite a number of hardware merchants, owing me approximately $10 each, have gone into bankruptcy. The assets usually approximate one-third the liabilities. In each case I receive from an adjuster a slip on which to affirm my willingness for him to liquidate the business at a very nominal cost and prorate the balance of money received among the creditors. In every case I get the sum total of exactly nothing.

I might realize a dollar once in a while if I would employ an attorney at about $25.

Is it not about time to send business men to our legislatures instead of lawyers who legislate everything into their own pockets? D. M. CUSHMAN.

QUESTION FOR CANDIDATES.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—I wonder if it would be possible for you to publish in your paper the facts concerning the failure of important divorce reform laws which were presented to the legislature last year and failed of passage.

Who were the legislators responsible for this failure? Were they women or men? I refer particularly to the amendment which would have curtailed the abuses of the separate maintenance law.

CONSCIENTIOUS VOTER.

A REAL SANTA CLAUS.

Dyer, Ind., Oct. 17.—In today's cartoon by Orr, Santa Claus, labeled "Century of Progress," is shown filling the stockings with "Work for the Unemployed," "Stimulus to Business," and "Fun for All." Such being the case, is there any earthly reason why a Santa Claus so beneficent should not be allowed to continue his good work for another year?

G. E. CASSELL.

A GAL WHO GOT REVENGE.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Several weeks ago a certain insurance man, with offices in the loop, advertised for a stenographer. I went there in the afternoon to apply for the job. Evidently he had been troubled with applicants all day. Four men were in the front office talking when I entered. Before I had said one word one of them turned to me, and in a very gruff voice, said: "The job's filled," and gave me no further attention.

I know how to be mean, too. Walking around the group, I stopped directly in front of the one who had addressed me. Using the same tone he had used to me, I said: "Who said anything about a job?"

A faint smile walked over the hardened features. He snatched off his hat, and began apologetically: "I beg your pardon, lady, what did you come for?"

I replied: "Well, since you were such a good guesser when I came in, now go ahead and guess what I came for." I walked out while the other three men laughed at him—poor man!

EXPOSED.

Wilmette, Ill., Oct. 16.—At the head of the "Voice of the People" column are these words: "Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words."

Today's TRIBUNE carries an article by Elizabeth Emmett whereby she gives vent to her personal criticisms of the President of our United States.

This article carries over 600 words of faultfinding. All one has to do to get publicity through your paper is to write a nasty letter about the New Deal administration or certain individuals within it. H. A. SCANLAN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Why is it that our public school children cannot have a chance to learn the regular national pledge of allegiance to our flag, the one adopted by the Grand Army of the Republic and its affiliated organizations and accepted by congress? When asked to give the pledge of allegiance to our flag in public some children will say it differently from others, thereby causing a great deal of confusion.

A PATRIOT.

CORRECTION AND APOLOGY.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—On Sept. 10 in the Voice of the People the writer erroneously charged the station management and the police with being discourteous by arresting an 84 year old man who had missed his train for Fessenden, N. D.

I find that the B. & O. railroad had tolerated the disorderly conduct of the elderly passenger for about two days. Officer Stevens of the terminal was especially considerate of him and did everything possible to see that he was made comfortable. The elderly man was under an hallucination of some kind and began accosting numerous passengers and accusing them of having his ticket, whereas it was in his wallet. He became violently abusive at intervals to the extent of attacking strangers, and was no doubt demented.

I therefore am glad to retract my previous letter and to tender my apology.

BYRD EXPLORERS DISCOVER VAST PLATEAU OF ICE

Crew Returns from Long Trip by Tractor.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Oct. 15.—(AP)—[Delayed.]—Via Mackay Radio.]—Tractor No. 1, with a crew of four, was back at Little America today after a pioneer journey eastward to the Edsel Ford range, reporting discovery of an extensive ice-ridden plateau extending far to the south.

Under Chief Aviation Pilot Harold I. June the party set forth Sept. 27 to penetrate the glaciated wastes of a section of Marie Byrd land, discovered by Admiral Byrd during a flight in 1929 and claimed for the United States.

The newly discovered plateau rolls between the Rockefeller mountains and King Edward VII. land and the Edsel Ford range, rising unbrokenly to the south.

New Control Points Fixed.

New ground control points for mapping were fixed by the expedition. These were expected to shift at least two of the southern peaks of the Edsel Ford range approximately 37 miles west of their previously estimated position.

Admiral Byrd had a long conference with June and others of the expedition and the first major flight of the season probably will be launched into the new sector shortly. June said they ran into a hurricane with a velocity of 90 miles an hour. The big orange bodied tractor clocked 457.1 miles without trouble, although when it arrived there was hardly a pint of oil in the engine.

The return of tractor No. 1 was the high point of a busy week. On Tuesday Admiral Byrd launched the major southern operations with simultaneous departures of the geological party and the plateau party, both to be in the field for 90 days. Capt. Innes Taylor's supporting party of three dog teams and two tractors are making ready to follow the others with large quantities of food for men and dogs, together with scientific instruments.

To Study Queen Maud Range.

The geological party will make a detailed examination of Queen Maud range, 425 miles south of here in the vicinity of Leverett glacier, and ascend the glacier to reach the peaks behind the Frong range.

The plateau party will run a series of magnetic and glaciological measurements across the south polar plateau. To reach it the men must scale the 10,000 foot Thorne glacier. With them are four nine-dog teams.

Both these parties and Paul Siple's Marie Byrd land party, which left last Sunday for an extended reconnaissance of the Edsel Ford range, have been finding the going tough, making less than 30 miles since starting out.

NEW YORK MODELS THREATEN 'STRIKE' AGAINST DEBUTANTES

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—New York's professional garment models, who pirouette before society's notables, are threatening to go on the picket line—against society itself.

Titian haired Gertrude Mayer, Fifth avenue model mentor, tapped a trimly shod foot indignantly tonight as she protested against Park avenue debs and sub-debs, whom she accused of taking jobs from professionals.

Miss Mayer's complaint against these society girls is two fold:

1. They are taking modeling jobs not only in charity fashion shows, she said, but in shops as well.

2. They are not good models, and are lowering the standard.

"They don't know how to do justice to the garments," said Miss Mayer. "They don't know how to walk. They don't know what to do with their hands."

Miss Mayer said she plans to call a meeting of professional models to discuss plans for combating the "debutante menace."

She will propose an appeal to society leaders, and if that fails professional models will be asked to picket the next fashion show.

Ald. Rowan Urges Fixed Spans for Economy.

Trafic was delayed a total of 140 days through the operation of 54 bridges on the Chicago river and branches during 1933, it was disclosed yesterday in a report to Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] by John Richert, chief of staf of the city council finance committee.

As chairman of the council committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges, Mr. Rowan asked for a detailed report that would throw light on the Calumet harbor situation and facilitate action on bridge appropriations for the 1935 city budget. The 140 day delay represents the number of bridge openings for river boats multiplied by the time required on each occasion.

Sees Chance for Big Saving.

Ald. Rowan declared the report showed unmistakably that the city could save hundreds of thousands of dollars annually if the bridges along the Chicago river were fixed. He also contended that the records demonstrated that Calumet harbor was rapidly becoming the real northern terminus of the Lakes to Gulf waterway. The city has been negotiating for a federal Public Works administration loan of $2,814,000 for deepening and widening this route along the Calumet river and Sag channel.

The Michigan avenue bridge was raised 1,068 times during 1933, with an average delay to trafic of 4.2 minutes, according to the report. The 92d street bridge was raised 1,923 times, and the 95th street bridge 1,864 times. These two bridges span the Calumet river.

Kinzie Bridge Busiest.

Mr. Richert's report revealed also that the Kinzie street bridge, with an extremely low clearance, was opened 4,232 times, a far higher figure than for any of the other 53 bridges. The 130th and 134th street bridges took the longest time to open, more than 10 minutes each. These spans are of the ancient pontoon type, swinging on a scow pulled by a cable.

The city spent $1,153,435 on bridges alone last year. The total represents $810,861 for operation and $342,574 for maintenance and repair costs.

Aside from the economy which he said would be effected by fixing the bridges along the Chicago river and its subsidiaries, Ald. Rowan declared that trafic congestion, resulting from the bridge openings, would be eliminated. The alderman said he would announce his recommendations for repairing the spans at a later date.

493 POOR BOYS VISIT AT SCOUT CAMPS IN YEAR

Four hundred and ninety-three underprivileged boys of Chicago were given free trips to Boy Scout camps during the summer, according to a report issued yesterday by Philip J. W. Peck, chairman of the camp committee of the Chicago council, Boy Scouts of America.

Of the 493, all of whom were Scouts, 33 per cent came from families living wholly or partly on charity, the report showed. Seventeen per cent had lost father or mother by death. An additional eight per cent came from homes where the father and mother were separated. Three out of every four had never before attended a summer camp.

A total of 4,000 Scouts attended the various camps maintained by the Chicago area, an increase of 28 per cent over 1933. The Chicago council gets part of its budget from the community fund, which is now conducting a drive for $3,000,000.

Rescue Two Men Adrift in Lake Michigan 24 Hours

Frankfort, Mich., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Two men who had drifted in Lake Michigan in an open skiff for more than 24 hours were rescued today by the crew of the Ann Arbor railway carferry, No. 6, and brought to the port. The men were Joseph Nagele, of Ludington, and Donald Galbraith, of Grand Rapids. Both were suffering severely from exposure.

Ickes Arrives to Preside Over Sinai Symposium

BRITISH WRITER SEES COLLAPSE OF NAVAL PARLEY

Delegates Worried Over Outcome, He Says.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The probable breakdown of the naval negotiations in London is forecast by Hector Bywater, naval correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph.

In an article in tomorrow's edition, he declares that persons in close touch with the present naval negotiations do not conceal their apprehension as to the outcome.

"A member of one of the foreign delegations informs me that canceling the 1935 conference 'is within the realms of possibility,'" Bywater states.

"Unless some preliminary compromise is reached on the fundamental issues, it is difficult to see what useful purpose would be served by summoning a formal conference.

"At present the only indication of a united front is the Anglo-American stand for maintenance of the ratio system. Japan, however, has officially denounced this formula, and it is no secret that her resistance to a grading of navies by a mathematical yardstick has the sympathetic support of France and Italy.

"On the whole, it would be no exaggeration to say that the five naval powers concerned are still groping for a common formula that would satisfy their respective demands for naval security without involving loss of face or an intolerable strain on the national purse."

Prime Minister MacDonald will open the present naval negotiation in his offices Tuesday. Japanese delegates are expected to speak first. It is reported Tsuneo Matsudaira, Tokio's ambassador to London, will outline the chief features of a new naval pact prepared by Japan, to be proposed as substitute for existing treaties.

Admiral Isoruku Yamamoto, another Japanese delegate, it is said, will explain the technical features of the proposals to be advanced by the ambassador.

Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's ambassador at large, played a round of golf today with Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary. The two chatted informally about the naval negotiations.

2,000 U. S. BAKERS EXPECTED TODAY FOR CONVENTION

"Talk business" is to be the theme of the American Bakers' association convention which will open today at the Hotel Sherman for four days. More than 2,000 bakers from all parts of the country are expected to attend.

"We are not going to worry about the code," Henry Stude, president of the association, declared yesterday. "The code is no substitute for business ability. We have nationally known speakers to teach us how to merchandise our baking, keep accounts, and reduce costs."

Ralph E. Heilman, dean of the Northwestern university school of commerce, will speak this morning on "The American Business Man of Today and Tomorrow." Howard H. McClure, executive secretary of the Central Statistical board, Washington, D. C., will speak in the afternoon.

From $50 a season for Coal Heat to $143.92 for six months of Gas Heat

2632 North Newcastle Avenue

"I could have heated my home for two seasons for the price gas heat cost for one."

...was too big a jump for Frank Bacarella, 2632 N. Newcastle Avenue, who writes: "No one can ever talk me into using it (gas) again."

"I have a small 5 room frame bungalow and never used more than 6 tons of coal, an average of $50.00 a season. But my gas bill from September 22 to March 27 was $143.92, including $15.00 burner rental.

"No one can ever talk me into using it again even with the promise of one season's free heating. I could have heated my home for two seasons for the price gas heat cost for one."

Frank Bacarella
2632 N. Newcastle Avenue
Chicago, Illinois

COAL HEAT is clean, healthful heat.

COAL HEAT is an even heat, producing a constant flow of warmth every minute of the day and night. No sudden starting and stopping. No unhealthful fluctuating temperatures.

COAL HEAT gives generous warmth, all you can stand, whenever you want it. The amount of heat a good coal-fired furnace or boiler will deliver in a given time is far in excess of any amount you could comfortably endure.

COAL HEAT costs much less than gas or oil. Frank Bacarella can testify to that ($50 for 9 months of coal heat, $143.92 for six months of gas heat). So can hundreds of others who tried gas or oil and returned, wiser than before, to coal or coke.

COAL HEAT requires no investment in extra equipment, except where automatic stoking and care of ashes is desired—an investment that pays for itself by lowered fuel bills.

Think twice before changing to a fuel that has less to recommend it than has coal heat. Ask a member of this association to show you the hundreds of letters written by those who tried gas or oil and returned, happily, to coal or coke.

Order your winter's warmth now—from any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association. You are assured of honest weight, careful grading, uniform quality.

Let This Season's Coal Heat Savings Buy Next Season's Fuel, Too

Actual cost figures reported by disappointed gas-users indicate coal heat costs one-half, or less than half, the cost of gas. That savings would buy a lot of coal in 1935 and 1936!

Ask any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association to show you the file of "True Experiences"... letters from home owners all over the city who have tried gas or oil and gone back to Coal or Coke as their most economical, dependable fuel!

Thick Sealskin Comes to Fore in Style Parade

Used to Trim Frocks and for Dashing Capes.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Thick, rich, midnight black sealskin has come into its own. Some of you may pause, even hesitate, since it reminds you of dowagers and certain shapeless masses that enveloped very old ladies when you were a small child.

Today it's vastly different. Practically all the smartest, newest, and youngest clothes have sealskin incorporated somewhere in the costume. Gay young suits have long tuxedo collars and deep wide cuffs. Separate capes over wool dresses are of sealskin, and what grand outfits they do make.

No one could resist red wool combined with a dashing cape of sealskin and that cape lined with red wool. It would make a Mephistophelian minx out of a most proper soul. It's gorgeous to look at and twice as nice to wear. Then sealskin lines a wool cape over a matching wool dress; it even fashions some of those piquant pork pie hats that have been copied from the wardrobes of long ago.

Sealskin combined with sable toned broadcloth is another good bet that is just as fashionably interesting as the same fur used to trim nubby dull wools in all colors and black.

There couldn't possibly be a better time to use an old sealskin coat. Take it to your best furrier and have either a dolman cape made or a shorter waist length model, or wide revers for the front of a slim black or colored street costume or tie-on cuffs and collar for a black wool coat, or a huge pillow muff or a tippet and smaller muff. The choice is endless! The thing to do is to wear sealskin if you can manage it, the sooner the better.

In the picture, one of the newest of picture gowns for evening. This model is in pale blue moire. It is made without a single button or snap, cut on the bias, and it fits as smooth as your own skin. The full peacock train is held with a bias fold of the material that is repeated at the top of the bodice. Available in other evening shades in a Chicago shop.

Institute Players Open Season with "American Dream"

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The Jewish People's institute started its season of dramatic activities last night with Lawrence Paquin, formerly of the Goodman Repertory company, as director in place of Charles K. Freeman, who retired last spring on the laurels of his fine production of "Girls in Uniform." A drama that the New York Theater Guild staged with enthusiasm a year ago, "American Dream," by George O'Neil [no kin to Eugene O'Neill], was the bill. Thus Chicago gets its only opportunity to see this item out of the Guild's catalog, and since that organization has become exceedingly shy about vouchsafing its blessings to the playgoers of this community, the occasion has a dash of extra interest.

The Theater Guild's ardor over the work of its new O'Neil was soon dampened, for "American Dream" proved to be a total failure in New York. Moreover, I doubt if the young intellectuals of the west side will regard it as an unmixed blessing. It contains some passages of graceful dialog, but in substance it is merely the work of a clever amateur trying to be epic and soul searching. For me, "American Dream" is largely pretentious tosh.

This composition, dealing with the woes of an American family in 1650, 1849 and 1934, is really three plays. In the first act a member of the Pingree clan defies his Bible-smiting father and runs off with a witch's brat, to find the fields that are always greener over the next hill. In the second another rebellious Pingree quits his job in the factory and his family take the overland trail to the far west. In the third a Pingree of today, rich but sick of modern morals and manners, gets away from it all by shooting himself.

The Institute Players were decidedly amateur in the first two plays and fairly skilful in the third. At all times, however, I had difficulty in hearing them. Shall I blame the acoustics of their fine playhouse or the sense of artiness that shadowed the performance?

Front Views and Profiles

A VETERAN business man, who would have been called a captain of industry in the old days, was giving voice to his displeasure at the fact that a youthful college professor is sitting as the code authority for his business.

Riposte—Portraits—Collection—

"I tell you these codes are all wrong," he stormed. "I can't run my own business any more at all. My labor does just what it pleases. There's no discipline. Why, this morning one of my employés called me a damn fool." He hesitated for breath. "What," he shouted, "would you do in a case like that?"

"I believe I'd investigate," was the reply.

TWO portraits, done in red chalk, now at a Michigan avenue gallery, are exciting a great deal of interested comment. They are Maud Phelps Hutchins' heads of her husband, Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and of Thornton Wilder. Mr. Wilder likes his own so much that copies of it have been sent to his publishers to be used in connection with publicity for his new book, "Heaven's My Destination." The two portraits will be part of an exhibition of Mrs. Hutchins' work to be held in New York this fall. Of the same size, and framed similarly, the two portraits afford an interesting contrast in types. Mrs. Hutchins has managed to depict temperaments as well as likeness, in very few lines.

A YOUNG woman—her name is Gladys Christie, moved from a small apartment to a larger one where there was room for a piano. She heard of a bargain—a theater piano that was for sale, as the theater was buying new ones. After it was installed in her apartment she sent for a piano tuner. The piano tuner discovered the following articles in the instrument:

¾ sack of peanuts
2 collar buttons
3 shirt buttons
½ pint white navy beans
A long earring
Assorted hairpins
½ reel of film
2 old newspapers
Cigarets and cigaret stubs
Playing cards
A toy whistle

Reveal Troths of Miss Keith, Miss Wendell

Engagements Made Known at Family Parties.

BY JUDITH CASS.

OF DECIDED surprise and interest this morning are the announcements of the engagements of the daughters of two distinguished families revealed late yesterday at family parties in town and in Lake Forest. At tea at their home at 1260 Astor street Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr. made known the betrothal of their daughter Barbara, to Horace H. Soule Jr., son of Mrs. Horace H. Soule and the late Mr. Soule of 370 Walnut street, Brookline, Mass. At a family dinner last night at the Stanley Keith home in Lake Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Keith announced the engagement of their daughter, Leslie, more familiarly known as Patsy, to Robert Macdonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Macdonald of Winnetka.

Having just given up her position in the government service in Washington, D. C., to prepare for her wedding, Miss Wendell was here for the tea yesterday and so was Mr. Soule, who made a hurried trip from Boston. Mr. Soule will return east tomorrow.

Links Two Families of Boston Ancestry.

The betrothal of Miss Wendell and Mr. Soule links two families of important Boston ancestry. Miss Wendell's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Barrett Wendell, who lives in Marlborough street in Boston. Her paternal grandfather was the late Prof. Wendell one of the most illustrious members of the faculty at Harvard university during his time. On the maternal side Miss Wendell is related to the Higginson family in Boston for her mother is the former Barbara Higginson. The Soule family is another that goes back in Boston aristocracy, which, of course, has its beginnings with the Pilgrim fathers who came to this country in the 17th century.

Miss Wendell was presented to society in 1929 both in Boston and Chicago. Her grandmother gave a tea for her Nov. 12 of that year at the Chilton club in the Massachusetts capital with a dinner dance given by her parents following at the Somerset hotel. Here in Chicago Miss Wendell was presented the evening of Dec. 27, 1929, at a ball at the Blackstone.

Miss Wendell studied at Milton academy near Boston and ever since her debut she has been seriously engaged in the government service. Mr. Soule attended the Country Day school in Boston and was graduated from Harvard university in 1926.

Macdonald Family Recently from Canada.

There were many congratulations and good wishes last night at the dinner in Lake Forest at which the engagement of Miss Keith and Mr. Macdonald was celebrated. It was last spring that the Macdonalds moved here from Peterborough, Ontario, Canada, although their son had been making his home here with several young bachelors for two years previous to that. Mrs. Macdonald feels especially at home in Chicago, since her mother is Mrs. Robert Stuart of Woodlawn avenue and her brothers, Douglas and John Stuart.

Miss Keith, one of the most popular and widely entertained debutantes of last season, made her bow the evening of Dec. 29 at a dinner dance given by her parents at the Casino. The Lester Armours were among those who entertained for her during the fall and so were the Edwin Stanleys. Miss Keith was graduated from St. Timothy's at Catonsville, Md., where her younger sister, Betty, is now a student. After finishing there she spent a year with Miss Stout's traveling school in Europe.

Mr. Macdonald prepared at Hill school before entering Princeton, where he was graduated. The wedding will be an event of the early spring.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Here is an opera that shows more signs of popularity than most. One is informed by Harry Zelzer, the local representative of the company, that it not only filled the Civic Opera house but turned away 1,000 late comers; also that it will be repeated sometime before Jan. 1, as soon as a vacant date at the theater can be secured.

Wherefore one begins to wonder why it is not given more frequently. Certainly there is a public for it; even more certainly it has musical values worthy of acquaintance. Speaking generally, its score consists of broad, attractive melody presented in the mid-nineteenth century Italian manner. I hasten to add that Moniuszko himself seems to owe little to the Italian school. It is only his treatment which follows this style.

The capacity audience last night heard a lot of charming music sung in a fluent, persuasive, frequently exciting, manner, and this with the forced admission that my musical experience has led me to no knowledge of the Polish language. No knowledge of languages, however, is necessary to approve the musical performance of this work nor the dancing.

Anatol Rapoport, a young Chicago pianist, has been in Vienna for the last five years, and, just returned made his professional American debut at the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon. Starting with a striking personal talent, the five years have permitted him to build up some rather great accomplishments. He is a virtuoso of the keyboard, delighting in glitter, rapidity, and thunderous force. He is also a musician who has given thoughtful intelligence to his interpretations. His program covered a range from Scarlatti and Bach in the ancients to Prokofieff and Busoni in the moderns, with Beethoven, Chopin, Liszt, and Brahms in between.

* *

Angna Enters, the dancer and mime, is back in this part of the country for a short stay. She was at the Blackstone theater yesterday afternoon, and she will be at New Trier High school, Winnetka, on Friday night and back at the Blackstone next Sunday afternoon. She has added several works to her programs, though she still relies greatly upon former numbers.

WEDDING

Mrs. E. Fred Brown of 5424 East View Park announces the marriage Oct. 6 at the Cordon club of her daughter Ruth to Walker B. Davis. The bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Brown and Miss Orrel Davis. After a motor trip through the Great Smoky mountains Mr. Davis and his bride will be at home in Evanston.

'Night of Love' Should Make Hit with You

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

It seems to me that "One Night of Love" SHOULD make a hit with you.

It's alive with music—popular selections from the most popular operas, "Madame Butterfly," "Carmen," etc. It has a story which, though possessing no particular originality, still abounds with human interest. It has for a star an attractive woman with a glorious voice, who can also act. And the leading man is a warmly romantic personality, known and liked by lovers of both stage and screen. It has a well chosen supporting cast, excellent direction, AND——

It never once goes highbrow!

The story involves an American girl who loses a singing contest. She takes her last $500 and sails for Europe to study. . . . Here, after many ups and downs, principally the latter, she is discovered singing in a Milan café by a famous impresario.

* *

He takes her to live with him—purely Platonic, with a duenna always in attendance—and makes a singer of her. Neither teacher nor pupil realize they're in love until well toward the end of the piece when—happens what DOES happen. . . .

Miss Moore, after making "A Lady's Morals" and "New Moon," several years ago, left the screen—"forever," she said. Neither of these productions were successful. Nice that she's changed her mind and come back—because "One Night of Love" is in the nature of a distinct personal triumph.

The story's presentation is unique, and the production, as a whole, has swing, verve, balance. . . .

Well—have I sold you the picture?

The Forgotten Honeymoon

BY ROY VICKERS

INSTALMENT I.

AN UNHAPPY FIANCEE.

The big drawing room was getting fuller and fuller, so that Rhoda Cornboise felt that the press of well-meaning people would crush her to death.

"Congratulations, Miss Cornboise! . . . We are so pleased, Rhoda darling! . . . Congratulations, Miss Cornboise! . . . He's a perfectly charming man, my dear, and I tell you to your face you're lucky to get him. . . . Congratulations, Miss Cornboise!"

Rhoda nodded and smiled a set smile and thanked people prettily. Now and again she felt a little faint. But each time she caught her mother's eye and was stirred into fresh activity.

"You're doing splendidly, darling," whispered Mrs. Cornboise. "But try and smile a little more. Don't look wistful—people don't like it nowadays."

Over the whisper Mrs. Cornboise herself smiled. It was the smile of a conquering general—or the smile of a proud, ambitious mother who has perfected her plans—which is much the same thing. And it was as if she said: "You see, Rhoda, I have made people come from literally hundreds of miles around to congratulate you on your engagement to Major Stornack. After this, no one will have the right to mention that nasty little entanglement which would have ruined your chances forever, if I had failed you."

A few feet from his hostess Major Stornack was receiving his congratulations with an easy gracefulness that was a part of his charm. He was in the early forties—nearly twenty years older than Rhoda—but he was such a fine figure of a man and so well-preserved that one could easily forget the disparity.

Scrutinizing him, no stranger would question his right to a military title. He looked as if he had been a major in a good regiment some years ago. And he looked as if in the meantime he had knocked about the world, as a gifted and spirited man will, trying his hand now at mining, now at film-acting. One could believe that he had made a reasonable success of all such activities. He had flitted from one to another out of sheer exuberance and now, having stepped into a nice little estate a few miles from Cornboise Hall, he intended to marry and settle down and probably go into parliament.

That was the tale that was told about him and no one saw any reason to disbelieve any part of it.

In a corner of the room Mr. Cornboise, Rhoda's father, was explaining something to a handful of cronies. He had been a distinguished civil servant but had retired some ten years previously, after inheriting a small fortune, to devote himself to the scientific culture of rare plants. Every year or so Mr. Cornboise wrote a very short article about his work and, for the six months following publication, learned circles throughout Europe and America would wrangle about it. He was, in fact, a person of considerable importance—but not to his wife, nor to the fashionable circle she had gathered about them. To them he was merely a dear old dreamer, whom they nicknamed "The Professor" because he was absent-minded. And there were those who said he had mismanaged the small fortune and that the family was drifting in the direction of Queer street.

"Isn't Rhoda lovely? Her hair looks like blazing copper every time the light catches it. And those gray eyes just the right distance apart—and I wish I could keep my figure like hers. . . . Yes, but between you and me, dear, don't you think she looks just a little—well, shopsoiled? I seem to remember hearing something about an affair with a man who turned out to be one of those romantic crooks. Didn't he murder his solicitor?—of was it somebody else's solicitor?—I'm sure it was something very lurid like that. . . . Well, there can't have been anything in it or Mrs. Cornboise could never have got everybody here."

At long last people began to drift away. Instead of the little piece about congratulations, nearly everybody said: "So it's to be quite soon?" And Mrs. Cornboise invariably answered for Rhoda: "Yes, in six weeks. Major Stornack is taking her to Iceland for the honeymoon—and you have to go there early in the summer. Iceland is so original, don't you think?—but Major Stornack has been nearly everywhere else."

Rhoda smiled her goodbys. "Iceland—six weeks—so original—Iceland. Iceland." Soon everybody had gone and Stornack was standing beside her.

"You'll stay to dinner, of course, Ralph?" beamed Mrs. Cornboise.

"Thanks awfully, but I think I'll potter back. Rhoda is tired out and has a headache." He took the girl's hand, held it for a moment, then released it. "Send her to bed early, Mrs. Cornboise."

"An extremely tactful young man!" said Mrs. Cornboise after he had gone. "You are a lucky girl, aren't you, Rhoda?"

"Yes, mother."

Mrs. Cornboise was dissatisfied with the answer. She put her hand on the girl's shoulder and looked down into her eyes.

"And you love him, Rhoda?"

"I think Major Stornack is very nice—and very interesting—and one of the kindest men I've ever met," said Rhoda with literal truthfulness.

Mrs. Cornboise winced at the "Major Stornack." Rhoda, it appeared, could never remember to call him "Ralph"—which she knew to be a bad sign.

"If you feel that much about him it's as good a basis for marriage as anyone could wish," she said firmly, then added: "And, besides, he's being very useful to your father—helping him with his investments and so on. You needn't worry your head about the details but just—remember that."

Very soon after dinner that night Rhoda retired to her bedroom. She stared at herself in the glass—tried to smile bravely as she had smiled all the afternoon. But instead of the smile came an expression that was something between fear and stark tragedy.

"In six weeks he is taking me to Iceland. So original, don't you think!" She laughed with a hollow, metallic laugh, then burst into tears.

Soon she was calm and went to the little writing table in the corner of her room.

"Colin, darling," she wrote. "It would be kinder not to tell you this. But it would seem like sheer treachery to let you hear it—as one day you must hear it—from someone else."

Clang—clang—clang! Iron shod boots on iron flagged corridors. The occupant of cell eighty-seven—the full six feet of him—was standing erect, strained on tip-toe, his arms above his head, beating time to the clang—clang—clang.

The violent movement of his arms slackened as the footsteps died away. Then he buried his face in his hands, and his body heaved with a long, tearless sob. For a moment he was still, while his will wrestled with his jangled nerves.

"If you give way like this you'll go mad," he warned himself. "That's how madness begins. You're beginning to break at the end of six months! Stick it, Colin Briarley, you coward!"

friends, for she is to be one of the young women modeling in the St. Luke's fashion show at the Stevens hotel. Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, who has handled the publicity for the St. Luke's revue, tells us that three more lovely old fashioned gowns have been taken out of their scented wrappings to be modeled in an entr'acte feature.

One of them is the gown that the late Mrs. Caleb H. Horne wore when she was married in 1870 in Philadelphia. This, the oldest wedding gown modeled, will be worn by Mrs. Marshall G. Sampsell [the former Margaret Carr], who is Mrs. Horne's great-niece. With the dress Mrs. Sampsell will wear the original gloves, shoes, and necklace.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour's Wedding Gown to Be Worn.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour's wedding gown will be another shown at the revue tomorrow, and the model wearing this will be Mrs. Solomon B Smith. A lovely creation of white brocaded satin, lace trimmed, the dress was worn by Mrs. Armour May 12, 1891, when she was a bride in New York City. Mrs. Smith will also wear the low heeled white satin slippers that Mrs. Armour wore with her wedding gown.

There will be a note of humor in the "old fashioned" wedding gown that Mrs. Louis C. Sudler will model. It is the dress that the former Mary Barnes wore for her marriage to Louis Sudler in 1929 at St. Chrysostom's church, but is more out of fashion today than some of the older gowns, for 1929 was the very "short" period in fashion.

All of the models for the revue tomorrow will attend a dress rehersal at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Stevens hotel.

Florence Virginia Stealey Weds Walter C. Crowdus.

Mrs. David Hickman Stealey of Evanston announces the marriage last Saturday of her daughter, Florence Virginia, to Walter Cary Crowdus, son of Mrs. Walter A. Crowdus of Chicago, formerly of Nashville, Tenn. The service was read Saturday morning in the presence of the immediate families in the Bryn Mawr Community church by the pastor, the Rev. Russell Boynton. Mr. Crowdus, who is well known as an amateur golfer, having been Cook county champion for three years and the Olympia Fields champion for seven years, and his bride left immediately after the ceremony for a motor trip south. They will be at home after Nov. 15 at 811 Seward street, Evanston.

A surprise this morning is the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Frank French Stover of 1183 Tower road, Hubbard Woods, are making of the marriage of their daughter, Joy, to Robert Sears Stephens, son of Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, also of Hubbard Woods, on Sept. 29. Mr. Stephens and his bride slipped away and were married quietly in Waukegan.

Seven Colleges' Alumnae Have Joint Tea Today.

One of the nicest parties on today's calendar is the tea the Chicago alumnæ of seven eastern women's colleges are having in the late afternoon at the Woman's Athletic club. The real raison d'etre for the affair is the nation-wide broadcast of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, a Smith alumna, at 3:45, which is to be heard by college women in every state by means of a coast to coast hookup, but there is also to be other entertainment of a more personal nature.

Mrs. James Weber Linn as the official hostess will introduce Mrs. Laird Bell in an original new monolog, and then there will be tea served from tables decorated with the silver, linens, and flowers from several of the city's most distinguished homes.

The Chicago Junior league is holding its annual fall meeting at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Casino. Luncheon will be served at 12:30. The provisional members are not invited to this meeting.

Observe Italian Day at Art Institute Today.

Invitations have been issued by Potter Palmer for the celebration of Italian day today at the Art institute. The institute trustees intend not only to call attention to the splendid Italian works included in the exhibition, but to emphasize the contribution of Italy and her artists to the development of art and culture down through the ages.

The high light of the day will be an hour's program at 11 o'clock this morning at Fullerton hall, at which Mr. Palmer will extend greeting and introduce Dr. Antonio Ferme, acting consul general for Italy, who will talk briefly on the development of Italian art. Then Prof. Walter L. Bullock of the University of Chicago will discuss the tendencies in recent Italian literature. The junior members of the Italian Woman's club will do a tarantella, and Mario Fiorellae and Mari Barova of the Chicago Grand Opera company will sing several selections.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Miss Davide Yulee Beckham, daughter of Col. David Yulee Beckham, U. S. A., and Mrs. Beckham, and Dr. Frank C. Thomas of Lexington, Ky., were married yesterday. The wedding took place in the apartment of the bride's parents at 2101 Connecticut avenue, the Rev. F. J. Prettyman officiating.

Two Pieces Vary Wardrobe

GIRL'S DRESS.

A little jumper dress will give an astonishing variety to the wardrobe if several different blouses are made at the same time. This dress is cut on simple, correct lines and is easy to make. The original dress had the jumper made of a navy blue wool crêpe, and the blouse used the same material, but was bright red. A red and white checked gingham blouse, and perhaps another in yellow cotton broadcloth, could be made as extras.

The pattern, No. 3074, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

ONE NO-TRUMP, FOUR NO-TRUMP.

The responding hand can make a stronger slam-try than the immediate response of three no-trumps. I advise the response of four no-trumps under the following conditions:

When you partner bids a no-trump and you hold a hand which fills all requirements for making a no-trump bid yourself, a hand on which you would have bid a no-trump had the opportunity come to you first, a small slam is hardly in doubt. Why not bid it immediately? Why bid only four no-trumps when you feel sure of making six, and wish the slam to be bid?

The Leeway Principle Comes In.

Here again the leeway principle intervenes in a most useful manner. First, you allow for some shading of the original bid, in case your partner has seen fit to bid when he might have passed. He is not immediately put on the spot because for some reason known at this point only to himself he bid a no-trump on a doubtful hand.

Second: You make it easy to get into a suit slam instead of the no-trump slam, should such alternative be practical, and you leave yourself some bidding opportunities in the meanwhile by which to ascertain whether to slam in the suit or in no-trumps.

Third: You make it safer to ascertain grand-slam chances without jeopardizing your small slam in the process.

Definite Requirements for the Four No-Trump Response.

Since we are now right in the slam zone and great precision is needed, make sure that your hand complies with the following conditions before you assume the responsibility of bidding four no-trumps over one no-trump:

First: Your hand must contain not less than three and a half primary tricks.

Second: You must have a card as high as a queen in each suit. Avoid this response if any suit has only a J 10 x x holding.

Third: Your primary values should be accompanied in at least two suits by some lower honor or reinforcing sequence such as a jack or ten-nine so that a finesse situation will be available if needed to trap an adverse queen.

Duty of Opening Bidder in Rebidding.

The opening bidder is being asked merely to confirm his opening bid for a small slam to be reached. He is not expected to have anything in reserve, either in primary form, secondary form, or in low ten-ace holding. With three and a half primary tricks he must keep the bidding open, and he should do so even if his half trick is in Q J x form, or with a very weak holding in one suit. Having

(1)	(2)
Sp. A x x	Sp. A x x
Hts. K Q x	Hts. K Q x
Di. A x x	Di. A Q x
Cl. Q J x x	Cl. J 9 x x

I would, in reply to four no-trumps, bid six. In this situation there is no point in bidding four or five no-trumps. Either pass because you did not have a real no-trump opening bid, or else bid six no trumps, thereby confirming your opening bid, even with the very slight shading illustrated in these two hands. Your partner for this bid must hold either two aces, a king-queen and a king, or else the ace of hearts, king-queen in spades and in diamonds (referring to hand No. 1) and at least the king of clubs. Certainly a six no-trump combination. With hand No. 2, partner is marked with king-queen of spades, ace of hearts, king of diamonds—total so far, two and a half tricks. Thus he must have a primary trick in clubs. If that is king-queen, six no-trumps is a spread; if it is A x x, the hand can be beaten; but if it is A 10 x there will be a likely finesse to lose only one club trick. If he holds only the king of spades, then he has at least ace-queen in clubs, and the slam is sure.

"When Spooks and Witches Dine—A Halloween Special," a booklet of party menus and recipes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 2 cents. By mail, 3 cents, stamps or coin. Address requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Sailing about the stores these grand fall days, we've been tantalized by all sorts of new tricks for November shoppers. The gayest was an inspiration for a spaghetti party—a lusty spaghetti bowl found at one of the loop stores.

The bowls are made of imported earthenware, quaintly decorated in bright peasant designs—about the cheeriest things you ever set upon your table. And you won't stop at spaghetti either. They "come handy" for salad bowls and fruit dishes—great for buffet serving.

Also down in the loop we've encountered a new note in hors d'œuvre dishes. They're made from designed crystal glassware—copies of exquisite old European glass, most cleverly executed. The dish furnishes a large section for celery and compartments for olives, pickles, and fish tidbits. Each section designates its mission by a frosted design of the appetizer it is to hold, cut into the under side of the dish.

In fact, pleasant American made copies of old originals seem to be growing in appeal these days. At one downtown counter we were almost fooled by a lace tablecloth which reproduced so well the beauty of the old handmade Italian designs from which it was copied that we almost believed we had stumbled into the "heirloom" section. It gives us a leaflike design on a heavy, almost solid center—an openwork border forming a graceful drop beyond the edge of the table. The color is soft ecru and the price not at all forbidding, we assure you.

With little expense we may purchase a regular menagerie of kitchen boxes and cans at almost any accommodating department store. One Chicago assortment to which I was introduced the other day carries its colors and gay designs all the way from wastebasket to cake box, with over twenty pieces from which to choose in the set. No need of acquiring them all at once, either, for the management promises always to have the same design and range of colors.

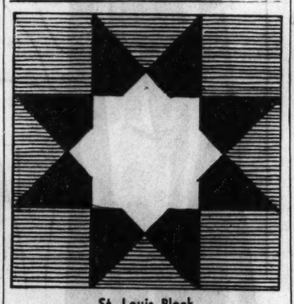
Quilt Created in Missouri Is Ideal for Modern Decore



St. Louis Block.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Pieced by one of the early settlers in St. Louis, this block became a favorite not only among Missouri settlers, but throughout the country. "St. Louis Block" is similar to the well known "Missouri Star" pattern, although which pattern was made first is a moot question. Both, however, are beautifully adapted to use with modern furnishings.

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

BLAZING GUNS

By WILLIAM MacLEOD RAINE

INSTALMENT XLIX.

THE BEGINNING.

The foreman crashed down like a log and lay as motionless.

Cole stood panting above him.

Slim Calhoun and Gray Shirt were looking up at him.

"Come up here," Cole called down. "Got something to show you."

"No. We had a shindig with our fists. I knocked him out."

Slim took a look at his friend and another at Haskell. "You certainly worked his face over handsome," he said. "It sure warms my gizzard. Not so long ago I was on the receiving end from this hombre. I wish you had given me an invite to the party. I'm the doggondest guy for getting places just too late."

"What are you going to do with him?" Faust asked.

"Going to take him back to Magruder."

"We aimed to save you this job, Cole," said Slim. "But I reckon it had to be this way. Better let me bandage up yore shoulder again. I notice it's bleeding. I would say, offhand, that getting into a hand to hand rookus with Jerry Haskell was no respectful way to treat a wound."

Faust took charge of the prisoner while Slim attended to the shoulder. This done, they assembled their horses and headed down the pass for Jonesboro. Haskell kept a sullen and dejected silence. Not only had he been whipped. They were taking him back to pay for his crime. He had a well-grounded fear that the tide had turned. He would be tried for killing the express messenger the night of the train robbery. Unless he was lucky he would be hanged. They probably had not a great deal of evidence against him, but it would not take a great deal to convict if Chet Radbourne's power was smashed. Everybody would have a knife out for him.

Slim rode beside Haskell and lifted his voice in a ballad more or less plagiarized, more or less unmetrical. Sometimes the inspiration failed, since there were eleven stanzas, at which times he repeated himself unblushingly. The theme of the song was the recent doings of one Cole Sanborn. It narrated various adventures, in all of which one Jerry Haskell took a humiliating and ignominious part.

It began:

"Old King Cole was a merry old soul,
A merry old soul was he;
He called for his hoss, and he called for his roll,

It ended:

"Old King Cole was a merry old soul,
A merry old soul was he;
He dragged home this cat, and the cat was a pole,
To be hanged on a cottonwood tree."

"I was only entertaining our guest," Slim protested, aggrieved.

Mrs. Peters was just leaving the house, a shopping bag on her arm. "I'm glad to see you, Mr. Sanborn," she said. "Is—everything all right?"

"Couldn't be more right," he said. "How about here, at this end?"

She smiled. "I'll answer in your own words. I think Mary is in her room. You might knock."

Cole walked into the house, put down his hat, and looked at the closed door of his wife's bedroom. He felt extraordinarily shy. A small cough did not attract attention. He knocked on the door.

"Come in," a low throaty contralto invited.

He turned the knob and walked into the bedroom.

Mary was doing some kind of embroidery work. She rose, startled, the color washed out of her face.

"You're back," she said, with a catch of the breath.

"Yes," he said. "My job's done."

"You didn't——?"

The question hung suspended.

"No. We brought him back. He is in jail now."

She gave a little sob of relief. "He didn't hurt you?"

"No. One time he thought he would, but he changed his mind. You got back to town all right, not too tired?"

"Yes. Sherif Magruder brought me back. They searched Haskell's cabin and found the clothes he wore at the holdup of the train. There is any amount of evidence piled up against him. He was the one who killed the express messenger."

"I saw Magruder when I turned him over. The sherif says he hasn't a chance to beat the testimony against him. He'll hang."

"Mr. Radbourne is in trouble, too," Mary said. "His gang is falling away from him. The politicians he ruled are afraid. They see the tide has turned, Mr. Peters says, and they are all scrambling to make themselves safe by telling what they know."

Both of them were talking commonplaces to escape the tide of emotion sweeping them into each other's arms.

"He's through," Cole said. "He'll go to the penitentiary, even if some of his men don't squeal and get him convicted of murder. Too many of his chickens are coming home to roost."

"Yes," she agreed.

"And we—we're just beginning." He moved toward her.

There was color enough in her face now. "Yes," she murmured.

He looked at her, soft and dewy and adorable. Love poured through his veins, irradiated him, filled him with keen edged desire for this girl who was to be his mate.

Closing the door, he strode forward. He put his arms around her. Mary lifted a rapt young face to his kiss.

Teacher Owes It to Child to Make School Pleasant

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The ideal condition would be this: That no man or woman should teach who is not eminently fitted for the profession—that is to say, no one should teach who doesn't love it, who isn't in sympathy with children, and who hasn't the scholastic background and the ability to make learning an interesting and vital experience.

But practical consideration by those engaging teachers and people's individual circumstances make that ideal impossible at the present time.

However, whether ideal conditions are possible or not, one fact remains—if you are committed to teaching a great obligation rests upon you. It settles itself upon your shoulders whether you wish to assume it or not. That obligation is to the children who come each day to you, whether they will or no, and are with you for hours on end. The obligation in itself is this: That you should do all in your power to make your schoolroom a happy and pleasant place for children to come to. By "happy," I mean a place where children feel free from fear, sarcasm, nagging, and scolding—a place where sympathy and fairness and friendliness prevail.

I realize the nobility with which teachers have met the crises of the last few years—working without pay or with half or quarter pay or in makeshift surroundings, or with doubled classes, rather than have the school life of thousands of children collapse utterly. This urge to a happier relationship between them and their children does not add to their burdens—it eventually lightens them.

Cinema Star Advises Tennis for Heavy Hips

Jeanette MacDonald Gives Other Beauty Tips.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Jeanette MacDonald's worry at the moment is that California may appoint her to represent the Golden state at Wimbledon next year. That is, if she manages to hit the tennis ball once between now and next summer's tournament date, about which she has some doubts.

"And I used to think tennis was an easy game!" says the red haired beauty of screen fame, who took to the tennis court to keep from getting "hippy," an emergency you and I would never detect.

We happened in upon the lovely red head one afternoon recently. She was seated at a desk writing a letter. I noted how erectly she sat, an asset carried in all her postural movements. She has what it takes in graceful bearing to distinguish a dress from any salon. Miss MacDonald was wearing a smart gray street frock with neckline cut squarely, into which was folded a royal blue square of soft material, and she wore gray suede shoes to match. The ensemble was chic and becoming to her Titian coloring.

"Still use the olive oil for your complexion?" I asked, recalling a Hollywood confidence of a year ago.

"Yes," she replied. "I'm one of those loyal ones. When I find something that agrees with my skin, I stick to it."

Carl Carmer to Speak.

There's More to the Modern Girl than Frivolity

BY DORIS BLAKE.

He's been going around with a girl for three years. There's an understanding that they will marry, although no formal announcement has been made. He is 26, the girl 22. He is out of a job and thinks she'll hate waiting until he is reëstablished financially.

"If I were a hustler I probably would take a chance and get married. But I'm not, and that's the whole trouble," Ben explains himself.

He has been trying the cooling off process on the girl, much against his feelings. But she knows the reason and tries to encourage him.

Now, what kind of stuff do you misguided young men think girls are made of? You haven't been using your eyes the past few years or you might have seen countless examples of how a woman does come across in emergencies.

It isn't bright behavior to start a "cooling off" form of conduct to discourage the young woman, Ben. If you want to quit, quit cold. If you don't want to quit, simply lay your case openly before the girl and let her be the judge of what can be done about it.

Your modern young woman knows all about money. She earns it herself. If you give her a chance she will stand by, and valiantly.

As for being the sort of hustler who'd plunge into marriage on nothing a week, there is nothing to recommend the thought. Both of you are young and have time for waiting.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

For hands that need more than the ordinary care there are two extraordinarily fine preparations that, used faithfully, will transform redness to whiteness and roughness of skin to satin smoothness.

Perhaps the most important of these is a white balm, creamy and rich, that is to be used every night—and preferably every morning—and molded well into the skin. This isn't one of those instant drying affairs; it has important business of softening to do and that takes time. Incidentally, the molding movements will play a large part in keeping your hands shapely and young. They're particularly necessary for the woman who uses her hands a great deal. The skin balm is also conducive to the skin whiteness that every woman wants.

The cream is for use during the day; it doesn't fall into the treatment class as the balm does. It's a rich cream that protects the hands against cold weather and hot water, and should be used after each hand washing. It dries almost instantly.

Both these products are of the herbal family and both have healing and restorative powers for the skin of the hands. Used together, they should take you through the hard winter without hand trouble. They're in several Chicago shops.

SKINNY RUNDOWN WEAK MEN AND WOMEN NEED "NATURAL IODINE"

How Pounds of Firm Solid Flesh Go on Even Naturally Skinny Folks—New Strength and Energy Appear When Glands Are Nourished and Normalized.

Folks marvel at how Kelp-A-Malt, the new natural mineral concentrate from the sea . . . the richest known source of FOOD IODINE, can add good solid flesh so quickly even on those who have been skinny and underweight for years. Yet it's easy to understand.

Your internal glands, which actually control body weight, require NATURAL IODINE. Kelp-A-Malt provides it. Without it these glands become over-active, irregular, and force the tissue-destroying process, constantly going on in the body, to work faster than the building-up process. So no matter how quickly flesh is formed, it is used up, destroyed and—you stay skinny. Then Kelp-A-Malt's minerals nourish the digestive glands which provide the juices needed for assimilating fats and starches, the only material out of which the body can build flesh. Try Kelp-A-Malt for a single week. Watch your appetite improve, strength return, flattering new pounds appear. If you don't gain 5 lbs. of good solid flesh in 1 week, the trial is free. Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The third place Green Bay Packers concluded their home season with a 15 to 0 victory over the Chicago Cardinals in a National Professional Football league game here today. The game, played on a field soaked by rain, attracted 3,750 spectators.

The Packers' triumph, accomplished on touchdowns by Clark Hinkle and Roger Grove, Bob Monnett's point after touchdown, and a safety, virtually eliminated the Cardinals from further title consideration.

Arnie Herber was the key man in the attack that gave Green Bay its fourth victory in six league starts. Herber threw a number of long passes, two of which figured prominently in the scoring. He also punted well.

Packers Score on Pass.

Scoring began in the first quarter, when Herber tossed a 29 yard pass to Clark Hinkle, who then ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Monnett added the extra point with a placement kick.

In the fourth quarter Herber got off the second of his long throws, which led to a touchdown. This time Herber passed to Joe Laws, former Iowa star, who continued on his dash until brought down from the rear by Russell on the Cardinals' 13 yard line. A line plunge netted nothing, and Herber again passed, this one going to Milton Gantenbein for a three yard gain. On the next play, Herber threw to Grove, who caught the ball in the end zone for the score.

Green Bay's final points came just after the kickoff that followed. They resulted from a safety, when Russell's attempt to punt from the Chicago ten yard line was blocked and the ball rolled into the end zone.

Cardinals Miss Chances.

The Cardinals, outplayed most of the way, were presented with two scoring chances in the opening quarter just after Green Bay had produced its touchdown. Dave Cook blocked Hank Bruder's punt, but the Cardinals were unable to get possession of the ball in the ensuing scramble, Bruder recovering on his one foot line.

On the next play Hinkle managed to get off a mediocre punt, on which Paul Pardonner, the one time Purdue ace, made a nice return to the home team's 20 yard line. Three smashes at the Green Bay line brought a first down. Then Chicago suffered a five yard penalty. A moment later Creighton fumbled on an end around play and Gantenbein recovered for the Packers.

Several Players Hurt.

The intensity with which these rivals battled is best shown by the number of injuries. Cook and Bernie Hughes, the latter also of the Cardinals, were taken to a local hospital. Cook was believed to have suffered an ankle fracture. Volok, another Chicago player, had to be carried from the field.

On the Packers' side, Laws was forced from the game because of an arm injury. Bruder received a deep cut in the forehead which required four stitches.

SATCHEL PAIGE HANDS BEATING TO DIZZY DEAN

Cleveland, O., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Facing Dizzy Dean, world series pitching star, for three innings, the Pittsburgh Crawfords, National Colored baseball champions, defeated the Cleveland Rosenblums, 4 to 1, in an exhibition game today.

Satchel Paige, Crawford pitcher, struck out 13 men in six innings and allowed no hits.

Dizzy Dean, after allowing one run and four hits in his three innings on the mound, went to the outfield, where his brother, Paul [Daffy] Dean was playing, for the remainder of the game.

Twelve thousand fans saw the game. The Deans' estimated pay was $3,000.

NEW YORK BEATS PITTSBURGH, 17-7, IN PRO FOOTBALL

Strong, Smith Lead the Giants' Attack.

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Ken Strong, former New York university star, and Willis Smith, 148 pounds of dynamite from the University of Idaho, combined today to give the New York Giants a 17 to 7 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a National Professional league football game.

Pirates Score on Pass.

The Pirates did not threaten seriously until just before the finish, when they uncovered an aerial attack to work the ball down to the New York one foot line, only to lose it on downs. A minute later, however, Vaughan passed it from the 21 yard line to Sortet, who caught it behind the Giant goal line for the Pirate touchdown.

Strong kicked a field goal from the 44 yard line in the first period after a 22 yard dash across the goal by Harry Newman had been disallowed because of unnecessary roughness by the Giants. Smith got into action in the third and immediately ran 21 yards to Pittsburgh's 2 yard line. Strong then went across.

Smith Plunges Over.

The last Giant score was made in the final period when Smith, Strong, and Molenda rushed down the field from Pittsburgh's 30 yard line. Smith went over from the three yard line and Molenda kicked the extra point.

BOSTON TRIUMPHS, 6 TO 0.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A third period touchdown by Cliff Battles enabled the Boston Redskins to beat the Philadelphia Eagles, 6 to 0, in a National Professional Football league game before a crowd of 10,344 at Fenway park today.

The Redskins had two other touchdowns called back for rule infractions earlier in the game. A Boston offside nullified McPhail's 22 yard run in the first period, while two backs in motion wiped out Battles' effort when he took a lateral and crossed the Philadelphia goal line early in the third period.

BABE RUTH LEADS BASEBALL STARS ON JAPAN TRIP

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Led by Babe Ruth, 14 American league baseball players and one National leaguer, Frank [Lefty] O'Doul of the Giants, sailed for Japan tonight on the Empress of Japan.

The Babe, who will manage the American All-Stars, was confident he would get his share of hits and home runs in the orient. "I've been knocking baseballs around for 21 years, and I guess I'll knock a few more in Japan," he grinned.

One group, consisting of Ruth, Charley Gehringer, Jimmie Foxx, Lou Gehrig, Vernon Gomez, Harold [Rabbit] Warstler, and Ed Ebling, trainer of the Philadelphia Athletics, will extend their tour to a round the world jaunt after playing exhibitions in Honolulu and Japan.

The others who plan to return in January are Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Athletics; Bing Miller, Frank Hayes, Joe Cascarella, Eric McNair, O'Doul, Moe Berg, Earl Averill, Clint Brown and Earl Whitehill.

JUST TOO BAD—CHAMPIONS MEET CELLARITES

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The Chicago Bears advanced another step toward their third consecutive National Professional league championship at Wrigley field yesterday by defeating the hapless Cincinnati Reds, 41 to 7, in a Ladies' day game which evolved into a football circus. It was the Bears' sixth straight league victory. A crowd of 10,000 attended and saw the Bears raise the 1933 pennant before the game.

Off to a 14 point lead on the first 15 plays of the game, the Bears forsook the punishing power house attack with which they had piled up five consecutive victories and resorted to a demonstration of passing and broken field running.

Break Helps Reds.

Cincinnati got its touchdown early in the second period. It was the Reds' first score this season. Doehring fumbled a lateral pass and Bill Mulleneux, Cincinnati half back, recovered on the Bears' 21 yard line. Syl Saumer of St. Olaf's, the one Cincinnati back who operated with any degree of success against the Bear defense, picked up ten yards for a first down in two attempts. The he smashed eleven yards off right tackle, carrying Red Grange over the line with him. Hilary Lee kicked the extra point.

Beattie Feathers, the leading ground gainer in the National league, built up his total with 114 yards in seven attempts from scrimmage in addition to 24 and 47 yard returns of Mooney's punts.

Jack Manders scored the Bears first touchdown, plunging over from the seven yard line after a march up the field that was featured by Feathers' 30 yard plunge through center. After the kickoff Feathers returned a punt 24 yards and Corbett made 16 yards in three smashes at the line. Then Feathers cut off tackle for 28 yards and a touchdown. Manders kicked both goals.

Air Circus Is On.

The next Bear score came when Manders intercepted a pass to Saumer and raced 67 yards down the side lines for a touchdown. He kicked the extra point to give the Bears a 21 to 0 lead at the end of the quarter.

The air circus proper opened in the second quarter after Cincinnati had scored. Mooney punted over the Bear goal line for a touchback. Doehring's first down pass was incomplete, but on second down Masterson threw 15 yards to Ted Rosequist, a tackle, made eligible on the play. Masterson then passed to Kopcha, who was made eligible on the next play, and Kopcha passed laterally to Johnsos down the field. The Reds closed in on Johnsos and he lateraled back to Kopcha.

Kopcha by this time was getting out of breath and a Red was coming, so he tried another lateral, but the throw was wide and went out of bounds. The operation had gained 42 yards and put the Bears on the Reds' 22 yard line. A four yard gain by Doehring and an incomplete pass preceded Red Grange's third down pass to Masterson for 18 yards and a touchdown.

What? Manders Misses!

Manders, who missed a 33 yard place kick in the third quarter, also failed to kick the goal after Masterson's touchdown. This was the first point after touchdown the former Minnesota star had missed since the start of last season. His two touchdowns and five extra points, however, made him high scorer of the game with 17 points.

The Bears No. 5 touchdown came on a low pass from Doehring to Grange after the Chicagoans had advanced to the Reds' 10 yard line. This made the score 34-7 at the half. Then Feathers took care of the last score in the third period, returning a punt 47 yards to the Reds' four yard line and plunging over on the next play.

The Bears threw 25 passes, completing 10 for a gain of 184 yards and carried the ball 223 yards from scrimmage, making 13 first downs. The Reds' total gain was 114 yards, representing 13 yards on two completed passes in 13 attempts and 101 yards by rushing. Against a less powerful offense the Reds might have made a better showing because of Jim Mooney's punting.

Minneapolis Throng Hails Gopher Squad

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Minnesota's football players got home today from their victory over the Pitt Panthers and were tossed about like chips bobbing on a billow. A thunderous welcome, from thousands of fans massed in and near the Union depot, swirled over the Gophers.

Broad shouldered police, using the best full back tactics, came to the Gophers' rescue, a move saving them perhaps from a manhandling from the largest crowd that ever put on a football reception show in these parts.

Trafic Tied Up.

Trafic was paralyzed for blocks, to the east, north, and south, while the Gophers, hopping off a train from Pittsburgh, walked into a hazard created by overly jubilant back slappers. A crowd also swarmed over the rails in the train shed to welcome the Gophers, seemingly headed for the national championship in football.

Coach Bierman, whose cunningly planned attack broke Julius Alfonse and Bob Tenner loose for the two touchdowns against Pittsburgh, trod a dangerous path himself to freedom.

All-smiles and satisfaction, Bierman vouchsafed that "Pittsburgh licked us in the first half" and "I never saw a Minnesota team play better than in the second half" Saturday.

Clarkson Is Injured.

One cloud intruding on the sunny Sunday was Coach Bierman's information that Art [Deacon] Clarkson, half back, may be unable to play against Iowa next Saturday because of injury to his elbow suffered in the Pittsburgh battle. Stan Kostka, full back, has a bruised rib.

Clarkson and Kostka were the only casualties. Both were taken to the students' health service for examination.

ROWE, WARNEKE STRIKE OUT 17 AT LITTLE ROCK

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, Lon Warneke, and Travis Jackson—a trio of Arkansas boys who have made their mark in major league baseball—teamed with a group of semi-professionals here today and pounded out an 8 to 1 victory over an all-star team selected from Little Rock's amateurs.

Rowe whiffed seven in the first five innings, while Warneke fanned ten in the last four innings. Warneke struck out the last six men to face him.

Detroit-Brooklyn Game Is Postponed Until Tonight

Defeat of Iowa by Iowa State Heads Week's List of Upsets

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In this football season of surprising victories and spectacular reversals of form each Saturday brings grist to the mills of speculation. One week ago it was Nevada, beaten, 61 to 0, in 1933 by St. Mary's, which startled the gridiron world by whipping the Gaels, 9 to 7. This morning, consider the equally great catastrophe inflicted by Iowa State on Iowa last Saturday when the Cyclones won their first victory over the Hawkeyes since 1916 by the impressive score, 31 to 6.

Last year Iowa won, 27 to 7, and while the Hawkeyes had lost such key men as Joe Laws, Tom Moore, and Schammel, Iowa had opened its conference campaign with a decisive victory over Northwestern, a triumph in which Oze Simmons impressed most favorably in his debut, and Dick Crayne played with the same smashing speed he had exhibited in his sophomore year. Then came the 14 to 13 defeat by Nebraska, a hard fought game, which cost the services of one regular, Capt. Russ Fisher.

Give Iowa State a Hand.

Overconfidence? Injuries? Admittedly these plausible excuses come to mind, but after all the logical reason for Iowa's Waterloo was a fighting Iowa State eleven, possessing a good kicker, a couple of driving runners, hard blockers, and directed by a coach, George Veenker, who frequently proved at Emerson High school, Gary, Ind., and as a member of Michigan's staf, that he knows football.

Poole's superiority in punting, followed by a successful pass, opened the way for Poole's place kick, the first score. Iowa State blocked a Hawkeye punt and recovered on Iowa's 8 yard line to pry loose the first touchdown. Oze Simmons' fumble, which the Cyclones recovered on Iowa's 18 yard line, started the second touchdown march, and thus Iowa State led, 17 to 0, at the half. In the third period Iowa scored. Then Iowa State finished with a 25 yard run by Neal for a touchdown and Miller's 54 yard dash for another.

Navy Upsets Columbia.

Second choice in this current list of upsets is Navy's 13 to 7 victory over Columbia, particularly because Columbia went into a 7 to 0 lead and appeared headed to repeat last year's 14 to 7 victory over the midshipmen. It was Navy's fourth victory and Columbia's first defeat.

Washington and Lee, victor over Kentucky but overwhelmed a week ago by West Virginia, earns third place in Saturday's list of surprises, although the Generals fell before Princeton, 14 to 12. In view of Princeton's perfect record in 1933 many may have forgotten that Princeton conquered Washington and Lee by only 6 to 0 while that record was being compiled.

Pitt Draws Largest Crowd.

The largest crowd of the week-end, 64,850, saw two of the strongest elevens in the country fight in Pitt's stadium for the right to continue toward a national championship. Evenly matched in kicking, ground gained, passes completed, Minnesota's mighty team conquered Pittsburgh when two spectacular fourth period scoring plays overcame the one successful thrust the Panthers had made in the second quarter.

Minnesota, cautious, defensive minded for 42 minutes, swung into action when its cause seemed nearly lost. Pitt yielded grudgingly, but Minnesota, twice faced with fourth down, made good on each occasion. To the quarter back, Glen Seidel, who called for these winning plays, should go the credit as much as to the men who executed them.

Ohio State, defeated only by Illinois, 14 to 13, whipped Colgate Saturday, 10 to 7. The Buckeyes now face Northwestern with belief that no other eleven this year will beat them.

Michigan, loser to Michigan State and Chicago, won its first game, 9 to 2, from Georgia Tech, one of the south's secondary flight teams. Nebraska, beaten only by Minnesota, downed Oklahoma, 6 to 0, and asserted that the Big Six title may again repose in Lincoln this winter unless Iowa State can whip the Cornhuskers this week.

Michigan State Keeps Going.

St. Mary's overpowered Fordham, 14 to 9, getting solace for its loss to Nevada. Michigan State continued its victory march at the expense of Manhattan college, 39 to 0. Holy Cross emphasized its strength by beating Harvard, 26 to 6, while Yale ran over Brown, 37 to 0. Army finished its practice schedule with a 20 to 0 victory over Sewanee.

Chicago won its second Big Ten victory at the expense of Indiana, 21 to 0. The Maroons' revival will not be threatened for another week, and then Chicago finishes its conference schedule with Purdue, Ohio State, Minnesota, and Illinois. Victory in any two of these games certainly should constitute a splendid record; victory in all should be classed as a modern miracle.

Purdue's back field speed and open field blocking whipped Wisconsin, 14 to 0, and if Iowa's collapse is permanent, the Boilermakers may win all four of their Big Ten games. Chicago and Indiana are other opponents.

Notre Dame defeated Carnegie Tech as it was expected to and now is the favorite to beat Wisconsin before meeting Pittsburgh. Pitt, on the basis of its play against Minnesota, should be rated at least 2 to 1 over the Irish.

SPEEDY CHICAGO 2 YEAR OLDS TO RACE NEXT YEAR

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicagoans who maintain racing stables are rather proud of the power they will possess in the 2 year old racing of next season providing they get an ordinary break in racing luck.

With the six months long Illinois racing season nearing its close — it ends at Sportman's Park one week from Wednesday afternoon—the Chicagoans were taking inventories yesterday and endeavoring to determine what will be in store for them when the racing of 1935 comes along.

That they are to be strong in the 2 year old division was indicated in the list of nominations for the 1935 running of the Arlington Futurity, which has just been announced.

Nominate 457 for Futurity.

Nominations totaled 457. Chicagoans made 92 of these nominations and thus will be represented by one-fifth of the field.

F. A. Burton	1	John Marsch	4
J. J. Coughlin	17	Mrs. F. M. Mars	8
C. B. Shafer	6	Nash Brothers	12
Warren Wright	19	Mrs. Roy Carruthers	8
Gorham Brothers	1	Mrs. John Hertz	6
J. E. Hughes	6	Otto W. Lehmann	4

The exact number of 2 year olds which will be racing in the silks of Chicagoans next season cannot be determined. There are important yearling auctions at Lexington next month at which numerous local turfmen will be lively bidders. However, in as much as Chicagoans own 92 youngsters that are regarded highly enough to be made eligible to such a rich early closing event as the Arlington Futurity they probably possess about three times that number which will be pointed for the less important events. One Chicago owner yesterday predicted that about one-sixth of the 2 year olds racing in America next season will have Chicagoans as their owners. This is a tremendous increase over other seasons.

Nellie Flag Wins Rich Prizes.

A few Chicagoans have enjoyed unusual success with 2 year olds this season and this no doubt encouraged others to go into the market, buy young horses, and get ready to strive for the 2 year old prizes of next season.

Nellie Flag from Warren Wright's stable has been the most successful of the Chicago 2 year olds this year. She has earned close to $50,000 and is one of the most highly regarded candidates for the $15,000 added Kentucky Jocky club stakes to be run at Churchill Downs next Saturday afternoon.

The Kentucky Jocky club stakes possibly will be her last engagement of the season. She promises to be one of the leading 3 year old fillies of next season. Her mother, Nellie Morse, was also rated as one of the best 3 year olds of her season, the Preakness being one of the stakes she captured.

The heaviest entry list of the Chicago season is to be found on the seven race program to be run off at Sportsman's Park today. Eighteen horses were named in each of the seven races. Only ten are permitted to start on the half mile track, so at least 56 of the 126 horses named in the overnight fields will have to be scratched this morning.

Two Boxing Shows to Be Held Tonight

Promoter Johnny Coulon will offer an eight round bout between Frank Misko, Saginaw, Mich., 160 pound boxer, and Tony Zale, Gary, Ind., in the windup at the Midway. The main event at Marigold will bring together Mickey Beal, Chicago bantamweight, and Sammy Mosco, Omaha, Neb., for eight rounds.

Mosco to Fight Beal.

Mosco, dimunitive Italian lad, will attempt to halt Beal's victory march. Only two others were able to accomplish this in 16 encounters, but Mickey, showing improvement with every appearance, avenged both defeats. The Omaha Kid made his Chicago debut against Jackie Sharkey a few months ago and although he lost to his heavier opponent he was not humiliated. Form in this battle and in a subsequent encounter with Everett [Young] Rightmire bodes no good for Beal.

Sherald Kennard, Fargo, N. D., makes his reappearance in Chicago against Nestor Bruggman of the Catholic Youth organization for six rounds in the semi-final at 148 pounds. Four round contests match Willie Dudlak with Sammy Scoglio and Joe Roman with Young Richards. Two other matches are carded.

Misko Faces Zale.

Frank Misko will seek to salve the wounds of his young brother, Mickey Misko, who was knocked out by Zale recently at the Midway. Jack Gibbons, St. Paul boxer who impressed with his four round technical knockout of Lou Bartel a week ago, will face harder competition tonight against Mickey in a five rounder. Another conflict at this distance pairs George Van Der Hayden, stablemate of Leo Rodak, against Johnny Fitzpatrick at 130 pounds. Jack Mooney, South Bend, Ind., 155 pound fighter, clashes with Les Schultz in one of two other engagements.

Joe Louis, Detroit, Mich., 188 pounder, will seek a match with King Levinsky if he beats Art Sykes in their main bout Wednesday at Arcadia Gardens. The Negro heavyweight does not believe Sykes will absorb his whacks to the body and head for ten rounds without suffering at least one knockdown. In the event he accomplishes this trick it will be something the Kingfish was unable to do at Wrigley field a month ago.

Louis' ambition to obtain a bout with Levinsky may place him in an unhealthy spot. Joe has refused offers for a tussle with Tony Cancela, stablemate of Levinsky, contending that Cancela would make him look bad. Harold Steinman, co-manager with Mrs. Lena Levy of Cancela, yesterday declared that Tony will sign to fight Louis on the proposed Levinsky-Art Lasky card at the Stadium Nov. 23.

"Then if Louis refuses he will not rate a match with Levinsky," Steinman added, "and if he accepts Cancela will beat him and there will be no further talk of a Levinsky fight."

VRBA MOTORS TAKE THIRD IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

The Vrba Motors went into third place in the Classic Bowling league last night when they took three games from the Pabst Blue Ribbon team at the Harding alleys. In winning two from the Baby Ruths, the Budweisers tied the former team for fourth place. The Cardinals won two from the La Salle-Windsors.

The Monarch Beers in the last game shot 1120, which enabled them to turn in a 3144 series, high for the night. Billy Goldammer, Edelweiss, had high individual series with 665.

High individual game honors went to Theel of the Vrba Motors, who bowled 255 in the second game.

All-Collegians Defeat Duke Slater's Team, 7-6

The All-Collegians football team opened its season by defeating the Duke Slater colored All-Stars, 7 to 6, at Spencer field yesterday. The colored stars scored first when Fitzhugh Lyons, former Indiana star, ran eighty yards for a touchdown. The Collegians scored in the fourth quarter when Jim Doody threw a pass to Fred Newburg for the touchdown. Gordie Kraft kicked the winning point.

In the Wake of the News

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR Wake: After the courthouse burned in the Chicago fire of 1871 a group of men, of whom Harry Everhart was one, bought the bell and melted it for the manufacture of souvenirs.

Small brass "Mrs. O'Leary cows" were produced for watch charms [bangles then had not become a fad], small bells, and initial cuff buttons. The cow had a hind leg raised, suggesting the overturning of the lamp. I still have my cow, also the cuff buttons.

Mrs. J. C. Ehart.

I am inclosing an invitation to the Grand Opening Soirée of "Our Club" in commemoration of the great Chicago fire. The event was held Oct. 8, 1872, at Snow's Dancing academy, 62 South Halsted street, then business center of the adjacent residence district. This was followed later by a "Calico Hop," invitations to which were printed on a piece of calico.

I wonder if any of the members of that club still are alive. The officers were W. C. Smith, president; F. E. Marvin, vice president; J. K. McAllister, secretary; J. F. Warner, treasurer; and an executive committee of Louis White, W. H. Johnson, J. W. Baxter, T. A. Pitt, G. Mosher, and George W. Clarke.

Mrs. Stella Weber.

Prior to the civil war my father had a two story and basement store in La Harpe, Hancock county, which was typical of the general stores in this section. Judging from his old ledgers, he sold about everything now found in department stores.

It may interest present day payers of high prices for liquor to know that coal oil and whisky both sold for 25 cents a gallon. Buyers took their jugs home with them, enjoying a snifter whenever they felt like it, and I don't believe there were as many drunks as we had in later years. This was real whisky, too, not the high priced stuff of inferior quality we get now.

I cite this whisky story just to show what taxes will do, and I ask who pays the tax but the consumer, which applies not only to whisky but to everything else? So lend a hand and help turn the tax eating brain trusters out!

Norman Rapalee.

Fraternities and Relief.

At University of Michigan question arose whether applicants for government assistance from FERA funds should receive that aid if they joined fraternities. Opinion of the committee chairman was that those receiving assistance should not join unless they secured a job of some nature at the fraternity house. Nearly all fraternities have jobs of "waiting table," washing dishes, etc., by which members with slim bank rolls help pay their way through college.

ROSENBLOOM AND MILER TO MEET IN TITLE BATTLE

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Maxie Rosenbloom and Johnny Miler of Iowa will meet here tomorrow night at the Coliseum in a 10 round bout. Iowa laws forbid decision matches and it has been agreed that the fight will be held under the New York rule on fouls. The penalty for a foul is the loss of the round.

The match is a title affair and is attracting more attention than any Iowa bout for many years. Miler, born Miletich in Albia, Ia., is no stranger to Rosenbloom. Maxie put the only blot on the Iowan's record of 31 professional matches, 14 of which were won by knockouts, a year ago at New Orleans, La.

Miler represented the United States during the Olympics of 1932, losing to Murphy of Ireland in a battle for the title. Both Rosenbloom and Miler have been in Des Moines for a week, each working out daily at the Y. M. C. A. Miler, who appears to be in good shape, may weigh a pound or two below the light heavyweight limit. Rosenbloom will enter the ring overweight by several pounds.

NICK SCHROEDER SETS NATIONAL CASTING RECORD

Two perfect scores were made yesterday in the weekly fly and bait casting tournament, sponsored by the Illinois Casting club, at the Washington park pool. This is the first time in the history of casting that two perfect scores have been made on the same day.

Nick Schroeder won the ⅝ ounce accuracy bait event with a perfect 100 per cent, and Howard Chatt, president of the club, turned in 100 per cent in the wet fly event.

FIVE-EIGHTH OUNCE ACCURACY BAIT—Won by Nick Schroeder, 100 per cent; Eddie Davis, 99 per cent, second; Charles Donaldson, 97 per cent, third.

WET FLY—Won by Howard Chatt, 100 per cent; George Hess, 97 per cent, second; Charles Donaldson, 96 per cent, third.

THREE-EIGHTH OUNCE ACCURACY BAIT—Won by Nick Schroeder, 95 per cent; George Hess, 94 per cent, second; Eddie Davis, 92 per cent, third.

Jack Brown to Wrestle CowboyHughesWednesday

A bonus in the form of five contracts will be awarded to the winner of the ninety minute windup wrestling bout between Jack Brown, Shreveport, La., and Richard [Cowboy] Hughes, Cheyenne, Wyo., at Marigold Gardens Wednesday night, Promoter Fred Kohler announced yesterday. Hughes recently wrestled Brown thirty minutes to a draw in his first Chicago appearance. The promoter is making arrangements for one of the best crowds at Marigold this season. Charley Peterson and Zack Malkov, rival 180 pounders, will clash in one of four supporting encounters.

Zivic Brothers to Appear on Coliseum Card

Four matches at eight rounds each, and one at four, will comprise James C. Mullen's boxing card at the Coliseum Friday.

Eddie Zivic, lightweight, and Fritz Zivic, junior welterweight, brothers, from Pittsburgh, Pa., have been signed to appear in two of the eight round encounters. Geno Salvatore, La Salle, Ill., a Golden Gloves graduate, will be Eddie's opponent. It is planned to obtain Laddie Tonelli, Marseilles, Ill., to oppose Fritz. Inability to agree on the weight is holding up the match, as Zivic is holding out for 145 and Tonelli two pounds more.

Orville Drouillard, Windsor, Ont., featherweight, will appear in a third eight round engagement. Mullen is confident of persuading Jackie Wilson, another Pittsburgh warrior, to accept the assignment against Drouillard. However, George Ades, Wilson's representative, says Jackie may refuse to postpone a scheduled meeting with Baby Casanova at Mexico City Nov. 2.

In that case Bus Breese, Manhattan, Kas., probably will be substituted for Wilson. The remaining feature attraction matches Corn Griffin with Tony Cancela.

Barney Ross, lightweight and junior welterweight champion, will open drills at Trafton's gymnasium in an effort to aid his stablemate, Davey Day, whip Frank Sagilio in their return bout at ten rounds at Chicago Stadium Nov. 2. The champion boxed an exhibition with Phil Rafferty, New York, at Mills stadium July 30, when Day fought a ten round draw with the sturdy Cicero warrior.

Champion of Tuscany Seeks C. Y. O. Title

One of the most interesting figures participating in the west section preliminaries of the fourth annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament will be a 19 year old Italian boy who came to America two months ago after winning the 160 pound title of Tuscany, birthplace of Dante and Michaelangelo.

The youthful Italian immigrant whose ambition is to win one of the eight C. Y. O. boxing titles in Michele Cavallino, whose Christian name in English is Michael. Mike, who had difficulty making himself understood at the C. Y. O. registration office until Packey McFarland became his interpreter, won the title in a boxing tournament held in Ferrara, in northern Italy.

Brother Sends for Mike.

After winning the title at Ferrara, Cavallino qualified for the national tournament but was eliminated in a close fight in the first round. This was in July. In August Mike, upon request of a brother in Chicago who notified him of the possibilities of boxing in America, sailed for the United States.

Whether Mike will conquer, however, will depend much on the attitude 600 other boys from the west section will take when they face the Italian invader in the ring. The likelihood that Mike will learn a few new tricks about boxing is not remote, because also entered in the 175 pound class of the C. Y. O. tournament are the defending champion, Ray Wozniak, Otto Fishel, John Hawthorne, Ed Lipinski, Bill Fitzgerald, and others. Extra pounds gained during his ocean crossing have made Cavallino a light heavyweight now.

West Preliminaries Open Tonight.

The west section preliminaries will open tonight at the West Side Community Recreation center, 4721 Madison street. More than 700 boys will be classified. Tomorrow night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, the first of the tournament bouts will be held. About 60 matches are scheduled for tomorrow night and an additional 60 for Wednesday night.

SCHNEIDER AND CARLSON WIN AT AUTO SPEEDWAY

Jimmy Schneider of Evanston and Ernie Carlson of Chicago teamed up to beat the out of town drivers who invaded the Evanston motor speedway yesterday afternoon for the weekly program of automobile racing. Between them, Schneider and Carlson accounted for all three events on the card, with the former taking major honors for the day by winning the 20 lap feature event.

Ted Tetterton, who has been sharing the honors with Schneider throughout the season, was forced out of the competition when his car broke down in the opening event. The results:

FIRST RACE [10 laps]—Won by Jimmy Schneider; Tony Willman, second, Charley Tegtmeier,

N. U. CAN BLOCK FRESHMEN; NOW, HOW ABOUT OHIO?

Wildcats Hope to Get Cruice, Swisher Free.

Northwestern's football team, which showed evidence of improvement in the fundamentals of blocking and tackling against the freshmen Saturday, will contitnue to polish up its attack this week in preparation for the Ohio State game at Dyche stadium Saturday.

The Wildcats rolled up five touchdowns against the yearlings and might have added more had Coach Dick Hanley kept the regulars in the lineup. Sharp blocking enabled Cruice and Swisher to reel off numerous long runs which were climaxed by the latter's 85 yard sprint for a touchdown.

Northwestern's hopes for a victory Saturday will depend on the ability to get Cruice and Swisher out in the open. Either one of these two backs is a touchdown threat if the line can blast an opening for him.

Barring injuries in practice, the Wildcats hope to have their full strength available by Saturday. Don Geyer, who has been out of action since the Stanford game with a charley horse is rounding into shape, while Eino Hayskar, sophomore half back, who suffered a pulled ligament in his leg last week, is expected to be ready to play.

TWO BUCKEYES HURT.

Columbus, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Two Ohio State back field men joined the already large list of injured during the game with Colgate yesterday when Stan Pincara, quarter back, and Frank Fisch, left half back, suffered painful shoulder hurts which are expected to keep them from practice during the week. The Buckeyes will meet Northwestern at Evanston Saturday.

Umpire John Schommer said the Colgate game was one of the cleanest, yet hardest played, in which he ever had officiated. Only one penalty, an offside infraction, was called during the contest. That was against Colgate.

ZUPPKE FEARS MICHIGAN.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Michigan's comeback against Georgia Tech convinced Coach Bob Zuppke and the Illinois football team that the Wolverines will be the toughest kind of customers when they are met at Ann Arbor Saturday.

"I have said all along that Michigan was potentially strong and our scout reports they have improved a great deal, especially defensively," Zuppke said. "We know down here just how stubborn an inspired Michigan defense can be. Renner will be back to throw passes, which, with Regeczi's punting, won't help us. There is no danger that our boys will underrate Michigan."

Instead of the usual light Monday practice, there will be a strenuous drill tomorrow, as the regulars have had a good rest, with an open date last week. With no untoward incidents the Illini should present their strongest front at Ann Arbor.

MICHIGAN INJURIES HEAL.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—An injury to Capt. Tom Austin's hand which caused Coach Harry Kipke to keep the Michigan right tackle out of the second half of Saturday's game with Georgia Tech is only a bruise rather than a break, X-ray pictures showed today. This leaves the Wolverines squad in about the best shape it has been in since the start of the season.

Kipke will start Monday working the team in preparation for the Illinois game on next Saturday. Neither he nor Wally Weber, the coach who has been scouting Illinois, is overly enthusiastic about the prospects, but the staf is somewhat heartened by the showing made against Georgia Tech yesterday. Kipke believes the backfield men, Jennings, Aug, and Sweet, have shaken off their buck fever and are ready to go.

LAYDEN SEEKS MORE SPIRIT.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Coach Elmer Layden checked over his notes today on Notre Dame's 13 to 0 victory over Carnegie Tech and found reason to be both pleased and disappointed.

The Irish won on two perfectly executed plays, one a 56 yard run by Bill Shakespeare and the other a pass for 32 yards from Andy Pilney to Capt. Dominic Vairo, right end.

"The rest of the afternoon," Layden said, "there were enough men in the lineup loafing so that we could not make a concerted march. Our downfield blocking has improved, but we have lost ground on our blocking at the line of scrimmage. Both our line and backfield are responsible for this retrogression."

The squad completed its third game of the season still without a casualty. Layden said he will rest the team tomorrow and then go to work on rebuilding spirit and on fundamentals preparatory to the windup of the Irish home season Saturday against Wisconsin. Notre Dame will play Pittsburgh, Navy, Northwestern, Army and Southern California on foreign fields after Saturday's game.

MISSOURI NEXT FOR MAROONS.

The University of Chicago football team, whose victory over Indiana Saturday proved that Chicago's new found potency is solidly grounded, will repose at the top of the Big Ten for another two weeks at least. Missouri, a nonconference team, will be Chicago's opponent at Stagg field Saturday. The game will be part of the Maroon preparations for Purdue's invasion of the Midway Nov. 3.

One Maroon casualty occurred in the Indiana game. Bartlett Peterson, left end, came out of the second quarter with a hip injury. If he is unable to play against Missouri his place will be taken by Bill Gillerlain, Bill Langley, or Ralph Belfanz. Ned Bartlett, half back, who was hurt in a play on which Indiana was penalized for unnecessary roughness, appeared to be sound and healthy yesterday.

Chicago has not played Missouri since 1924. In that year the Maroons won their last Big Ten championship. The only game they lost was to Missouri, 3 to 0. This year's game was scheduled partly because the Carideo coached Missourians use a Notre Dame style of offense, similar to that which Purdue will use against Chicago the following week.

Prep Football

GAMES TODAY.
Glenbard at Maine, 2 p. m.
Downers Grove at Riverside, 2 p. m.
Austin vs. Crane, Mills stadium, 2 p. m.

A fighting St. George eleven yesterday held the powerful Mount Carmel team to a surprise 0 to 0 tie at Evanston. Mount Carmel, leader in east section of the Chicago Catholic High School league, had several scoring opportunities, but each time St. George fought off all drives.

Mount Carmel reached the St. George 5 yard line in the first period, only to have a pass batted down in the end zone. Again in the fourth quarter Mount Carmel aided by a 15 yard penalty, reached the St. George 2 yard line. Lynn then dropped back and threw a pass to Post, but the latter was halted before crossing the goal line.

St. George had little in the way of offense, but its pass defense and line play had the husky Mount Carmel team stopped at all stages. Mount Carmel attempted fifteen forward passes and completed one, which was good for only a few feet. The lineup:

MOUNT CARMEL [0].		ST. GEORGE [0].
Ziemba	L. E.	Koer
Kiely	L. T.	Roener
Smith	L. G.	Fishback

Kramer broke through to block a St. Patrick kick in the first quarter. The ball bounded beyond the goal line and O'Brien won the race to fall on it for the touchdown. St. Patrick staged a second quarter march that finally was halted on the Fenwick five yard line. The lineup:

Evans accounted for the final De Paul touchdown on a 60 yard dash in the last quarter. Loyola scored its touchdown in the second quarter when Warner passed to Hoeffer, who ran seven yards more. Warner then made good the extra point. The lineup:

St. MEL BEATS WEBER.

St. Mel crushed Weber, 36 to 6, at St. Philip field. It was the third straight defeat for Weber, and enabled St. Mel to head the west section race with three victories and no defeats.

Oakey and Palm each scored twice for the winners. Oakey sped 55 yards after catching a punt to account for his first score, and later ran right end for 30 yards and a touchdown. Palm also clicked off a 30 yard touchdown run and plunged through guard for his second score. Weber came through in the fourth quarter, Potocki passing 40 yards to Marynowsky, who trotted across the goal. The lineup:

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1934: By The Chicago Tribune.]

COACH ZUPPKE has an effective method of demonstrating why Illinois fears Michigan. . . . He gets out a record book of 1928 when Michigan lost to Ohio Wesleyan, Indiana, Ohio State, and Wisconsin and then beat a hitherto undefeated Illinois team, 3 to 0, at Ann Arbor. . . . The real name of Charles W. Murphy, who owned the west side Cubs, was never printed. . . . The W. stood for Welch, but the name always appeared as Webb. . . . It resulted from a copy reader's error when Murphy had his first by-line over a sports story in a Cincinnati newspaper. . . . Irving Vaughan, TRIBUNE reporter, leaves Sunday for his third trip around the world in as many years. . . . Chillicothe, Mo., is the newest entrant in the 1935 Golden Gloves tournament. . . . Other centers which will compete for the first time include Minneapolis, Louisville, Akron, Sioux City, and Wisconsin Rapids. . . . Seattle, which had a $30,000 profit, made more money than any club in the Pacific Coast league this season.

William Harridge, president of the American league, refuses to wear a wristwatch. . . . Speed Martin, once with the Cubs, probably holds the major league record for speed in losing a ball game. . . . He went in to pitch against New York in 1921 in the tenth inning with the score tied. . . . The first batter to face him was Earl Smith. . . . Smith knocked the first and only ball Martin threw into the grandstand for a home run, ending the game. . . . Sophomores at Notre Dame claim we did them an injustice when we announced that the freshmen had carted away the street car shanty at St. Mary's college in the bonfire competition preceding the Purdue game. . . . It seems that the sophomores took the station from its original resting place and transplanted it behind Lyons hall. . . . Friday morning some yearlings arose before 5 o'clock and stole part of the roof before they were detected by a Lyons hall vigilance committee. . . . Clad in pajamas, the sophomores from Lyons attacked the freshmen and regained the wood. . . . Our informant pointed out that the sophomores felt outraged that the credit went to another class after they had carried the station a mile and a half. . . . We hope justice has prevailed. . . . The St. Louis hocky team is to be known as the Eagles. . . .

Winter can't be far away. . . . They're serving Tom and Jerry at the clubhouse bar at Sportsman's Park. . . . Of the last 20 games played between Illinois and Ohio State eight have been decided by the margin of a field goal or a point after touchdown. . . . In only six has the margin of victory been more than one touchdown and in ten it has been less than six points. . . . Illinois has scored a total of 154 points, an average of 7.7 per game, while Ohio State has made 134 for an average of 6.7. . . . Stuart Newsom, captain elect of the Wheaton college basketball team and No. 1 tennis player at the school, has transferred to the University of Michigan to study medicine. . . . Bull Mateo, considered by the Filipinos as the Carnera of their race, recently arrived in Los Angeles to begin an American ring career. . . . He weighs only 154 pounds, but he is the biggest fighting man the Philppines have sent to this country. . . . The distance of the Derby to be run at Santa Anita this winter has been cut from a mile and a quarter to a mile and a sixteenth. . . . The change was made at the request of numerous owners who were reluctant to race 3 year olds that far so early in the season. . . .

Fred Fitzsimmons, one of the Giants' pitching stars, is working with the Temple City team in the winter league at Los Angeles. . . . Two Chicago boys, Dick Lutz of Tilden Tech and Charlie Payne of Calumet, are playing in University of Detroit's back field this fall. . . . Mike Casteel, back field coach at Michigan State, has been scouting the Detroit Lions for the Green Bay Packers. . . . At the recent big league drafting session the White Sox selected Vernon Washington, an outfielder with Indianapolis. . . . The draft was disallowed when it was discovered that Washington lacked eight days of the period a player must serve in a minor league before he is subject to selection. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today.—Commissioner Landis, John Heydler, president of the National league, and Ban Johnson, head of the junior league, were to be made defendants in slander suits which Cozy Dolan, debarred Giant coach, was planning to bring in the federal court. . . . The White Sox and New York Giants arrived in England on the first stop of their European tour. . . . Sir Thomas Lipton arrived in New York and announced that he would challenge America for the cup again. . . . Coach Knute Rockne picked 33 players to make the Princeton trip.

Intelligence Prize Won by Shepherd Dog

Monee, a German shepherd dog owned by Dr. R. S. Claflin, 3724 Fullerton avenue and value at $10,000, last night was adjudged the most intelligent of the more than 1,500 dogs competing in the Western Specialty Clubs' association show at the Coliseum. The two day show, one of the largest ever held in the middle west, ended last evening.

Among tests which Monee was required to pass were those of walking backward, instant obedience to an order to bow, leading children by gently grasping their hands and clothing, and putting out a lighted match at the command of "fire!" Monee, 8 years old, was aided during the tests by Sunny Hedrick, 12 years old, 1648 Touhy avenue.

Second award in the intelligence test went to Ameer Zaazaa, another German shepherd, owned by S. M. Thomas, Stroudsberg, Pa. In addition to performing the required tricks Ameer Zaazaa exhibited a bit of trench digging and went through a military step routine.

Following the final judging last night, eighteen champion dogs, each of which was named best of breed, paraded around the Coliseum. Those chosen from the 1,500 entrants of 18 breeds were:

Maccabees and Sparta Battle to 1 to 1 Deadlock

Sparta and the Maccabees yesterday fought it out to a 1 to 1 tie at Sparta stadium in a professional soccer game. Wolfe drove in the first goal of the game for Sparta following a half hour of furious play, and the lead was maintained until shortly before the end of the contest.

With about 15 minutes of the second half remaining, Hay of the Maccabees was chased from the game for interfering with Referee Anderson. Playing with ten men, the Maccabees staged a hard drive that ended when Sparky Frolick slipped a goal past Baer to tie the score. Thereafter Sparta took the offensive, but Fisher, Maccabee goalie, withstood several attempts for points. Lineup:

25 Teams Still Are Undefeated in Eastern Race

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Twenty-five eastern college football teams still were unbeaten today, although eight of these had been tied at least once.

Duquesne, beaten once in five starts, was far in front in the scoring race with 217 points. Holy Cross, with five successive victories, was second with 141; Army third at 128; Dartmouth fifth at 125, and Princeton fourth at 124. Twelve teams had blanked the opposition to date, among these defensive leaders being Army, Dartmouth, Georgetown, Western Maryland, and George Washington.

CHICAGO WOMEN PLAY TODAY IN WESTERN GOLF

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—(AP)—With 26 players in the field, headed by Mrs. Phillip Atwood, 1933 western open champion, Chicago indicated it would make a strong bid for the western women's golf championship, which opens here tomorrow and runs through Saturday.

COULTER'S LEG INJURY IS FOUND TO BE FRACTURE

Blackhawks Try Out New Forward Line.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks uncovered a new forward line in last night's exhibition game at the University of Illinois rink and temporarily at least lost half of a defense line, which leaves them short handed in this department.

The accident to Tom Coulter, sustained in a collision with Howie Morenz, which appeared at first to be a severe contusion to the calf muscles of the right leg, was found to be a fracture this morning and the club's physician, Dr. H. F. Meacham, ordered Coulter to Chicago immediately for further examination. Coulter left this afternoon and it is feared he will not be able to take his regular place on the Hawks' defense front until after the start of the season.

Hunt Defense Material.

The Hawks' management has started a hunt for defense material. Until it arrives the veteran Helge Bostrum will be forced to assist Art Coulter, Art Wiebe, and Marty Burke.

The three forwards that caught the eye of Manager Loughlin in Saturday night's game were Billy Kendall, Norman Locking, and Tommy Cook. While they did not perform on the same line in the exhibition game, they showed so much in the passing, shooting, and back checking that Loughlin made a forward line of the two in this afternoon's practice and in all likelihood that is the way they will line up when the team opens the season Nov. 8.

Two Forward Lines.

With the Morenz, Gottselig, and Couture combination already set, the Hawks now have two complete forward lines. A third is to be made up of Mush March, Donny McFadden, Leroy Goldsworthy, Louis Trudel, Paul Thompson, and Doc Romnes. The last two are holdouts.

RELIEF WORKERS IN ILLINOIS PAID $853,407 MONTH

Plan to Standardize Pay; 9,344 Employed.

There are 9,344 persons, receiving a salary total of $853,407 a month, engaged in the $120,000,000 annual business of handing out relief to the million "clients" in this state, it was revealed yesterday by a detailed report on the staf of the Illinois emergency relief commission. The figures are for August, when total expenditures reached $9,517,670, a record which has since been surpassed.

Who these employés are and what they do are questions answered by the report. It indicates that each member of the staf has numerous duties to perform. Unanswered is the question of whether all of these duties are essential. Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the relief commisson, believes that the employé are "part of the greatest enterprises toward recovery."

Plan to Standardize Salaries.

The report was submitted to the commission members in connection with a plan to standardize the salaries of all but a score of top officials whose salaries will continue to be appraised by Mr. Reynolds.

Action on the plan is being deferred until the commission gains information on the ability of the employés now receiving more or less than the amounts in the proposed salary ranges.

Of the 9,344 employés, 439 are getting $505,220 to administer Cook county relief, 2,729 are being paid $217,556 to pass out relief in other counties, and 1,176 are drawing $130,631 to supervise the activities of the first two groups.

Mr. Reynolds, at the top, receives about $8,000 a year and his services largely consist of formulating policies and carryinog out the policies created at Washington by Harry Hopkins, head of the Federal Emergency Relief administration. Under the executive secretary are 19 assistants and department heads.

Salary Range in Larger Groups.

Ten county department directors, $200-$300; 26 state department directors, $175-$400; 5 assistant county department directors, $148-$200; 8 assistant state department directors, $200-$250; 100 county administrators, $90-$200; and 6 special service directors, $185-$375.

The maximum salary range then drops in some of the other more important classifications: 486 senior case workers, $115-$185; 531 senior clerks, $461-$150; 87 bookkeepers, $100-$150; 1,113 junior case workers, $95-$125; 185 secretaries, $61-$135; 221 junior supervisors, $61-$160; 905 stenographers, $61-$115; 1,323 junior clerks, $61-$110; 889 typists, $61-$100; 2,128 case work aids, $61-$100; 164 file clerks, $61-$90; 102 janitors, $61-$90; and 72 office boys, $65-$80.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Vic and Sade, who present that very human sketch of small town life, will go on the air over the combined NBC networks from Chicago to the east coast under sponsorship beginning Nov. 5. They will be heard locally at 12:30 p. m. weekdays over WLS. The rebroadcast for the east will be at 1:45 p. m. And west coast listeners will hear the show by electrical transcription. The same sponsor pays the bills for "The Gibson Family," "Song of the City," and another show or two.

The better portion of a town moves and lives through Vic and Sade but only three characters ever speak in the sketch. They are Victor Gook, played by Art Van Harvey; Sade, his wife, by Bernardine Flynn, and young Rush Meadows, a boy who lives with the Gooks, played by Billy Idelson. Show is written by Paul Rhymer, formerly of Bloomington, Ill., who tends to write about persons and places he knows best. The Bloomington residents often recognize street names and telephone numbers of their own town though the locale is a mythical midwestern town.

Tom Shirley, who announces the Trafic court broadcasts over WBBM, has a "reel" background that makes him feel entirely at home in a courtroom. During his Hollywood days he played the part of the assistant district attorney in "The Secret Six," with Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery, and was a police inspector in "Within the Law."

Jacob Tarshish, "The Lamplighter" of W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system, gets many a letter addressed Jacob Starfish. . . . Frank McIntyre, the stage veteran, who is coming to the Show Boat program, will not be a successor to Charles Winninger, who is retiring as Capt. Henry. McIntyre is to emerge on the show as Capt. Henry's brother, George. . . . Annette Hanshaw's retirement from Show Boat has its complications. They're flooded with queries at NBC as to why Annette has left. And they don't like to send all that mail to CBS where she is now appearing with Glen Gray's orchestra on that cigaret show.

The Two Doctors [Pratt and Sherman], who are on the air nowadays from KMOX, have a problem on their hands. Recently they started a phony contract bridge series, solving problems that have no sense to them. Though it was all in fun, serious fans —serious as only bridge addicts can be —began sending in questions. Puzzled, Pratt and Sherman turned them over to an expert and paid him for legitimate answers. These they sent on to listeners and received thanks. The fans told all their friends and the Two Doctors got a fresh shower of questions. Then they asked the station for an expense account and got no for an answer. So they are thinking of dropping bridge.

U. S. HOLDINGS OF GOLD 'SHORT' BY $40,000,000

Treasury Refuses to Explain Loss.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—First definite facts about the manipulations of America's mysterious 2 billion dollar stabilization fund were disclosed today. They revealed that $40,000,000 worth of gold has disappeared from the United States since the stabilization fund became active on April 27. No official explanation of this gold movement has ever been offered.

Disappearance of the $40,000,000 worth of gold is believed to have a definite connection with the foreign exchange battles waged by the Roosevelt administration within the last few months.

Assurances that the $40,000,000 have not been lost by the United States in the international poker game of currencies were forthcoming from semi-official sources. Although the gold has definitly disappeared, it is said that it has only been converted into some other money.

Four Possible Uses.

The millions in gold which have secretly vanished are believed here to have been put to one or more of the following four uses:

1. Purchase of British sterling exchange by the stabilization fund in an effort to keep the value of the pound as measured in dollars at a high level.

2. Establishment of a secret gold fund which the treasury can spend on foreign exchange manipulations without causing any losses or gains in the general assets reported by the treasury.

3. The purchase of silver.

4. The purchase of French francs or currencies of the other gold bloc countries.

At the same time that inquiry revealed the $40,000,000 gold disappearance the treasury admitted for the first time that at some date in recent months it released from earmark, or, in other words, relinquished, $44,000,000 worth of American gold held abroad. This transaction, which the treasury refused to explain further, is believed to have been the one causing the secret depletion of American gold assets.

The huge 2 billion dollar stabilization fund first swung into action on April 27 of this year. It was then split into an active fund of 200 millions and a reserve of 1 billion 800 millions, an arrangement which still continues.

A $38,000,000 Discrepancy.

On that date, April 27, the treasury reported the total American gold assets as $7,755,670,000. On Oct. 6 the treasury reported that gold assets had risen to $7,982,007,000, a gain of $226,336,260 since the stabilization fund became active. Analysis of this increase, however, revealed today that the actual influx of gold during that period should have been $263,960,000, or approximately 38 millions more than the treasury reported. Disclosure of this discrepancy revealed the mysterious gold disappearance.

The discrepancy was brought to light by an analysis of federal reserve statistics and reports issued by the treasury itself. They showed that between April 27 and Oct. 6 the United States had net gold imports of $177,404,000, that $1,700,000 had been returned from hoarding, that $48,157,000 had been recovered from scrap gold, and that $36,698,000 worth of newly mined gold had been produced.

Thus, the individual reports of gold gains showed a total of $263,960,000, while the treasury reported an increase of only $226,336,260.

Refuses to Comment.

Asked to explain the discrepancy, the treasury declined all official comment, but agreed to make public an official tabulation of gold holding figures. This tabulation, issued tonight, actually showed a still larger discrepancy and this indicated that the disappearance of gold, instead of being 38 millions, might run as high as 47 millions. The treasury's tabulation follows:

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF GOLD
APRIL 27 TO OCT. 7.

Total imports	$ 220,075,000
Domestic release from earmark	4,382,000

$50,000,000 HOLC Bonds on Sale Today

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Public offering will be made tomorrow of $50,000,000 of Home Owners Loan corporation 3 per cent bonds, due in 1952, noncallable until 1944 and fully guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the United States government. The bonds will be placed 'at the market." They closed at 98 3-32 on Saturday on the New York Stock exchange.

The offering will be made by a nation-wide banking group headed by Field, Glore & Co., and including Brown, Harriman & Co., Inc.; the First Boston corporation; Edward B. Smith & Co., Kidder, Peabody & Co., Lehman Brothers; J. & W. Seligman & Co.; the Lee Higginson corporation; the Bancamerica-Blair corporation; Hayden, Stone & Co.; Blyth & Co., Inc.; Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.; Goldman, Sachs & Co.; White, Weld & Co.; F. S. Moseley & Co.; G. M.-P. Murphy & Co., and Alex. Brown & Sons.

In Small Denominations.

The bonds will be available in coupon form in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $1,000 and up. Registered bonds will be available in denominations of $1,000 and higher.

The bankers yesterday issued a statement in which they said:

"The main purpose of this offering is to create a broader market for the issue. The current differential in yield between this issue and other comparable government obligations is due, in our opinion, to the fact that the public is not yet sufficiently informed regarding this new type of government obligation.

"The present liberal yield obtainable on Home Owners Loan bonds is also accounted for by the fact that the bonds already outstanding have in many cases been given in exchange for mortgages held by many distressed individuals and by closed institutions which have been obliged to liquidate the bonds regardless of their intrinsic merit. It is believed that the new method of distribution will help to correct this situation."

Listed on N. Y. Exchange.

The issue of Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds, of which the new offering is a part, has been listed on the New York stock exchange for several months and has fluctuated between a high price of 101 7-32, reached on June 15, and a low one of 94 26-32, on Sept. 12. The bonds are exempt both as to principal and interest from all federal, state and local taxation, except surtaxes, inheritance and gift taxes. Interest is payable on May 1, and Nov. 1.

The new offering marks a departure in the flotation of government guaranteed securities. In the past the Home Owners Loan bonds have been issued in connection with the corporation's refinancing of home mortgages, being given to mortgage holders in exchange for their investments. The sale of this block of bonds through a banking syndicate is to raise cash for the purpose of the corporation, as well as to broaden the market for the issue.

BANKERS SPLIT OVER NEW DEAL ECONOMIC PLAN

Law Urges Business to Borrow Again.

BY HOWARD WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—A split among bankers of the United States over questions of New Deal economic policies became apparent today as 4,000 financiers from all over the country gathered here for the annual convention of the American Bankers' association.

F. M. LAW.

The division of sentiment was disclosed in remarks of Francis Marion Law, president of the A. B. A., in an interview preceding the opening of the convention tomorrow.

Law, who is president of the First National Bank of Houston, Tex., speaking as head of the American Bankers' association, expressed the opinion that economic recovery had arrived at a point where bankers of the United States could honestly advise business men to go into debt again in order to put idle bank reserves to work. Further, he stated that bankers feel that the securities of the United States government are the best investment "on the face of the earth" and that there need be no concern over the condition of government credit.

Advisory Council Warning.

Normally expression of such views would not be regarded as significant. Coming, however, only a few weeks after another group of leading bankers, the federal advisory council, had issued a warning that government credit was being menaced by the unbalanced condition of the federal budget and the unstabilized dollar. Law's remarks were interpreted as indicating that the A. B. A. would leave the federal advisory council out on a limb and would cleave more closely to the New Deal.

Law stated that as president of the A. B. A. he preferred not to comment on the stand taken by the federal advisory council. The advisory council is a statutory body created by the federal reserve act to advise the federal reserve board in Washington. The council consists of twelve members, one leading banker from each of the federal reserve districts, plus a secretary. The council last month created a sensation in banking by publishing an open letter to the federal reserve board in which it declared that recovery could come only if the government would give assurance of a balanced budget within a "reasonable period" of time and would stabilize the dollar.

Both Youths Members.

Some of the members of the federal advisory council are also members of the American Bankers' association, and as such are attending the convention. Among today's arrivals were Walter Smith, president of the First National bank of St. Louis, head of the advisory council, and Dr. Walter Lichtenstein, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, the council's secretary.

It is understood here that the controversial questions raised by the federal advisory council will be dodged by the American Bankers' association convention delegates because of the realization that agreement among the delegates would be impossible, especially in view of the fact that many of them represent banks controled by the government through stock ownership by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Loan Effort Failure.

In today's interview Law attributed to business men the failure of bank loans to expand.

"Business men," he said, "being naturally conservative, figure that this is a period of change and, wondering what the future holds, they prefer through their timidity to see what developments will be before they go into debt.

"Therefore, it is time that the banker, by exhibiting his own confidence in recovery, should persuade the business man that it is safe to start borrowing and expanding."

The high light of the bankers' convention will be an address by President Roosevelt Wednesday night at 8:30.

U. S. Officials Seek to Stop 'Hot' Oil Flow

Tyler, Tex., Oct. 21.—(AP)—New government leadership bolstered sagging spirits in a distraught oil industry today as efforts went forward to reduce the flow of illegal crude oil from the east Texas field.

Faced by rapidly declining price structures, representatives of the petroleum code and other federal agents have gone to the source to heal the country's sore spot—"hot oil"—and to bring into line a group of refiners who government officials said had nullified progressive steps already taken.

Up to Independents.

A solution of the delicate situation rested with the independent refiners, who handle almost all the crude in the field. Should those operators who refine at least 85 per cent of the field's capacity sign contracts to operate under a revised marketing agreement with the major companies, the program committee of the planning and coördinating committee for the petroleum code then would be in a position to ask those buyers to resume the interchange of legal crude for legal gasoline which has been tried unsuccessfully before.

Jules Constantin, president of the Independent Refiners' association of east Texas, told a meeting of some 90 refiners at Gladewater that 82.6 per cent of the field's capacity had been signed, additional promises raised the total to 87 per cent, and 11 per cent, composed of six refiners, had not committed themselves.

Problems to Be Ironed Out.

There remained the problem of actually obtaining the signatures and arranging to iron out peculiarities of special cases. In one instance, a refiner found he would have to rid himself of a large storage of illegal oil—accumulated to fill a long time contract at an attractive price—before he could "enter the fold."

Government officials attributed the improved attitude of the refiners to Oil Administrator Harold Ickes' plan for creation of a federal tender board and the impending enforcement of allocations by the department of justice instead of the department of interior. The board will prohibit interstate shipment of illegal crude oil and refined products from such hot oil.

Plan Oil Future Trading.

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Commodity Exchange, Inc., has appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of trading in crude oil or gasoline futures, according to announcement by Jerome Lewine, president. For several years there has been agitation for such a market in crude oil, but this is the first time since the world war that an established exchange has taken steps to start trading in crude oil or its products.

'STATE STREET DAY' BOOSTS RETAIL TRADE HERE IN LAST WEEK

Trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce reported optimistically on business here last week, with retail turnover setting the pace because of good response to sales offered at the annual State Street day. Activity in the larger stores was well ahead of the previous week.

Mail orders and business in general again were ahead of a year ago in the wholesale field. Distributors reported continued orders for Christmas and cold weather merchandise. Employment and wages again improved in the manufacturing field, and electrical manufacturers and others affected by the new housing activities of the government were reported in a better frame of mind.

Local public utilities were ahead of last year but showed an easing up in power output when compared with increases through the country.

Shift in U. S. Attitude Aids Steel Industry

With the NRA'S approval of the steel industry code and price policies, coupled with apparent efforts of Washington to conciliate business, the condition of the industry has shown moderate improvement, says the magazine Steel. Operations last week are placed at 26½ per cent of capacity, up 1½ points.

While the change in attitude on the part of the administration did not result in any substantial increase in commitments during the week, it is believed to have cleared the way for more definite improvement. It is stated that buyers in general showed less hesitation in closing for immediate requirements.

At Pittsburgh the operating rate advanced 2 points to 20 per cent, while the eastern Pennsylvania district gained 2 points to 19½ per cent. Chicago, 1 point to 27, Cleveland, 2 points to 31, and Youngstown, ½ point to 30. Operations at Wheeling dropped 10 points to 23 per cent, while Detroit remained at 59, New England, 40; Buffalo, 24, and Birmingham, 25.

Motor Industry Improves.

Improvement is shown in the automobile industry. The Ford Motor company is making 1,000 motors a day for the 1935 series. Automobile output increased from 19,000 in the first week of October to 25,000 in the second and 30,000 in the third.

The steel industry is supporting the movement for steel framed houses, the American Iron and Steel institute having issued an official statement citing the advantages of this type of home construction. The Federal Housing administration is applying $2,000,000,000 to the building of houses and if steel is used for framing 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 houses it would create a market for steel equal to that of the automobile industry this year. The army ordnance department will open bids in November and December on $2,309,000 worth of machine tools.

Large Projects Started.

Among large projects launched during the week were the Continental Can company's $100,000 plant at Houston, Tex., and a $350,000 plant for the National Refining company of Canada at Sarnia, Ont. Structural shape awards for the week totaled 15,383 tons, practically unchanged from the preceding week.

Attempts to create a market for Russian pig iron in this country have been unsuccessful, only one sale of 100 tons having been closed recently. Gray forge iron and other grades with a silicon content of less than 1.75 per cent have been reduced by raising the differential from 25 to 50 cents below base. Nut and bolt prices and some classifications of screws have been reduced by an additional 10 per cent discount, while hot rolled ingot iron strip is down $2 a ton.

The magazine's price composites are unchanged at $32.09 a ton for iron and steel, $54 for finished steel and $9.37 for iron and steel scrap.

Old Custom of Giving Gold Just Memory

Things aren't like they were in the good old days. Once upon a time shiny, yellow gold pieces were held in high esteem as presents at Christmas time and on other special occasions. It also was a nice custom of other days to make up a purse of gold for a retiring employé or a man who had won distinction in his field. All that is changed now.

John S. Tritle, Westinghouse vice president, had been chosen for the James H. McGraw award for the greatest contribution in the manufacturing end of the electrical business during the year. Earl Whitehorne, vice president of McGraw-Hill Publishing company, was making the presentation. Terms of the award call for a bronze medal and a purse of $100 in gold. Whitehorne, medal in hand, smiled.

"But, of course, the purse of gold has become just a bank note," he said.

There were smiles through the audience, for Tritle was receiving the award for his contribution to industrial self-government under the NRA of the New Deal—the same New Deal that made private possession of gold coin a crime.

The intention of the securities and exchange commission to establish branch offices at Chicago and other cities housing marts occasioned little surprise along La Salle street: Certain of the financial community, who for obvious reasons wish to remain anonymous, opined that such action was inevitable if the government were to spend $2,000,000 annually and support 800 pay rollers instead of the 300 originally planned.

Life has never been a bed of roses for railroad passenger department officials, it seems. When the various roads weren't busy competing with themselves, something else was certain to rise even in the good old days—for the railways—before the private automobile and bus. Frank Newell of the Milwaukee road says it was bicycles that once gave officials annoyance and to prove his statement submits a circular sent ticket agents and baggagemasters in June, 1895.

"We find that we are transporting sample baggage in baggage cars for commercial travels who are going from town to town on bicycles; we are receiving no fare and are transporting their baggage free of charge," the circular said. Thereupon, the circular presented an order designed to make the knight of the road either pay for the transportation of his samples or carry them on his handle bars.

STOCKS IN RUT ON ANNIVERSARY OF 1929 PANIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—Becalmed at once by the damper thrown on its inflationary fires by high administration spokesmen and by the undeniable slowing down of the pace of recovery in the so-called consumptive lines, the stock market comes to the new week—the fifth anniversary of the big panic of 1929, by the way—in a state of inertia approximating a dead standstill. The combined averages closed last night almost exactly where they were at the finish of trading a week ago at 82.71.

Turnover is back around a half million shares a day, or about half what it was before President Roosevelt and other authorities set about to squelch the latest revival of inflationary "enthusiasm" and many big operators have retired to the sidelines with the small fry to await enlightenment on the future course of things. The market, in short, is wallowing once more in the old rut in which it has been mired so much of the time since the course of the New Deal recovery movement began to turn down last year.

See Inflation Evidence.

Commentators are frankly nonplused over the outlook from whatever angle they try to view it. Against the President's warning that there must be no further monetary inflation for the time being the lookouts are constrained to balance the fact that the government has been making fresh silver purchases abroad, that its headlong expenditures in the name of recovery are heading toward what is almost universally agreed must be inflation, and that most of the congressional candidates with much chance of success at the forthcoming elections are pledging larger "appropriations" from Uncle Sam's pockets to those of their constituents.

On the other hand, the parade of big business and industrial leaders to the White House continues, tending to give the impression that the administration may be veering to the right after all.

Earnings Statements Bright.

On the trade side of the picture, the earnings statements of corporations for third quarters are turning out to be better than seemed possible when the drouth news was so disheartening and all indications point to the fact that holiday trade will be better this year than it was last and that the heavy industries for all their late slump will not fall to the depths of inactivity that they reached at the end of 1933. Many are looking hopefully toward a turn of the season improvement in the early spring, unless "Washington," meaning the new congress or the administration, upsets the applecart anew.

AMER. AIRLINES SPENDS $2,500,000 ON NEW PLANES

The $2,500,000 reequipment program of American Air Lines will be brought near completion today in Los Angeles with the flying of the first of a fleet of ten improved Douglas transport planes to be placed in service within sixty days.

Lester D. Seymour, president of the company, in making the announcement said that delivery of these units—which have a top speed of 200 miles an hour—will provide American Airlines with the finest available equipment for every type of flying. Allocation of the Douglas 14 passenger, all metal monoplanes will be announced shortly.

The program was undertaken before government cancelation of the air mail contracts on Feb. 19, but no changes were made despite the uncertainty. Thirty high speed transport planes had been ordered. Six of the ten bimotored Curtiss Wright Condors of 175 miles an hour speed were 12 passenger sleeper planes, the first in service. These have proved even more popular than expected, Seymour said, with 4,000 users on the Los Angeles-Dallas and New York-Chicago runs. The second ten planes, Vultees, have a top speed of 235 miles an hour and hold several speed records.

$69,312 QUARTER PROFIT REPORTED BY BRUNSWICK

Profit of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company for the quarter ended Sept. 30 amounted to $69,312, compared with a loss of $50,699 in the corresponding quarter of last year, according to Robert F. Bensinger, president.

For the first nine months of the year profits amounted to $48,181, against a loss of $452,821 in the corresponding period of 1933. Sales for the third quarter amounted to $1,492,197, or an increase of $195,043 over the $1,297,154 for the third quarter of last year, while for the first nine months sales of $3,889,053 compared with $2,581,059, up $1,307,994.

"There has been a material betterment of business in the many diversified lines in which the company is engaged," Mr. Bensinger stated. "This improvement, combined with our expanded sales efforts, is reflected in the quarterly report."

The company is engaged principally in the manufacture and sale of billiard tables, bowling alleys and supplies, beverage dispensing fixtures, and other products.

SILVER FUTURES TRADING TO OPEN TODAY IN CANADA

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The only open silver futures market in the world will commence trading here at 10 a. m. tomorrow. The market is the Canadian Commodity exchange, which will function with silver only for the present, other commodities being expected to be called for trading later.

The Canadian Commodity exchange will start with a membership of about 225, located in Liverpool, Paris, Bombay, Hongkong, Shanghai, Salt Lake City, Buffalo, Philadelphia, New York, Vancouver, Toronto, and Montreal. Sponsors believe the widely scattered membership, covering the majority of the world's silver centers, will give breadth to the market and assure it of success as a barometer of world supply and demand for silver.

Silver futures have not been traded in since suspension of business in New York on Aug. 9, 1934, after the United States nationalized silver. Price of the metal was fixed at 50.01 cents per ounce, but since suspension of trading in New York, silver has sold up to 55⅝ cents per ounce, and is now selling slightly below that level.

EASTMAN TALKS TODAY AT TRUCK GROUP MEETING

Whether to continue on under the transportation section of the NRA or revert back to the federal coördination of trucking transportation was the topic of conversation of 1,000 representatives of the American Trucking association as they opened their first annual convention at the Stevens hotel yesterday.

The question will be discussed at this morning's sessions, when delegates will be addresed by Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator of transportation, and Charles P. Clark deputy administrator of the transportation section of the NRA.

The highlight of the afternoon session will be the addres by Sydney J. Williams, director of public safety of the National Safety Council. He will touch on points of a practical safety program for the average truck operator.

HOUSING HEAD TO SPEAK HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Members of the Chicago Association of Commerce will hear three leaders of the new Federal Housing administration on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at noon in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

The speakers include James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator and formerly senior vice president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; Albert L. Deane, deputy administrator, on leave of absence as president of General Motors Holding corporation, and W. D. Flanders, director of field organization, formerly vice president of the Credit Alliance and director of sales for the Commercial Credit corporation.

September's Anthracite Shipments Are Larger

Michigan Public Service Reports $34,237 Net Income

Net income of the Michigan Public Service company for the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $34,237, against $52,231 in the corresponding quarter of 1933, the company has announced. This is equivalent to $4.68 a share on the combined amounts of 6 and 7 per cent preferred stock outstanding. Gross for the period amounted to $257,809, against $245,486. For the first nine months of the year net income totaled $56,502, against $95,208, while gross was $632,976, against $608,579.

American Refiners Melt Less Sugar Than Last Year

The sugar melt of 13 United States refiners from Jan. 1 to Oct. 13 totaled 2,910,000 long tons, against 3,120,000 in the like period of 1933. Deliveries totaled 2,775,000 tons, against 2,930,000 tons in the 1933 period.

Attendance of Over 600 Expected at I. B. A. Meet

Attendance at the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America, Oct. 27 to 31, at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is expected to be in excess of 600. Last year the attendance was 415. While the increase in delegates from all principal cities is general, there will be proportionally larger delegations from Pacific coast cities, the reservations show, than at any convention of the association in the last three years. A large part of the general increase is attributed to the fact that 171 new member houses have been admitted to the association during the last twelve months.

Union Carbide Reports $4,352,156 Quarter Income

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation had net income of $4,352,156 after all charges, for the quarter ended Sept. 30, the company announced. Earnings for the period are equal to 48.35 cents a share on 9,000,743 shares outstanding. Earnings a share for the period compare with 51.15 cents a share in the corresponding quarter of 1933, or 53.10 cents in the preceding quarter of this year, and 48.20 cents in the first quarter of 1934.

WORLD PARLEY ON AGRICULTURE WILL OPEN TODAY

ROME, Oct. 21.—(AP)—One of the most important agricultural meetings ever held, the biennial general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture, opens tomorrow, Premier Mussolini is expected to attend. King Victor Emmanuel, who founded the institute on the idea and money of an American, David Lubin, has been invited.

The importance of the meeting for the United States is indicated by the presence here of eight delegates, led by Undersecretary Rexford Tugwell.

The American delegation will present to the institute the idea of a world planned economy in agriculture. The Americans, particularly the permanent delegate, Dr. Henry Charles Taylor of Des Moines, Ia., will ask a revamping of the institute to provide the technical and factual work for such a planned economy.

CANADA'S TRADE TOPS LAST YEAR DESPITE DROUTH

U.S. Data Also Show Some Gains in Europe.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A "marked expansion" in both wholesale and retail trade in western Canada during September was reported by the commerce department today in its weekly survey of business conditions abroad.

Conditions in the southern part of western Canada are still affected by the extensive summer drouth, which centered in that section, but the situation is considered better than at this time last year. Eastern Canada reports a moderate but steady expansion in trade. Trade improvement is maintained best in the larger centers, but crops compare fairly well with the long time average and coupled with higher prices, have contributed a satisfactory background for rural trade. The government's unadjusted index of retail sales during September showed a gain of approximately 3 per cent over July.

British Trade Improves.

Commercial and industrial conditions in Great Britain and northern Ireland have in general maintained the advance reported for the last few months. Registered unemployment in Great Britain, having declined to a point slightly below the totals reported for May and June, is shown by ministry of labor returns to have reached the lowest level since September, 1930.

In Germany the monthly unfavorable trade balance was reduced in September to 2,000,000 marks, the minimum so far this year as compared with the maximum of 82,415,000 marks reached in April. Import restrictions were again responsible for the improvement in the trade balance.

Austria's industrial production during June, the latest available month, showed a decided increase over the three spring months. Wholesale prices, however, were higher during September.

Trade in Italy Slackens.

Seasonal slackening of industry and trade in Italy during the summer followed its usual course without any marked aggravation of adverse conditions, although the quota system and exchange regulation to restrict imports emphasized the dullness to some extent. On the other hand, tourist trade was better than last year. Unemployment declined in August contrary to the seasonal trend, and business failures were reduced.

In Japan rapid progress is being made in restoration in the districts affected by the typhoon in September. The spinning industry is reported to have resumed normal operations.

Philippine imports in August increased 22 per cent over the same month last year, but exports were only 1 per cent higher. Compared with July this year, exports nearly doubled in value, owing to renewed shipments of sugar and copra, while import trade also was larger.

LETTERS

Letters of not more than 200 words each, addressed to the Financial Editor, will be printed in these columns from time to time.

FHA and the Banks.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—I have read with a great deal of interest your article in which you state that the Federal Housing administration, in trying to expand bank credit, is rapidly proving to be another dud.

I am very much interested because I have money invested in saw mills and lumber yards, and the success of this drive means the success of these companies.

While the interest on these loans may figure 3.72 per cent, as you show the discount rate is truly only 5 per cent, which may not cover the actual cost of the bank's handling this kind of paper.

One of my friends has about 25 salesmen who have been making a house to house canvass soliciting remodeling work and, even through the continued depression, this company has made a success of this business.

The new federal housing campaign has not as yet had sufficient time to make the headway which it will make if bankers are really willing to cooperate. I find interest on the part of the home owner developing rapidly, but many of the retailers of lumber tell me that when their prospects apply to the bank for loans they are told that their property is not in the right neighborhood, or some other excuse is given.

W. B. VANLANDINGHAM.

A Platinum Standard

Chicago, Oct. 19.—I have asked the secretary of state to take the entire Russian platinum production at $35 per troy ounce as payment of the Russian debt to the United States.

Russian platinum mines do not operate much because whenever they go full speed for 30 days they swamp the market. When the United States treasury receives this platinum it is to be stored in vaults as security for an issue of platinum certificates, to be issued just like gold and silver certificates. Platinum is better than gold.

LEROY L. HUNTER, C. E.,
207 City Hall.

Maybe It's Hi-Bred.

Camanche, Ia., Oct. 17.—I read in your market section where James E. Bennett & Co. had reported some very small corn yields. I was on the farm adjoining that of Dick Dammatt, one mile west of McCausland, Ia., today and he informed me the field we were in would go 70 bushels per acre, and the entire average in his immediate vicinity was around 55. This is in Scott county.

BONDHOLDERS GET $100.07 FOR EACH $100 BOND

Owner Redeems Property After Foreclosure.

BY AL CHASE.

Bondholders in the Druwe building, 1000 North Cicero avenue, have received $100.07 in cash for each $100 bond held, as a result of an unusual reorganization climax brought about by the former owner redeeming the property after a foreclosure sale. According to Harry Z. Perel of the law firm of Harry Z. & Bernard Perel, the building, containing two stores and six apartments, was security against a $20,000 bond issue underwritten by the Columbia State Savings bank. The owner was attempting to secure an extension of his loan when the bank closed.

HARRY Z. PEREL. [Monfort Photo.]

A committee headed by Howard F. Sammon, secured the support of all the bondholders except one man who held out $300 in bonds. The committee, on behalf of the bondholders, then offered to extend the issue for two years on terms which the owner refused to accept. Behan & Corrigan, attorneys for the committee, then brought the property to a foreclosure sale.

Owner Redeems Property.

"In order to finance this foreclosure sale, it was necessary to secure a refinancing mortgage," said Mr. Perel. "An individual investor agreed to lend $3,500. Most of this was needed to pay the various expenses of foreclosure. At the foreclosure sale, the property was bid in for $22,000 for the benefit of the depositing bondholders.

"Three months later the owner redeemed the property for $23,809.80. This was sufficient to give each depositing bondholder $100.07 cash on each $100 bond originally held.

"All bondholders are entitled to know exactly where they stand at all times and why certain steps must be taken to protect their interests. When a bond issue defaults it becomes necessary for the bondholders to acquire the property. This can be done in only two ways: One is by securing an agreement acceptable to all persons involved. This means the property owner, holders of junior mortgages, mechanics' liens and other claimants, as well as all bondholders.

Hard Thing to Do.

If such accord cannot be reached the only thing left is to foreclose.

"To bring all parties together to determine a common plan of action, a committee is formed. Bondholders are usually widely scattered and no other method has been found as efficient or effective as the use of committees."

Community Telephone Debentures.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly give me information about Community Telephone company bonds? They are quoted so low, yet have paid interest so far.—Miss E. S. J.

Answer: Community Telephone company is a holding company whose subsidiaries furnish 113 communities, with a population of 350,000 in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, with telephone service.

Operating revenues in 1933 dropped to $783,000 from $894,000 in 1932. These figures compared with $1,031,000 in 1931 and $1,063,000 in 1930. Only 83 per cent of charges was covered in 1933. In 1932 charges were covered by the slim margin of 1.04 times, against 1.21 times in 1931 and 1.29 times in 1930.

The consolidated balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1933, showed current assets of $381,000, and current liabilities of $199,000. The balance sheet of the parent company alone, however, showed current assets of only $15,000, while current liabilities were $50,000. Funded debt was $4,061,000, of which $1,300,000 represented the debenture 6s, due 1949.

The management has stated that the company cannot continue to pay 6 per cent on the debentures and has therefore requested holders to consent to have them changed to a 5 per cent basis, which will be payable only if earned—if not earned, to accumulate.
